

STATE LEGISLATURE EXTENDS THE BENEFITS OF THE LEGAL HOLIDAYS FOR SIX WEEKS; HENCE TAXES ARE NOT DELINQUENT NEXT TUESDAY

LIST OF DELINQUENCIES WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED UNTIL JULY 6.

MARRY BY ALL MEANS HE SAYS

President's Son-in-Law Growing Happier
Each Day.

NEW YORK, June 2.—"Get married, it's the only life. I have never known what real happiness meant until now, and the best part of it all is that I become happier all the time."

That is the way Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, expressed himself yesterday, just after he and Mrs. Longworth arrived from Washington for their trip abroad. They sailed today on the St. Louis for Southampton.

In order to avoid the crowd they remained in the Vanderbilt touring car all the way across the Hudson river, and an accident was barely averted by the alertness of the deckhands when a wave that swept the deck frightened horses in front of the automobile and they reared back and nearly plunged through the glass screen in front of the machine in which the Longworths and Mrs. Vanderbilt were seated.

DANGER OVER.
Longworth jumped out, but the danger was already over, as two deck hands caught the horses in time to avoid what might have been a serious accident.

"Oh, Nick, what is the matter?" Mrs. Longworth cried through the open window.
"Nothing at all, it was just a commotion among the wagons in front," Longworth answered, reassuringly. "I might have been a real hero, if there had been another wave, though, he added."

PRaises MATRIMONY.
Congressman Longworth fairly glowed with health and good nature. "Yes, I believe that every man is a better and a happier man after he is married," said Longworth. "He does not begin to know his possibilities until he begins to feel the responsibilities of life. Not that I have such a lot of them, but there is incentive in feeling that I have settled the most important event in a man's life."

Mrs. Longworth refused to discuss the matrimonial problem, but said:

"I AM HAPPY."
"I am perfectly happy, and neither of us feel that we have made a mistake. But Mr. Longworth will have to tell you about it. I defer to him in everything," she continued, with much gravity.

Mrs. Longworth never looked better. She has gained in weight and has a fine color. Speaking of her trip abroad, Longworth said:

"We will be gone just two months and will go first to the home of Ambassador and Mrs. Willelaw Reid in London, where we will be entertained during our visit. Some plans in the way of dinners and trips about England are being arranged. We will do a good deal of automobile and shall probably take the trip by auto down the Riverla."

The Longworths are taking with them twelve large trunks and innumerable pieces of hand luggage.

SCHOONER CAPSIZES ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY; 2 MEN DROWN

Captain Hans Gerhard and a Sailor on The Nimrod Are Reported As Lost

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The scow-schooner Nimrod, plying between this city and Mare Island, on her last trip capsized, drowning the captain, Hans Gerhard, and a sailor whose name cannot be ascertained. The date of the accident as computed from the time the boat sailed was nearly two weeks ago.

WIFE ALARMED.
Captain Gerhard leaves a wife and four children residing on Alabama street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. The wife on not hearing from her husband became alarmed and induced her brother, A. H. Johnson, of 884 Ninth avenue, to make a search for her husband. Johnson learned from a passing steamer that the schooner had been seen floating upside down off Point Richmond.

FINDS SCHOONER.
After a week's search Johnson came across the schooner on the mud flats in the vicinity where the boat was last seen. Johnson chopped a hole in the bottom of the boat and found the clothing belonging to his brother-in-law. Johnson states that there is no doubt but that when the schooner turned turtle that both Captain Gerhard and the seaman aboard the boat were drowned.

SEARCH FOR REMAINS.
The story of the accident was given to Coroner Walsh this afternoon with the request that an effort be made to locate the remains of the captain.

It is assumed that the high winds which prevailed at that time caught the boat and turned it over. As the drowned captain had sailed the bay for many years and was familiar with the currents, his relatives are at a loss to understand how control of the schooner was lost.

TO OPERATE ON WOMAN IN SEARCH OF DIAMOND SO THAT SHE MAY GAIN RELEASE FROM PRISON TO SEE HER DYING BABE.

OMAHA, Neb., June 2.—"Yes, I will undergo an operation so that Combs can have his diamond. Anything to be released from the miserable place I am in."

Such was the statement made by Miss Mae Thomas, the woman who swallowed a $250 diamond in a jewelry store three days ago.

Dr. W. O. Henry, one of the most eminent surgeons in Omaha, consented to perform the operation on Miss Thomas, the fact being cited that she had no money, that her three-year-old child at Houston, Texas, was at death's door and that she would be given her freedom just as soon as the jewel was returned to its rightful owner.

"I will be glad to perform the operation," said Dr. Henry. "I do not consider the operation a dangerous one, and Miss Thomas will be none the worse off for her experience."

TO REMOVE GEM.
Miss Thomas will be taken to the Omaha general hospital tomorrow morning, where the diamond will be removed. It is, according to the X-ray plate, about one and a half inches above the appendix, tightly clinging to the intestines.

To remove the jewel it will be necessary to cut Miss Thomas' stomach from a point under the breast to the hip. Then Dr. Henry will move the intestines, make a tiny slit near the position of the diamond and force it out.

By the use of the Murphy button the opening can be closed and will, in the opinion of the surgeons, heal within ten days, the button being absorbed by the action of the stomach.

W. W. ASTOR SICK AMONG MILLIONS IN HIS OFFICE

LONDON, June 2.—William Waldorf Astor is still confined to his rooms in his office building by gout. Mr. Astor's enormous wealth is strongly housed and guarded in his picturesque building on the Thames embankment. Here the historic Sancy diamond was kept until Mr. Astor presented it as a wedding gift to his son's bride, formerly Mrs. Langhorne-Shaw.

The Astor treasure house has a beautiful exterior in the late Gothic style, which gives no idea of the strength of its interior construction. The strong rooms, built at an enormous cost, are beneath the ground level, solidly constructed in what was once the bed of the Thames. Finely appointed offices occupy the two upper floors, where a large staff of clerks keep the accounts and strike balances in millions.

A staff of private detectives keeps watch night and day over the strong box of the Anglo-American millionaire.

Situated on land adjoining the Temple Gardens, the building is often supposed to be connected with that haunt of lawyers, with the ancient buildings of which it harmonizes. It is a typically Tudor piece of architecture, worthy of the series of fine buildings which line the embankment, and the only hint of America about it is the which-forms the weather vane.

HOPE TO CELEBRATE 70 YEARS MARRIED.
BOSTON, June 2.—Remarkable octogenarians are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ripley, of Paris, Me., who have already celebrated golden and sixtieth wedding anniversaries. Mr. Ripley was born February 11, 1817, making him eighty-nine years of age, and his wife is eighty-four. He was the youngest of the thirteen children of Captain Varian Ripley and his life has been eventful and varied.

Eleven children have been born to this happy union, four of whom are living. Two sons, William and George, enlisted in the Civil War. The former was killed by a bursting shell at Chattanooga; the latter is well known at North Paris.

OFFERS EXAMPLE TO THE MINISTERS

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Ministers were exhorted to take a lesson from the modern newspaper by Bishop Samuel Fallows, in a sermon delivered at the recent session of the general council of the Reformed Episcopal Church. The Bishop said that the press in some respects had superseded the pulpit, and now exercises many functions which the pulpit has lost.

The bishop said the press had been the faithful ally of the pulpit in breaking down caste, in favoring humanitarian reforms, and in advocating the rights of all.

SHADOWING RED FLAG VOTARIES

Authorities in Fear of a Conspiracy in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Cause for alarm was found today by the police, who have been informed of the activity among the anarchists and detailed a score of detectives to shadow Emma Goldman, "Comrade" Alexander Berkman and other "Reds" in Chicago.

The attempted assassination of the king and queen of Spain Thursday and the discovery of the bomb plot against the president at Portland, Or., again today aroused the local police to the danger of a conspiracy being initiated in Chicago.

For weeks before Berkman was released from the Pittsburg workhouse word had been sent to Chicago followers of the "Reds" propaganda that there was to be a revival of the movement in this city, which created a thriving hotbed of anarchism just before the Haymarket riots.

LEADERS TO MEET.
Maxim Gorky and another Russian revolutionary agitator are coming to Chicago. They will be greeted by anarchists and socialists within a few days, according to Chief of Police Collins. Gorky is to attend a number of meetings of anarchists, which are to begin June 6.

Though efforts were made by the police to keep Berkman and Emma Goldman under surveillance when they arrived here, the self-proclaimed anarchists were able to evade their followers and secret meeting and conferences were held without the knowledge of authorities.

SECRET MEETINGS.
After the attempted assassination of the Spanish rulers there was a lull in the movement in the Chicago followers of Berkman and Goldman. But on the eve of the discovery of the plot at Portland both Emma Goldman and Berkman spoke at a meeting. Only those who are known to be in sympathy with the movement will be admitted. Berkman, it is said, will be at the meetings that begin June 6.

"ANOTHER HERO."

Thrilling speeches were made by Berkman and Emma Goldman. The fiery exclamations touched on the attempted assassination of King Alfonso. Red flags were displayed. There was no interference by the police. Miss Goldman in her speech said:

"Another hero was made yesterday. The man who threw the bomb in Madrid had for his purpose the good of humanity. He did his duty and his name will be inscribed on the roll of fame."

"King Alfonso represents a class that has for all time trod beneath its partizan feet the mass of people and the time is now coming when that class will be no more."

HORSE CLIMBS THROUGH TRAP

PARIS, June 2.—A horse belonging to a M. Longuet escaped through a trap door to the garret, where the fodder is stored. A groom found the horse lying on the floor in a state of collapse from over feeding. An attempt was made to get the animal down the way it had come, but it had eaten so much oats that it could not pass through the opening, and the fire brigade had to be called to lower the horse through a window to the ground.

LAWMAKERS ARE IN SESSION TILL NEARLY MIDNIGHT AND PASS TWO OF FIVE EMERGENCY MEASURES.

EMPEROR WILLIAM NERVOUS

BOTH HOUSES WILL MEET TODAY.

EMPEROR WILLIAM OF GERMANY.

Germany's Ruler Sees Class Struggle Coming And Will Try to Avert It.

BERLIN, June 2.—The Mohammedan Ambaz Diamond Order, valued at $5000, which was presented to Kaiser Wilhelm by the Sultan of Turkey, has been stolen from the collection of orders in the arsenal. There is no clue to the thieves, who apparently, were well acquainted with the interior of the arsenal and the movement of the guards. *****

BERLIN, June 2.—Professor J. Laughlin, of the University of Chicago, in, leaves Berlin today after a successful lecture course under the auspices of the Prussian ministry of education, sees a mighty class struggle impending in Germany between the aristocratic and of the classes who have family position but no money, and the wealthy industrial classes who have amassed fortunes and wield real power, but lack of social status because of their humble ancestral origin.

UNDER WATER TEN MINUTES AND LIVES.

Remarkable Experience of a Boy Who Had Been Given Up as Drowned.

PITTSBURG, June 2.—Having been given up for dead, after being at the bottom of an abandoned ice pond on Kedron avenue for ten minutes, James Madine, aged seven, son of John Madine, a chauffeur, of Murland avenue, is able to be around today. He suffers slightly from his experience, but will be as well as ever in a couple of days. Only the efforts of George P. Henderson saved Madine and his brother, Thomas, aged 10, from drowning.

The Madine brothers, with a number of other youngsters about their age, built a raft on the pond. The youngest stepped on the vessel to try its strength. Just then another boy suddenly pushed the frail raft into the pond with a pole. This caused Madine to tumble into the water. His brother jumped in to save him.

The little fellows struggled and soon the youngest one sank. Both would have been drowned had it not been for

WOODPECKER STARTS FIRE, BURNING NEST.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—A busy woodpecker, making his home in a high tree at Twentieth street and Prospect avenue, gave a sharp peck at the nearest object at hand.

It happened to be a match, and before the bird could gather all his home was in flames. He fled to another tree.

A woman, at whose house Henderson was working. She called to Henderson and he at once plunged into the pond and dragged Thomas Madine ashore. His brother was not in sight, but Thomas soon made Henderson understand that James was at the bottom of the pond. Henderson again plunged into the pond and after diving several times brought up the unconscious body of James.

Dr. Harry A. Barnhart was called and worked over the younger boy almost three hours before restoring him to consciousness. He was then taken home and this morning was able to be around.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO,
June 2.—The assembly and senate held a session tonight and all the members worked diligently to get some bills through with the hope of avoiding the holding of a session tomorrow.

There was also a desire to get the emergency bills through because the governor is desirous of calling the holidays off on Monday.

The assembly, in the late hours of the afternoon, considered the first bill of the session, relating to the statements to be furnished to the insurance commissioner by the insurance commission.

This measure went through with a unanimous vote in just eleven minutes after the constitution had been suspended. This measure is intended to guard the people from becoming victims of fire insurance companies as has been disclosed since the San Francisco fire.

PASSES BILLS.

Tonight the assembly early, passed bills 3 and 4, the former of which extends until July 5th of this year the time for the publication of the delinquent tax. This gives people who have not yet paid their taxes nearly six weeks more to pay them and thus save delinquency, because otherwise the tax would be delinquent Tuesday evening next.

This bill was afterwards placed on the senate file and passed under suspension of the constitution. It will now go to the governor. House bill 4 relates to the time of commencing actions and extends the time six months after the close of the holidays.

This bill, after passing the house, was passed by the senate without a dissenting vote.

FAVOR ECONOMY.

Proof was given that the sentiment of the assembly is almost to a man in favor of economy. Jones of San Francisco offered a resolution allowing each member $25 for contingent expenses during the session.

Stanton of Los Angeles jumped to his feet and moved to lay the resolution on the table.

MAKES THREAT.

Amerige of Orange county seconded the motion with equal warmth and the motion prevailed with a unanimity which incensed Jones, who claimed a similar resolution had been adopted at every special session of the legislature held in the state.

He threatened to get even with Stanton by voting to lay all the mileage bills on the table when they came up.

Stanton retorted by saying he would donate his mileage to the state.

MINOR MATTERS.

The list of officers, attaches and employees reported by the special committee of which John A. Bliss of Oakland is chairman was adopted after considerable debate. Fifty-four places were provided.

Duryea of Placer asked for a stenographer for the judiciary committee but the request was denied on the score of economy.

Wayand of Colusa asked for a place for a friend but did not get it.

Busick of Sacramento wanted two assistant postmistresses to be dispensed with. It was admitted.

STRANGE SUIT OF WOMAN

Offers Her Dead Fiance's
Love Letter to Gain Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—For the first time in the history of probate courts in this State and, perhaps in the whole country, a love letter, burning with the ardent love of an accepted suitor, was offered as a will yesterday before Deputy Register of Wills Charles Irwin.

It was made an exhibit in evidence in proceedings to have letters of administration granted in the estate left by Edwin S. Updyke, Jr., a paymaster's clerk in the United States navy, stationed on the United States steamer Culgoa, revoked, and the love letter, written to Updyke's fiancée, Miss Florence M. Crawford, of 1335 North Sixth street, admitted to probate as a will.

On January 20, letters of administration were granted to James J. Donnelly, acting for Edwin S. Updyke, father of the dead man, and David S. Updyke and J. M. F. Updyke, his brothers, all of New York. Attorneys for the Updykes yesterday contested the admission of the love letter as a will, asserting that the single sentence upon which the claims of Miss Crawford were based—"I and all I have is yours to do with as you like"—cannot be construed into meaning that at Updyke's death all his property was to go to his fiancée.

THEY WERE ENGAGED.

Updyke, who was 43 years old, according to the testimony of Miss Crawford, had been engaged to her since early in 1902. She said that she had received the "love-letter will" June 24, 1903, and that shortly after Updyke told her to preserve it, saying, "That is my will, and I want you to keep it as such."

Miss Crawford testified that Updyke was a widower, and that he had been the husband of her sister, who died in 1899. Since the death of his wife he had been living with the Crawford family, and he died in their home.

She ended her testimony by asserting that her reason for keeping the letter a secret from the members of the Updyke family had been their "meanness." "Why," she said, "with dramatic emphasis, after Mr. Updyke died, his brother wanted to sell his clothing; yes, even his socks."

Some loving passages from the letter follow:

"I certainly enjoyed my visit and you certainly were awfully nice to me." "When I got sleepy, you did not find fault with me. As I like these blind mo much closer to you."

MANAGED HIM WELL.

"Is there any wonder that I love you? All I know is that you suit me perfectly, and are sweetest and best of girls. You are certainly better looking, sweeter-tempered and manage me right."

"I love you, darling. Never have I loved one more than you. You are everything to me. I shall ever be good and true to you. I love you, my own true love, and only you."

In the midst of these turtle-dove sentiments occur three sentences which Miss Crawford says, show that Updyke's $2000 estate belongs to her. "I am yours to deal with as you like," wrote Updyke. "I and all I have is yours to do with as you like. I am not in this half-hearted; I am wholly and absolutely yours, and I want to be."

The laws governing wills in this State allow considerable leeway in the wording of testaments, and it is not improbable that Miss Crawford's contention, though it raises a new point in probate law, will be upheld.

A further hearing on the case will be given Tuesday, when the relatives' side of the will controversy will be heard.

FARMER'S HOGS DIE; HE SHOTS TWO MEN.

BOURBON, Ind., June 2.—Fred Rettinger came to town with a revolver strapped to his person, and it was not long until an old antagonist, W. M. Bates, lay dead in the gutter. Frank Bates, a son, was also shot.

Bettinger had brought hogs to town and the heat so affected them that they died. Rettinger was made to believe that the Bates pair, who were enemies, had poisoned the hogs. He became wild with rage.

As the dead man lay in the gutter, Bettinger started for home, loading his revolver and warning no one to interfere with him. He was overtaken and placed in jail.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE AND SMALL FORTUNE BUT REFUSES BOTH!

MRS. MAUD W. ADAMS.

Wife of Wall Street Broker Has a Change of Heart and Petitions Court to Nullify Decree She Secured.

NEW YORK, June 2.—It has always been woman's privilege to change her mind, and Mrs. Maud Witherbee Adams, a well-known society woman, who resides at 293 Madison avenue, and who obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, Frederick Thompson Adams, a broker at 10 Wall street, on February 3 last, has decided that she does not want a divorce after all. She is now opposing her husband's efforts to have the divorce obtained by her made absolute.

Mrs. Adams is represented by Charles W. Ridgeway, and Eugene L. Bush, a looking after her husband's interests. The action is most extraordinary and caused much comment among the fraternity of lawyers at Kingston, Ulster county, where Mrs. Adams' affidavit was filed on Saturday.

By her change of mind Mrs. Adams will lose a hundred thousand dollar settlement, which her husband agreed to in case of a final judgment being granted her, but she is willing to lose the settlement if the proceedings are stopped, and it is her hope, it is said, that the breach between her and her husband may be closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams have been married twenty years and have no children. Both are popular in New York society, and Mr. Adams is a member of the New York Yacht, Larchmont Yacht, Manhattan and New York Athletic clubs. Prior to their matrimonial differences the two mingled much in society and entertained handsomely in their Madison avenue home.

The interlocutory decree which Mrs. Adams secured is not made final according to the present divorce laws of this state until three months after the first judgment is obtained. The final judgment must be entered within thirty days after the expiration of such period of three months and cannot be entered after that except by order of the court upon application and sufficient cause being shown for the delay.

The time having elapsed, Mr. Adams discovered his wife had changed her mind about securing the final decree and when she refused to do so he applied to Judge Potter in Ulster county for an order granting a final judgment, which must be filed within thirty days from May 3.

When the suit was begun an amicable money settlement was arranged by the Adamses. As security for all money Mr. Adams agreed to deposit the sum of $100,000 in a banking house and to pay Mrs. Adams her allowance of $333.33 a month. These payments have been regularly made.

As the time drew near for final judgment the wife experienced a remarkable change of heart, and in her affidavit read in opposition to her husband's application she says that from the commencement of the action she has suffered great mental strain and that the strain continued until near the end of the three months following the judgment.

"Upon calmer reflection," said Mrs. Adams, "in view of the love I bore him for twenty years, that by his good conduct he might again become worthy, with a realization that absolute divorce is an evil that menaces society, the dictates of my conscience prevent my asking for or seeking final judgment of divorce."

Mr. Adams takes the peculiar position that his wife is entitled to a final decree and she must take it whether she will or no.

VACCINATED MONKEYS DON'T GET SMALLPOX.

MANILA, June 2.—Dr. Paul C. Freer, who has been making a study of smallpox, reports that monkeys are subject to the disease just the same as human beings.

He has just published an article telling of a number of instances of simians suffering from smallpox in the islands.

Dr. Freer also discovered that vaccine had the same effect on monkeys as on young children.

Several monkeys that were infected with smallpox exhibited similar symptoms as human patients, and a few that were not treated died. It was definitely established that vaccinated monkeys were virtually immune from smallpox.

The physician has issued a pamphlet setting forth his experiments along this interesting line. He points out that in the few instances vaccinated monkeys contracted the disease it was in mild form.

EAGLE ATTACKS COWS, WOMAN AND CHILDREN

NASHUAUK, Minn., June 2.—A hungry young eagle frantically attacked a cow, two children and a dog, and was only defeated after a desperate battle with the mother of the children.

Mrs. Thomas Goodhue and her two small children went into the meadow to look for the cows. As they approached the woman discovered that one of the cows was engaged in a battle with an eagle.

Mrs. Goodhue attacked the bird, which then left the cow and attempted to seize one of the children. With a club Mrs. Goodhue again drove the enraged bird away. Then it espied the family dog and pounced upon it. Mrs. Goodhue again brought her club into requisition, and, after a desperate struggle, in which she was severely clawed by the eagle, she beat its life out.

"Oh, doo-ther, darlint!" says an old woman in a story told by a trained nurse of how an operation for appendicitis on the woman's daughter was evaded. "Give her two days' was up she coughed it up."—Boston Herald.

TALK IS ALL ROT, HE SAYS

San Francisco Minister on Temperance and the Saloons.

DENVER, June 2.—"Saloon talk is all worthless," said Dr. George B. Smyth, representing San Francisco at the Rocky Mountain Missionary convention, recently. "Most men drink not because they like it, but because they find a nice, warm, comfortable place in a saloon where they can sit down to talk with their fellow men."

"The minister in the pulpit gets up before the people and denounces saloons with the prospect of saving 1000 souls by his good-for-nothing sermons. Seats in his congregation cost from $5000 to $10,000 apiece, while a man can sit in a saloon at a cost of five cents."

SAYS TALK IS ALL ROT.

"Our temperance talk is all rot. A poor man passes our church, gazing at the beautiful architecture, the glorious colored windows, but does he think of entering? Not a bit of it. You would all make him feel so uncomfortable that he would think it was the hottest place he ever got into. He would much rather drink his way to hell—at least he wouldn't find it any warmer there."

"A nice glass of lager beer refreshes him in a saloon, and of course a man will go where he can be treated like a human being."

CHRISTIANS PITIABLE.

"I say to myself, who is the one most to be pitied in our cities? Is it the woman who ekes out a reckless existence down on Market street? Is it the worst criminal? No. The most pitiable person in our great cities is the Christian who is able to hold out the hand to those in need of help and does not do it. Christians should be friendly to those not considered their equals socially—that is, to the poor who crowd the lower parts of our cities."

"The trouble lies in the nonunion of the churches, and I hope to see the time when different denominations will be forgotten and their hand picking religion a bygone."

WHERE MINT WAS FAILURE

EFFECT ON THIS DRINK.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—An alcohol expert was before the Senate Finance Committee telling the senators about the advantages of denatured alcohol, which some of the statesmen think is to revolutionize the light, heat and power problem.

"This alcohol," said the expert, "cannot be used for drinking purposes or as the basis for any drink whatsoever. It will be denatured and unfit for human consumption."

"Can't you drink it at all?" asked Senator Daniel, of Virginia.

"No, sir; it is unfit to drink."

"Isn't there any way you can fix it to drink it?"

"No way at all, Senator."

"Not even if you put a little mint in it?" persisted the Virginian.

A Western statesman has a brother who is in the live stock business. The brother sent a letter to the statesman a few days ago that was entirely typewritten, even to the signature. The statesman was mad. He thought it an outrage for his brother to write to him like that and not even sign the letter, and he sent a bitter protest.

This is the reply he received: "Dear Jim: Cheer up. I am so busy that I never use a pen except for sheep."

George Washington Harvey, known all over the world as an epicure, has sold his restaurant on Pennsylvania avenue and will retire. Harvey has fed about every distinguished man who came to Washington in the last forty years, and a great many of the undistinguished. He is the inventor of the steamed oyster, has been the sole member of the terrapin trust for years, and knows more about canvasback ducks than any other man in the country.

MYSTERY DEEPENED; WAS IT PROPOSED TO MURDER A GIRL?

ETHEL STURTEVANT.

Father of Ethel Sturtevant Says Shot That Hit Stranger Was Intended for His Daughter, Now in Jail.

LEBANON, N. H., June 2.—Joshua Sturtevant, father of Ethel Sturtevant, says he believes that Jesse Barden, whom she is accused of trying to kill, was bit by a bullet intended for his daughter. He advances the theory that when the girl stepped from the shadow of the house into the bright moonlight someone lying in wait in the field at the north made her the target for a shot.

And he thinks that this shot, in missing Ethel Sturtevant, found a mark in Jesse Barden as he was approaching from the south. He declares:

"When the trial opens I shall produce witnesses in whom a young man that Ethel had rejected said: 'I'm going to kill that girl. If I can't have her, no one else will.'"

"It is my conviction that this person armed himself and selected a position where he could see Ethel should she step from the house."

"Then when she happened to venture out of doors he attempted to kill her but missed, owing to poor aim. In direct range Jesse Barden was coming up the road and got the shot meant for my girl," says Mr. Sturtevant.

A rapid change for the better marks the condition of young Barden, who is at his home with a bullet wound in the right lung.

Attending physicians now look for his recovery. Danger of blood poisoning, they say, has passed and returning strength shows that no relapse is impending.

And on May 17 Ethel Sturtevant will face a charge of "intent to kill" instead of a complaint of murder.

"We are unshaken in our conviction that the girl knows who shot Barden," said Sheriff George L. Stearns.

"He has said that she fired at him while they were talking near the stone wall," said the sheriff.

"Her denial of even seeing Barden on the night does not impress us greatly. For her years the girl is exceedingly shrewd, but we hope to show that she is guilty."

After a brief consultation with his daughter at the jail today, Joshua Sturtevant, her father, announced an intention of securing counsel for her.

Harvey usually has several hundred terrapin in his cellar. That is about all there are. He does them in a hundred stories. The best known is the one about the man who went into his restaurant and said to the waiter:

"John, give me a double porter-house steak that has been hanging just the right time. I want it four inches thick and tender and juicy. Cook it to a turn and cover it with fresh mushrooms. I want the finest piece of beef in Washington."

"Dead, boss," the waiter replied. "We ain't got no such steak as that. If we had George Harvey would eat it himself."

NAIL IN A CHILD'S STOMACH

Physician to Turn the X-Ray in Search of the Metal.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Physicians of the Presbyterian Hospital will use the X-ray to determine whether Wynona Bruhl, 23 months old, of 124 North Sixth street, swallowed a galvanized nail, as Mrs. Ella Bruhl, mother of Wynona, says she did.

While Mrs. Bruhl is positive that a galvanized nail about the size of an ordinary pin, but many times thicker, is lodged between the neck and stomach of her daughter, physicians who examined Wynona yesterday are skeptical, but are willing to give Mrs. Bruhl the benefit of every doubt. Hence the X-ray examination.

Wynona was playing on the floor of her home Saturday when her sister Dora, 13 years old, heard her scream. Dora called her mother, who picked the gasping Wynona from the floor.

It was not the first time that Wynona gasped for breath, and Mrs. Bruhl resorted to the usual method of patting the child on the back with more force than an affectionate mother uses under ordinary circumstances.

"NICE CANDY," SHE SAID.

Wynona "gurgled" several times, smiled at her mother and said, "Nice candy."

But Mrs. Bruhl knew better than to believe Wynona swallowed a piece of sweetmeat.

"It was a nail," she cried. "Oh, my darling, you will choke."

Dora summoned an ambulance, and the little girl was whisked to the Presbyterian Hospital at a speed which amused her very much.

Every application was used by physicians there, and Wynona seemed to be as much interested in the treatment as the physicians.

When one of the doctors told Mrs. Bruhl that Wynona looked to be all right, she exclaimed, "That does not satisfy me. There was a nail on the floor, and now it's gone. If Wynona did not swallow it, then where is it?"

To pacify Mrs. Bruhl, the child was placed in a nice white bed and given such medicine as would tend to loosen any hard substance which may have been swallowed.

Yesterday Wynona was as frisky as any healthy child, but several physicians watched her constantly.

NO CLUE TO THE NAIL.

"Beats all, how that nail keeps out of sight," one of them said. "Nothing in the neck, nothing in the throat, nothing in the trachea, nothing in the stomach, nothing anywhere in her body, it seems, except what has a right to be there."

When Mrs. Bruhl was told that Wynona was doing nicely, she said, with agitation, "Now don't tell me there is no nail in Wynona's body. I ought to know. Oh, the dear child. Maybe she caught pneumonia going to the hospital. I must hurry to see if she has pneumonia. If she has, you just bet they will not keep her here. I must see her at once."

Then Mrs. Bruhl hastened to the hospital to consult with the physicians on the X-ray probe.

MAKES DEMAND FOR LARGE SUM

FORMER LIFE INSURANCE PRES-IDENT SUEED FOR RETURN OF $200,000.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 2.—Suit was begun by the present management of the Northwestern Life Insurance Company against Dr. F. F. Force, former president, asking for an accounting and the return of any of the company funds found to have been misappropriated.

It is alleged in the complaint that this sum may reach as high as $200,000, including not only the amount for the stealing of which Force was lately convicted, but the $100,000 that he is charged with paying to Dr. E. W. Edwards, his predecessor in office, for getting out.

It is alleged that this sum came out of the company's treasury and should be returned.

The statute of limitations would have run against this Edwards payment were it not for the law that provides that the statute shall begin to operate only from the time that the alleged offense is discovered.

Editor—Did you get a good story of that stabbing affray?

Reporter—Yes sir.

COURT SCORES COLLINS

Accuses Attorney of Having Falsified to His Honor.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Superior Judge Carroll Cook this morning made short shrift of Attorney George Collins, who stands convicted of perjury, when he presented an application to be admitted to bail and a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Both applications were dismissed abruptly with the intimation from the court that the reason the proceedings had been dismissed was that Collins had been guilty of sharp practices.

The court briefly passed on the matter of Collins securing an order for bail. "I do not know whether you tricked this court into signing an order for your release on bail, but this court does know that you misinformed it when you made application for a writ of habeas corpus by stating that the proceedings before Judge Murasky had been dismissed, when, as a matter of fact, they had not been. Both the motion for a writ of habeas corpus and the application for bail are denied."

Collins attempted to make an explanation, but the court cut him short.

"I do not care to hear from you at all," said Judge Cook.

Nothing daunted by the fact that his efforts to get out of jail failed, Collins immediately sprang another petition for a writ of habeas corpus on Judge Cook. The court refused to consider it, but took it under advisement until 1 o'clock.

Judge Cook was to have made a further investigation of the record of the proceedings before Judge Murasky, but as the county clerk's office was closed he was unable this afternoon to carry out his purpose, with the result that the second petition of Collins for a writ will fall flat.

YOUTHFUL WIFE PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Daisy J. Hawley, wife of Lloyd C. Hawley, died in Berkeley yesterday, aged twenty-one years. Mrs. Hawley was a daughter of James E. and Jennie L. Logan.

The funeral is to be held from the First Congregational Church, corner of Dana and Durant streets, Berkeley, at two p. m. tomorrow.

TOO NOISY.

Martha Van Borgan, a teamster, who has been occupying quarters at the Adams Hotel since he became a refugee from San Francisco after the earthquake, created a "rough house" at the camp last night, and he was promptly arrested by Captain Campbell and Private Stone of the first cavalry, who turned the teamster over to Police Officer Caldwell. Van Borgan was booked at the police station on charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

IDAHO FLOODS RUINING FARMS

RESERVOIR BREAKS AND AN AREA SEVERAL MILES SQUARE IS UNDE WATER.

PRESTON, Idaho, June 2.—Flooded by overflowing and weakened by recent heavy rains the Blackfoot irrigation reservoir, four miles northeast of here, broke early today, flooding farms below here over an area of several miles square. Crops were ruined and many farm animals were washed away and drowned. Wagon roads were washed out and the tracks of the Oregon Short Line were inundated, delaying this morning's trains several hours. The property loss cannot be estimated, but it will aggregate many thousands of dollars.

TWO GOOD PIECES OF REAL ESTATE ARE SOLD

HAYWARD, June 2.—During the week S. D. Warren & Son sold Manuel Lee's twenty-five-acre tract, on Kelley avenue, to Mr. Buchanan of San Francisco, who will occupy the place at once. The payment was made as soon as money could be obtained from the city banks. The sale indicates a desire for country homes, and many similar transactions are expected. Warren & Son also reported that W. C. Bay has purchased the old Johnnie Simons place, on Buena Vista terrace, from William Simons. It is a nice place and contains one acre and a six-room house. Mr. Bay will soon take possession and will make it his future home.

DEMAND IMMEDIATE TRIAL OR A RELEASE

DENVER, Colo., June 2.—Belief in the innocence of their jailed officers and a demand that the authorities of Idaho either grant them an immediate trial or release them on bonds, was the main item in a set of resolutions adopted by the convention of the Western Federation of Miners in Odd Fellows' hall this morning. The resolutions were inspired by District Judge Smith's continuance of the cases in Boise until next winter.

LOUIS H. SULLIVAN

Louis H. Sullivan, of Chicago, one of the most eminent architects in the United States, is visiting Oakland. Mr. Sullivan came out here to make personal observations of the result of the earthquake and fire. He says his studies of San Francisco have been very instructive.

Mr. Sullivan was the architect of the Auditorium hotel and many other skyscrapers in Chicago. He also drew the plans for the Union Trust Company building and the Walbridge building in St. Louis, two of the finest structures in the Mound City.

Mr. Sullivan was joined at the Athenian club Friday evening by Walter Matthews, the well-known architect of the Union Savings Bank building.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY TRAIN

Santa Fe Train, Near Point Richmond, Hits Man.

POINT RICHMOND, June 7.—An unknown man, a laborer, with nothing on him by which he could be positively identified, was killed by a Santa Fe train at noon today. The accident occurred near the tunnel while the train was backing to the pier. The first known of the happening was when the body was seen under the wheels. The train was immediately brought to a stop and the body taken out, but death had been instantaneous, the body being terribly mangled.

Nothing is known so far as to who the man is. No money was found in his pockets, which leads to the theory that he may have committed suicide. The only thing about him that might lead to his identification was a card on which was written, "Bernie Brown of San Francisco." This it thought to be the name of some friend.

The man was about forty years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighing 160 pounds. His hair was light brown and his eyes were dark. He wore a black felt hat, a black coat, a dark calico shirt, blue overalls and brown shoes. The body was taken by Coroner Curry to the morgue at Martinez.

AGED MAN HAS DISAPPEARED

John G. Howell, aged 70 years, residing on Fulton near Russell street in Berkeley, has been missing from his home, and last night his daughter, Mrs. Miner, sought the assistance of the police in locating her father. Howell is described as wearing a full gray beard. When last seen he was dressed in a black Prince Albert suit, and wore gold-rimmed eyeglasses.

For some time Howell has been suffering from mental trouble and it is thought that he has wandered away from home and become lost. The missing man has one son, J. G. Howell, Jr., who is employed as a clerk in San Francisco.

ANTI-TRUST LAWS RESULT IN ARRESTS

BIRMINGHAM, Alabama, June 2.—The first arrest under the Alabama anti-trust laws, adopted by the recent legislature, took place today when four prominent citizens, two of them aldermen of the Birmingham city council, were arrested charged with forming a pool or corporation, to control the prices of brick. They are T. Sims, John R. Copeland, S. L. McSwain and Walter A. Robertson. The combine is known as the Jefferson Brick Company. Warrants against them were sworn out by a local contractor. Under the Alabama law they are punishable by a fine of from $500 to $1000.

RUMOR THAT MAJOR WALLS HAD GONE TO MEXICO DENIED.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—There is now no treaty in force between the United States and Mexico allowing troops of one country to operate in the territory of the other. Short lived treaties have previously existed, but the Mexican government has always been decidedly opposed to an agreement which would allow American soldiers on Mexican soil.

The war department is seriously perturbed by a press dispatch stating that Major General Wall, commanding at Fort Huachuca, had started for Cananea with a force of American troops, leaving the government to pass upon the legality of his action afterwards. A telegram was hurriedly sent asking for confirmation of the report and ordering that Major General Walls be recalled, providing he had really started. When it was discovered that the report was unfounded great relief was felt here. The Mexican embassy is without information from Cananea.

EL PASO, Texas, June 2.—A special received here at 1:30 this afternoon from Cananea states that Governor Zabal of Sonora has arrived there accompanied by a troop of Mexican soldiers and the 275 Americans who joined him at Naco. It states that quiet will be restored at once.

MRS. SAUNDERS TELLS OF HUSBAND'S HISTORY

Emeryville, Cal., June 2, 1908. Editor THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE: My attention was called to an article in this evening's TRIBUNE, headed: "C. F. Sanders Sent to Insane Asylum."

C. F. Sanders is my husband, and I wish to state he is not a brother of Mildred Sanders. I don't think he was acquainted with the gentleman mentioned. C. F. Sanders, when a young man, was with trotting horses; later took up the running horse, and was a well-known eastern trainer and owner. He was one of the official timers at Washington park, Los Angeles, the first year of racing there.

E. J. Carey is my brother. He has been very kind to my husband and myself, but we never lived in his home. Mr. Sanders' residence is 113 Forty-fifth street, Emeryville.

Trusting you will give this your attention and correct this evening's article, and oblige. MRS. C. F. SANDERS, 113 Forty-fifth street, Emeryville, Cal.

IMBIBED TOO FREELY.

The usual Saturday night bunch of drunks was gathered in by the police last night, twenty-six arrests being made between the time that the police courts closed yesterday morning and midnight last night.

RELIEF COMES IN TIME

Americans Are Rescued After Nerve Wracking Night.

EL PASO, Tex., June 2.—A night and day of daring chance-taking on the part of the Americans at Cananea was ended when the American border fighters, under command of Jim Rinning, a former Rough Rider, arrived in town early this morning. Order was brought out of chaos by the arrival of the cow punchers and gun fighters from the Arizona border, who armed both with rifles and six-shooters, came to the scene just when affairs had reached a crisis.

Colonel W. C. Greene and the Americans under his command had spent a nerve-racking night. Colonel Greene, in an automobile, patrolled the town and with him rode a troop of forty rangers armed with rifles.

They managed to keep down the Mexicans, who had but few arms. The lumber yards were burned early the night before and American houses dismantled. Lacking other weapons with which to make the attack, George and William Metcalf, who with others were defending the lumber yards, were struck down with stones and killed. Both had their skulls crushed with large stones which were thrown by Mexicans.

The first rift in the cloud came when, at Naco this morning Governor Ysabel, who had arrived from Hermosillo with a few American troops, accepted the services of American volunteers and agreed that they might go under his command to Cananea. Arriving at Cananea they found Colonel Kosterlitzky of the Rurales, the Mexican rangers, had come into the town and had the 5000 strikers driven back in a corner of the town and at bay. He had arrived from the mountains with his men at 10 o'clock. The Mexicans commenced to drink mescal and their passions became more inflamed. Under these circumstances the little band of Rurales was hardly sufficient to have made resistance had the rioters summoned up courage to attack them.

The arrival of the governor with the American troop of volunteers was welcomed with cheers by the little band. Late this afternoon statements were issued by both Governor Ysabel and Colonel Greene that the situation was well in hand and that the riot had been quieted. It is now regarded certain that the most serious point has been passed. Arms were sent to Naco from here today and troops will assemble tomorrow at Juarez on the other side of the river from El Paso to be held in readiness to go to the front if the rioters break out again.

Troops from Hermosillo, capital of the state of Sonora, are expected to arrive tomorrow after a forced march. The latest authentic reports show that early reports of those killed were greatly exaggerated and but twelve are dead.

TROOPS REMAIN ON THE BORDER

AMERICAN SOLDIERS HAVE NOT YET BEEN ORDERED TO ENTER MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Late this afternoon the war department received a dispatch from the commanding officer at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., stating that American troops had not been ordered across the Mexican boundary, and that it had never been intended they should go beyond Naco, which is on the American side. This squadron of cavalry was ordered from Huachuca to Naco in order to be as near as possible to the scene of the trouble. The secretary of war this afternoon ordered Major-General F. C. Hinesworth, the military secretary, to send the following telegram to Major H. C. Watts, the officer in command of the squadron of the Fifth Cavalry, sent from Huachuca and at first supposedly ordered across the Mexican boundary.

"Secretary of War directs you and your squadron shall not cross boundary line into Mexico. If you reach Naco go into camp there and await instructions. If you receive this message notify the war department immediately. (Signed) AINSWORTH."

OPEN NEW LANDS FOR SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The president has issued a proclamation opening to settlement and entry of a portion of the Shoshone reservation in Wyoming, approximately 1,150,000 acres. A registration of applicants will be held in Lander, Shoshone, Thermopolis, and Worland, commencing July 15 and ending July 31. The drawing will be held at Lander, Wyo., commencing August 4.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Parson—"What do you suppose was Brother Skinner's idea in offering a memorial window for our new church?"

Deacon—"Oh, he probably wants something to look at when the contribution-plate goes around."

PLUM TREE.

Parke—"That bodice senator is always boasting about his family tree. Wonder what kind of tree it was?"

Harker—"Oh, some kind of a graft, I guess."

EIGHT DENT LUNCH

LONDON, June 2.—Lord Radstock, a peer who has devoted fifty years to evangelism and rescue work in the London slums, has stated that he frequently lunches at the moderate cost of fourpence, or eight cents.

The cheap meal referred to by Lord Radstock supplies himself at the Victoria hotel, which he conducts as a rescue home for young women in the south of London.

In his mission work in the East Lord Radstock rescued the simple gospel, following no creed and no sect. At seventy-three he is still working cheerfully and earnestly among the poor and wretched of London.

CALL OFF FIGHT AT LAST MOMENT

CHICAGO, June 2.—Promoter Edwards White of the Pastime Athletic club announced this afternoon that the Dave Barry-Hugo Kelly fight, scheduled for this afternoon, had been called off.

BOILERMAKERS ARE SCALDED TO DEATH

NEWPORT, R. I., June 2.—William Shoffel and Timothy Noonan, boiler-makers, were scalded to death this afternoon while at work on the steamer New Hampshire of the Fall River line by the steam gasket blowing out.

KNIFE OUT FOR DEVILS

MONGOLIAN FLOURISHES DANGEROUS INSTRUMENT RECKLESSLY.

Charles King, a native of the Flower Kingdom, was taken to the receiving hospital last night and placed in the detention ward on the complaint of the woman for whom he worked at Eight and Madison streets.

Charles, it seems, went to chasing one of his own peculiar imaginary Chinese devils about the house armed with a long butcher's knife. The family, fearing that any one of them might be mistaken for the particular spirit for which King was looking, concluded to take no chances and had him locked up.

He says he is forty-seven years of age and has been living at 1074 Eighth street.

SAY THEY WERE ROBBED BY WOMEN

T. Clancy, proprietor of the Denver house, at 908 Washington street, was arrested last evening at the above address on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Clancy is charged with having sold liquor to Samuel Sandbach, Ernest Martin, Eddie Cordova and Charles Arnes, who secured rooms at the Denver house last night, and the latter allege that after they became intoxicated they were robbed of a considerable sum of money by some women in the house.

Clancy was booked at the police station on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He was later released on $100 cash bail. He declares that he knows nothing of the robbery of his accusers.

KAISER'S WIT COST MAN JOB

BERLIN, June 2.—General von Pruel, who has been appointed inspector general of military instruction, was formerly adjutant to the kaiser, and the manner in which he lost that honored post is characteristic of the emperor's witty way with presumptuous courtiers.

The general, during a walk with the kaiser, ventured to suggest that a certain scheme which his majesty had in hand might be effected at a lower cost than had been estimated.

After listening to Von Pruel's proposed economies, the kaiser quietly remarked: "So you believe I ought to be more economical? Perhaps you are right. I shall begin by dispensing with the services of one of my adjutants."

ENTHUSIASM FOR KING AND QUEEN

MADRID, June 2.—Attendance at a special thanksgiving service at the church of the Bur Suxesco and at a special bull fight were the chief events of yesterday and evening so far as King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were concerned. At the bull fight they were given a most enthusiastic reception and their passing through the streets was one continual ovation.

PEDDLER'S MISTAKE.

John Gahnet, a peddler, was arrested by Patrolman Shannon last evening at 81 Eighth street on a charge of violation of the ordinance prohibiting the sale of live chickens on the sidewalk. He was booked at the police station, and was released on bail.

COMEZ WEARY OF HIS HONORS

WANTS CASTRO TO RESUME THE PRESIDENCY, AND THE LATTER REFUSES.

CARACAS, Venezuela, May 31, via Williamsstad, June 1.—General Gomez, the acting president, is offended at the attitude of General Castro, who recently resigned the presidency in Gomez's favor. Gomez wishes to resign and has requested Castro to resume office. The latter persists in declining to do so unless the nation claims him and congress approves of his resuming the presidency.

In view of the deadlock, the second vice president being in Europe and the constitution not contemplating the present situation, Gomez has announced his intention to convoke congress and present his resignation.

The friction between the acting president and the former president, affecting trade, but not disturbing the peace is feared. Corporations and other public bodies daily send Castro resolutions praying him to resume the presidency.

A Rare Exhibit of Rich Oriental Rugs

Now on display, in our store, corner 12th and Harrison, Oakland, is a rare exhibit of rich Oriental rugs—the only collection between Los Angeles and Portland. It would take many pages to describe every rug in this rare showing of Orientals received from F. P. Bhungara Co., Constantinople.

Not a single rug that has not taken a premium at the late expositions—everyone received highest award at the St. Louis and Portland World's Fairs. They have been exhibited to nearly every crowned head of Europe.

You should not miss seeing these rare specimens of Far Eastern handiwork.

Below we have given some descriptive matter of just a few of these beautiful floor coverings.

ORIENTAL RUG WEAVING

Oriental rug weaving was supposed to have started in Egypt and Chaldea—was carried into Assyria—and then into Asia Minor. There is a singular lack of books in the English language treating directly on rugs—a subject so intensely interesting—the books in existence are too rare and expensive for the general reader.

SHIRAZ RUG

The field of the rug is marked with narrow perpendicular stripes of soft yellow, rose, deep blue, and ivory. The mellow tones are all thickly studded with a fine floral design in contrasting colors. The rug is heavy and firm of weave.

KIRMANS

This beautiful and rare rug has an ivory field thickly studded with small floral designs woven most carefully. The knots are tied very closely, and the texture is soft and as fine as velvet.

BOKHARA

Soft lustrous sheen. The octagons are divided into sections by distinct lines. Every stitch shows that the rug was woven with the greatest care. The border is minute in detail, and the mat itself is a genuine treasure.

KAZAKS

An unusually fine specimen—its softness, combined with its solidity, gives it force and beauty. On the wonderful rose field is a series of geometrical figures. The wide border is composed of varied forms of the "hook" design. The border around this announcement was copied from a Kazak.

KURDISTAN

The tree design in its best and strongest elements is typified in this wonderful and most interesting Persian fabrication of olden time. The harmony of design and color is most impressive, and the size of the rug enhances the effect. The richness of the coloring, the velvet-like texture, the repose of the design—all are unusual.

DAGHESTANS

It is an antique, but its colors are as fast and clear as when it was first woven. The many markings add greatly to the beauty of the interesting Daghestan.

FEREGHANS

This is an unusual antique. The pile is even, and the border with its exquisite hue is a study in color blending.

HAMADANS

The "field" of camel's hair is in natural color. The medallion in the center is woven mainly in red, as is also the border—both, however, are ornamented with green, white, maroon, orange and a few black.

AGITATE TARIFF REFORM

Cleveland and Parker Both Statk They Favor
Such a Course

NEW YORK, June 2.—The launching of the boom for a revision of the tariff which it has been hoped to make notable at the Reform club in this city by the presence of former President Grover Cleveland, and Judge Alton B. Parker, fell flat because both of these gentlemen sent their regrets, although both declared for the reform of the tariff as the paramount issue. The dinner was under the auspices of the tariff reform committee of the Reform club and about two hundred guests were present. Henry D. B. Steyer acted as chairman and introduced the following, all of whom spoke in favor of agitation to compel congressional action toward reform. Former Governor of Massachusetts, William L. Douglas, Hon. Henry T. Rainey, William M. Summers, and John Devitt Warner.

In his letter of regret former President Cleveland among other things, said: "I am convinced that the value to our people of wholesome tariff reform was never more easily made apparent than now and that there was never a more opportune time for its earnest advancement. Those who are interested in the cause should not allow themselves to suppose that it has been overwhelmed by other topics that just now seem to have taken possession of popular consideration."

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO HOLD REUNION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 2.—Monday the annual reunion of the Knights of Columbus will be held in this city and a week's festivities will begin. Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore will arrive at four o'clock Monday afternoon and will be met by a special committee composed of Supreme Knight E. T. Hearn, Mayor J. E. Smalley and members of the order. The dedication of the new building of the order will take place on Wednesday morning. A banquet will be held Wednesday night to which the state officials have been invited.

Preparations are being made to entertain 15,000 visitors during the week.

LONDON, June 2.—Baron Von Kottwitz, chief of the military balloon department of Austria, started today from Earlscourt, London, in an attempt to reach Vienna in a balloon. A big crowd witnessed the start which was entirely successful.

SENATOR BURTON OF KANSAS, SENTENCED TO JAIL.

The United States Supreme Court has affirmed the decision of the circuit court, by which this United States senator was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $2500 for illegally representing a get-rich-quick concern before a federal department. Mr. Burton has obtained a rehearing, but it is not expected that the court will change its decision.

San Francisco Man Is

By Court

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—George Couchet, formerly an employee of the board of public works, who was accused of having betrayed Frances Webber, a sixteen-year-old girl, escaped prosecution on a felony charge, as the girl was over age of consent, but Police Judge Mogan this morning scored him for his conduct, stating that he should be occupying a cell in San Quentin.

"It is only through a technicality of the law that you escape conviction," said the court, addressing the prisoner. "The only thing that I can do is to denounce your conduct so that it may possibly receive publicity and brand you for what you are—a scoundrel without conscience or honor. The child that you ruined was simple minded. You were a married man. This makes your action despicable, and it would be a good thing for the community if you were sent to prison for a long term of years."

APPROVES OF DOLLAR LIMIT

GRAND JURY COMMENDS ACTION OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—The grand jury was in session this afternoon and passed the following resolution, commending the course taken by the board of supervisors in keeping the tax levy down to the dollar limit:

"Whereas, The Board of Supervisors, in estimating the expense of maintaining the municipal government for the ensuing fiscal year 1906-07, has so regulated its expenditures as to keep within the dollar limit of the taxation, thereby displaying a wise statesmanship, and giving evidence of a just consideration for the future needs and welfare of our city, be it Resolved by the grand jury of the city and county of San Francisco, That the board of supervisors be highly commended for its action in maintaining the dollar limit, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the secretary to the board of supervisors."

LAKESIDE RINK.

The fourth heat of the one-mile rink championship was won by Clark. The final will be run tonight and will be a very exciting contest. Everything is in readiness for the grand masque skating carnival to be held at this rink next Wednesday evening, June 4. A fine lot of prizes will be awarded the winners in the different events. Special features will be couples' race, boys' race, race for men and unique march. Not an idle moment. Fun for all. Continuous music by Henderson's military band and the monster band organ.

TAINTED MEAT IS EATABLE

Scientists Declare Local Infection Does Not Spoil Whole

CHICAGO, June 2.—Mayor Dunne today asked the consent and cooperation of the federal government in the appointment of a commission of pathologists and scientific men versed in meat inspection, for the purpose of investigating the conditions at the stockyards and the methods of inspecting meats. This action was taken at a conference between the mayor and Health Commissioner Whelan, at which it was deemed advisable to secure the views of the government before appointing the investigating commission. A telegram was sent to the secretary of agriculture at Washington. One of the duties of the commission would be to determine whether the locally infected cattle should be sold to the public or condemned. "Such a commission," said Dr. Whelan, "should consist of three members who are scientists and the investigation would not establish anything new, but it would determine the matter. All scientific men agree that local infection does not spoil the rest of the carcass. The government's own commission came here and established the rules under which the inspection is being conducted. Where the infection is local there is no danger of a general infection of the whole animal, and it is foolish to condemn the whole carcass."

Dr. Whelan does not believe the commission will be able to reach a conclusion inside of six months.

"The decision of such a commission," he said, "if it is to be worth anything, must be made after a thorough examination of all the authorities and after the conclusion of the experiments in and out of the laboratory. Such a decision, if it reversed the present rules, would revolutionize the meat inspection of the world. If it supported them it would place them up on a firm basis and in either event the decision must be placed on a close investigation not a mere guess or a statement of theory."

DISEASE VICTIMS DIE IN HOSPITAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Charles Dalefdecker, a German aged sixty-seven years, died last night at the Park Emergency hospital of a bronchial affection. He was admitted on May 1. He formerly resided at 305 Minna street, but was driven from his home by the fire. Mrs. Charles Peart, refugee, who was admitted to the hospital yesterday, succumbed. Death is said to have been due to natural causes.

FRANCHISES FORFEITED BY TRACTION COMPANY

There is probably no place in the country where there has been so much jugglery in the matter of franchises, particularly those relating to street railroads, as in Oakland. The Oakland Traction Company's consolidated lines constitute a case in point. That might have been overlooked or forgotten, however, if the corporation had lived up to the agreements on which its franchises are based. But it has not. Moreover, it has conducted its business as if it were under no municipal control and owed nothing to the public which gave it life and on which it has fattened. But the complaints regarding its poor service have become so numerous, the violations of its obligations are so flagrant, and its utter indifference to the public rights have become so bold that it is not at all strange the city council should have finally shared in the public resentment and taken the initiative to bring the arrogant corporation to book with a round turn, to strip it of the privileges it has usurped and the public rights generously granted to it which it has morally and legally forfeited through wilfully ignoring the terms on which they were obtained.

Probably no corporation ever had so many consolidated interests whose tenure hung on so slender and frail a thread: the texture of whose fine spun and complicated fabric is so badly worm eaten, or the title to whose possessions is so uncertain and insecure. The Oakland Traction Company is, indeed, built up on public gifts in the form of franchises which were intended to be of great public benefit—gifts which it obtained by promises to fulfill obligations to the public which it has studiously violated. These violations have been so numerous and so open that they have, very properly, weakened the very foundations of the corporation's existence, and threaten in the long run to lead to its destruction, which is inevitable, if the right prevails, as it should do. Its bad faith with the public certainly justifies such an end to its lawless career.

THE TWELFTH STREET RAILWAY FRANCHISE.

The Twelfth street railway franchise is, for instance, a fair example of many others of doubtful status, which the Oakland Traction Company has acquired. The original franchise, which was granted October 30, 1889, to E. F. Preston, M. H. Grossmayer, J. B. Randol, Edward Politz and James Gillon for a term of fifty years, provided for the construction and operation of a cable road on Twelfth street or Central avenue, from the westerly line of Broadway to the center line of Pine street, thence southerly along Pine to its intersection with Atlantic; and from Twelfth northerly through Wood street to Sixteenth to the westerly end thereof. Twelfth street was to be double tracked, but it was optional with the grantee whether a single or a double track was constructed on Pine, Wood and Sixteenth streets. However, construction had to be commenced within six months from the date of the approval of the ordinance, and the line was to have been completed one year thereafter.

THE FRANCHISE INVALIDATED.

The franchise was invalidated early. The charter says: "No grant of any franchise by the council shall have any validity or effect unless the person or persons to whom the same is made shall within six months thereafter, actually and in good faith, and not colorably, commence the exercise or enjoyment of the same, there being no legal impediment thereto."

No legal impediment existed; but the grantees performed their first obligation under the terms of the franchise in a "colorable" manner and not "in good faith," by merely laying down one pair of rails only. Moreover, at the end of one year no further progress had been made, although the franchise called for the completion of the line within that period.

JUGGLING WITH THE FRANCHISE.

Although the total length of the line consisted of only one pair of rails and the time for the completion of the road had passed four months before, juggling with the franchise began on March 5, 1891, when the grantees secured the passage of a new ordinance giving them "enlarged privileges," namely, the right to use electricity as a motive power, to erect an overhead trolley line and to widen the track.

RESURRECTING A DEAD FRANCHISE.

It has already been shown that the charter called for the completion of the road within one year after the granting of the franchise. Having failed to comply with the charter requirements, the grantees turned to the state law for relief, as the civil code allowed a term of three years to pass after the ordinance went into effect in which they should fulfill their obligations. But again failing to complete the road within the period stipulated by the code, the Central Avenue Railway Company, the successor to the original grantees and the predecessor in interest of the Oakland Traction Company, applied for an extension of time. The period of grace under the charter had expired October 30, 1890, under the civil code on October 30, 1892. Under section 502 of the code, the failure to comply with the provisions of the ordinance of October 30, 1889, worked "a forfeiture of the right of way and also the franchise." The latter died, therefore, on the close of the day of October 30, 1892. There is no process known to the law whereby life may be restored to the corpse of such a defunct instrument. It has, therefore, remained dead ever since.

ATTEMPT TO REGAIN LOST RIGHTS BY SUBTERFUGE.

There was only one way for the Central Avenue Railway Company to regain its lost rights, namely, by beginning de novo, applying for a new franchise and making the highest bid for it when it came to the open competition provided by law. But the corporation adopted what it doubtless thought was a less risky course, ignoring, in doing so, the simplest principles of law. It applied to the council for an extension of time to complete the road, as if it were possible to extend the life of a defunct ordinance. The council was evidently conscious that it was exceeding its lawful authority and endeavoring to accomplish the impossible achievement of resurrecting the dead through a sleight of hand performance. This is shown in the ordinance it passed, at the behest of the Central Avenue Railway Company, on April 27, 1893, granting that corporation an extension of time until July 18, 1893, which contained the following curious provision:

Section 3.—Unless said road is fully completed on or before the said 18th day of July, 1893, this ordinance shall not, nor shall anything contained therein, be taken or deemed a waiver of the forfeiture prescribed by section 502 of the civil code of the state of California under which the said road should have been completed on or before the 18th day of April, 1893.

The latter date was probably based upon the assumption that the passage of ordinances dealing with the franchise subsequent to the date of the original grant had given it a new lease of life. But the rider included in the ordinance was in effect an official declaration that the time limit set by the code for the completion of the road had already passed and that under the conditions imposed by the code the franchise was voided.

The mayor evidently doubted the validity of the ordinance, for he withheld his signature until the last day of grace, namely, May 8th. He affixed it then with the consciousness, doubtless, that his approval could not give vitality to an invalid instrument. Moreover, inasmuch as the corporation had not completed the line as described in the ordinance of October 30, 1889, and never did complete it, the ordinance approved May 8, 1893, doubly forfeited the franchise.

BONDHOLDERS LEFT WITH IMPROPER SECURITY.

As the successor of the Central Avenue Railway Company there is no escape from the conclusion that the Oakland Traction Company has been, therefore, left with a bogus title to the rights it is exercising on the Twelfth street division of its system, and that its bondholders have nothing better than an impaired security to protect their investment.

ABANDONMENT OF TRACK—AGE.

The Oakland Traction Company has, moreover, not been unconscious of its real position. It has tried to repair it by resorting to expedients which have merely betrayed its weakness more clearly. On November 28, 1898, five and one-half years after the passage of the last named ordinance, the company prevailed upon the council to consent, through the adoption of an ordinance, to the acceptance of the abandonment and surrender to the city, in addition to other sections of roadway belonging to other divisions of its system, the right to maintain and operate a street railway "on Twelfth street from the westerly line of Wood street to the westerly line of Pine; on Pine street from the northerly line of Twelfth street to the northerly line of Eighth street, and, also, on Pine from the northerly line of Eighth street, and, also, on Pine street from the northerly line of Seventh street to Atlantic."

DAMAGING EFFECTS OF THESE ABANDONMENTS.

The damaging effects of these abandonments is plain. They vitiate a legal franchise, if one existed, by attempting to give the corporation a new franchise by an illegal process. They change the whole character of a franchise obtained by due legal process by a system of evasion which ignores the law defining how franchises must be acquired, setting aside the rights of property owners, depriving the public of the benefits to which they were entitled under the original grant, which is the main purpose of a street railway franchise, and stifling competition for the new privileges which can be legally granted only to the highest bidder, for the acceptance of the surrender of a part of a system, particularly after it has been in operation for years, is equivalent to the granting of a new franchise.

FORFEITURE THROUGH NON SERVICE.

The Oakland Traction Company has, however, forfeited all its rights, assuming that it, otherwise possessed any, to the Twelfth street line, through the non performance of its obligations regarding service.

Every ordinance affecting this line which has been passed since the adoption of the original ordinance of October 30, 1889, confirmed the conditions imposed upon the grantee in the latter instrument. Section 7 of that ordinance requires the company "to run cars every five minutes, at least, from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. each day." That requirement has never been complied with; it is not being complied with at the present time. Yet it is a vital part of the franchise which has been in disuse, without the consent of the council, for a period of thirteen years. Section 187 of the charter provides that "Whenever any franchise shall have been in disuse, in whole or in part, for the period of one year, there being no legal impediment to the use thereof, it shall be deemed abandoned and forfeited to the extent of such disuse, and the said franchise or that part thereof so in disuse shall no longer be exercised or enjoyed; PROVIDED, THAT THE DISUSE OF ANY PORTION OF THE FRANCHISE, UNLESS PERMISSION BE BEFORE OBTAINED OF THE COUNCIL, SHALL

BE DEEMED A FORFEITURE OF THE WHOLE."

OPERATING A ROAD WITHOUT A FRANCHISE.

The Twelfth street line has, therefore, been operated by the Oakland Traction Company and its predecessors for at least twelve years WITHOUT A FRANCHISE and it is in the power of the council to offer it for sale to the highest bidder or to declare it forfeited.

PAYMENT OF PERCENTAGES.

Under the code and the charter street railway franchises granted subsequent to the adoption of the state and municipal street railway laws now in force are subject to the payment semiannually of the percentage of gross receipts on which such privileges were obtained in open competition after full compliance with previous obligations imposed by these laws. The Traction Company has complied with this requirement in part only. It has paid into the city treasury small amounts, sometimes semiannually, sometimes for a lump period of several consecutive years, according to such statements as it has been pleased to render itself without any form of public audit. Whether these returns honestly represent what is due the city on the actual gross receipts of the corporation cannot be determined without a careful examination of its books.

COLLECTION OF STREET RAILWAY TRIBUTES.

The city treasurer and the auditor have assumed no jurisdiction over these payments, merely accepting them as voluntary, on the ground that the code and the charter are silent on the subject of jurisdiction and that the council has not placed the responsibility of the collection on any particular official. If there is any virtue in this representation it should be easy to remedy. The council should lose no time in designating who shall collect the tribute and in defining the manner in which the collection shall be

"BOB" EVANS WRATHFUL AT CITIZENS OF PROVINCETOWN, MASS. OVER BASEBALL FIGHT

FIGHTING BOB.

NEW YORK, June 2.—"Fighting Bob" Evans is fighting mad. Therefore the Atlantic squadron will no longer "Sunday" at Provincetown, Mass., to use a commercial traveler's expression. The rear admiral's correspondence and that of the navy department was made public, showing why the fleet would hereafter "Sunday" at Rockland, Me.

It was all on account of Sunday baseball. The sailors took their only day ashore to play the great American game, to the scandal of the Evangelical alliance of Boston and vicinity.

The alliance wrote to Secretary Bonaparte accusing Evans of cowering the selectmen of Provincetown into allowing Sunday baseball. The admiral resented the insinuation and to prove it had the place for "Sundaying" changed to Rockland, Me., where the sailors can exercise to their hearts' content.

HUSBANDS FEAR QUAKES, TELEGRAPH TO WIVES: "COME HOME AT ONCE"

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 2.

The California delegates to the convention of the general federation of Women's Clubs have been ordered home. Their husbands have written for them.

A telegram dated from St. Paul has appeared in the California papers stating that there have been fifty-seven earthquakes in this vicinity, that buildings at Houghton, Mich., rocked like cradles, and that there were cracks in the earth six inches wide.

The word "earthquake" has an ugly sound to a Californian and the husbands of the delegates wired to them to leave the place of danger, but the busy delegates have only sent a reassuring reply. The California women have indeed been busy since they came to St. Paul, for they had to buy their biennial wardrobes after their arrival.

"There were none to buy in California," they said, suavely.

made semiannually. RIGHTS OF THE CITY AS A PARTNER.

The city's specific interest in the gross revenues of the Oakland Traction Company's tribute paying lines is virtually that of a partner in the corporation and, as such, possesses the undoubted right to inspect the corporation's books and to audit its accounts to determine the actual amount of tribute which it has the right to collect. In the event of a disclosure that the corporation has failed to pay the full amount due in the past, the council can declare the tribute-paying franchises forfeited, for non compliance with the terms on which they were granted; or it may direct the city attorney to proceed against the corporation for an accounting and impose upon it the penalty of the forfeiture of its rights, if evidence of delinquency, which is not improbable, is obtainable.

ANDREW WHITE ON ANARCHISTS

BELIEVES THAT NATIONS MUST CO-OPERATE IN ORDER TO SUPPRESS THEM.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Great interest in the bureau of anarchism to join down the bomb throwers is suggested by Andrew White, former ambassador to Russia and to Germany, former president of Cornell university, prominent promoter of the police conference at The Hague and for many years one of America's foremost diplomats.

Mr. White believes the world must have co-operation if it is hoped to shake off the murderous, irresponsible creatures whose work is becoming so common and who have killed so many of the ablest men in the United States and Europe.

Mr. White thinks the police departments in America and Europe should be empowered by the nations to work together to trace bomb throwing anarchists to their lairs and bring them to quick justice.

"Take our own country," said Mr. White. "Three of our presidents have fallen in a generation by the hands of such men. They were splendid, upright, able presidents. There was no reason for their assassination. In Europe many good men have been ruthless victims of the craze to kill somebody. The tendency appears to be increasing instead of decreasing. The recent events in Spain again call for attention vividly to the matter."

WEDDING DAY.

The marriage takes place today of Herbert L. Underwood of Berkeley and MRS. GRACE GOWING, WHO WILL ASSIST AT THE FABIOLA FETE.

Miss Sophie Schlat of East Oakland. The young people will enjoy a honeymoon and on their return will occupy a pretty home at Channing way and McKinley avenue, Berkeley.

FOR VACATION.

Mrs. William A. Schrock with her mother, daughter and niece are planning to spend the summer in Cloverdale, leaving as soon as school closes for the country.

GOING SOUTH.

Mrs. Cora E. Jones, president of the Oakland club, leaves shortly for a trip to San Jose. Mrs. Jones has worked faithfully with club members in their relief work and will go to the Garden city on a business and pleasure trip combined. Later in the season Mrs. Jones will go south on a vacation trip.

CIVIC CLUB.

The Woman's Civic club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Morris at 50 Eleventh street. The president, Mrs. Clarissa Morris, and the secretary, Mrs. Frances Williamson, have assisted in the relief work at the chamber of commerce and the members have all been busy with various branches of the work.

A large attendance is requested at the meeting which is announced for three o'clock Monday afternoon.

WHIST CLUB.

These Good Cheer whist club will meet Monday, June 11, at the home of Mrs. H. G. Plummer on Chestnut street. This will be the first meeting since the fire and the members are anticipating a delightful series of four meetings before the season closes. The members have been busy with relief work during the last month.

AT DINNER.

Mr. Osborn, who is here from the East on a business trip, was host Friday evening at a dinner given at the Piedmont clubhouse. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. George McNear Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lacy Brayton, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wayman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Augustus Bray, Mrs. G. B. Cook, Harry Smith and the host.

IN BERKELEY.

Miss Marie Rose Dean is at Snell's seminary, Berkeley, since the fire.

COMING HOME.

Miss Ruth Adams, who has been spending the winter in New York with Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Ryer expects to return to California at once and will spend the summer in San Francisco. Miss Adams is awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Ryer to start for the west.

HONORED GUEST.

Miss Gussie Mellman, whose marriage with Philip Conrad Jr. will be an event of early June, is to be the honored guest at several delightful affairs preceding the pretty home ceremony.

Among those who will entertain for Miss Mellman are Miss Sybil Tripp, Miss Alta Countryman, Miss Margaret Gunn and Miss Leslie Manuel.

Miss Countryman and Miss Tripp will be joint hostesses at an informal affair to be given next Friday afternoon for Miss Mellman. A score of guests have been invited, among them the Misses Mellman, Miss Sophie Conrad, Miss Leslie Manuel, Miss Ida Grossmyer, Mrs. George Johnson, Miss Mildred Tripp, Miss Hattie Alexander, Miss Alice Dabney and several others.

WEST OAKLAND HOME.

The ladies of the West Oakland home will hold their regular monthly meeting tomorrow, Monday, at the home on Ninth and Campbell streets. The meeting will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning and is to be the last meeting for the year before the summer vacation.

IN THE SOUTH.

The following society note from Pasadena is of interest to friends here: An attractive hospitality of the afternoon was the reception tea given by Mrs. T. S. Thompkins of South Pasadena avenue in honor of Mrs. C. H. Hobart of Oakland and to give to her friends an opportunity to greet Mrs. Hobart after an absence of almost a year from Pasadena. Mrs. Hobart is the wife of the former pastor of the First Baptist church and has always enjoyed an unusual popularity in church, social and club circles.

The Thompkins home was gracefully arranged with flowers in simple and effective grouping. In the reception hall were brilliant scarlet geraniums with greenery and the living room was fragrant and lovely with sweet peas. The dining room with its pale pink stock, was an especially pretty picture and her tea was served with dainty and pretty accessories. Mrs. Thompkins received with the honorees and the ladies, who were unbonneted, were: Mrs. Allison, Mrs. C. H. Burton, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. D. C. Horton, Mrs. Walter Messer, Mrs. W. E. Nichols. Those assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Hutchins and Misses Burton, Carrie and Verna Fish, Myra Edwards. A dainty collation was served and a hundred or more guests came and went during the hours of 3 to 5.

NEW HOME.

Alice Gates, the well known singer, is planning to make her home on this side of the bay and expects to be settled here early in July. Miss Gates has had an artistic studio in San Francisco where many noted people of the musical and dramatic world have been entertained. The singer has a wide circle of friends here and doubtless her home here will be the scene of day was a sort of preliminary affair.

The program included three numbers by the Hughes club, songs by Mrs. Llewellyn Williams, Mrs. Charles Poultier, Mrs. G. A. Faulkner, Mrs. Charles Shaffer, Miss Eliza P. Brown, Corn. While in the latter city Miss Kellogg will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Lavender Cornell.

WEDDING NEWS.

The marriage is announced of George Derrington and Miss Grace Amram, which took place May 7, at the home of the bride's parents in Oregon. Mr. Derrington is a brother of Mrs. John Norton Pomeroy and Mrs. Walter Cannon and has a host of friends in this city.

SUMMER OUTING.

Miss Emily Raymond of San Francisco, who has been the guest of her nephew, Charles E. Sears and family of Alameda for several weeks, has gone to Camp Meeker for a summer outing.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

An engagement of interest is that of Miss Dora Scofield and Howard Flint, which was announced recently at the home of the young lady, 1025 Union street. About twenty-five friends were invited to a five hundred party, and during this enjoyable affair the engagement of Miss Scofield and Mr. Flint was announced.

The decorations were of hearts. Chains of hearts were strung from chandeliers, portieres and from corners of the rooms. The news of the engagement was broken to the guests through the medium of hearts distributed in pairs to each guest. On one heart was the name of Miss Scofield and on the other the name of Mr. Flint. The wedding will take place in October.

Miss Scofield is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Scofield and one of the most prominent younger members of Alameda society. Mr. Flint is associated with the Standard Oil Company.

Miss Scofield's guests were Mrs. William Furst, Mrs. Clarence Flint, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. George Henry, Mrs. Ralph Wilson, Mrs. John Gelsendorf, Mrs. M. B. Medburg, Mrs. C. C. Hughes, Mrs. Paxton Wright, Mrs. George Habenicht, Miss Grace Reynolds, Miss Bessie Bates, Miss Maizie Crowley, Miss Mae Sullivan, Miss Elsie Victoria, Miss Grace Cook, Miss Isabel O'Connor, Miss Florence O'Neil, Miss Anna Flint, Miss Mae Creedon.

CENTRAL BANK BUILDING

J. E. FOX,

Manager

A special meeting of the Hillside Mothers' club was held on Thursday, May 24. A committee of one was appointed to represent the Mother's club at the next meeting of the Hillside club, to propose co-operation with that club and thereby establish a sewing center in the east end of town.

The Hillside clubhouse was considered as a central and desirable location for such relief work. Mrs. Carlisle was unanimously elected president. The other officers were as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Scott; second vice-president, Mrs. Brown; secretary, Mrs. Gibbs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bricker; treasurer, Miss Davis.

A basket luncheon for mothers and children, to be held in one of the many delightful spots in Co-ed canyon, was planned for Friday, June 8.

Mrs. Carlisle gave a brief account of the club's work during the year, as the secretary was not present.

The Hillside Mother's club, with its sister clubs, has accomplished much good work, and the schools are reaching a higher and nobler standard through their efforts.

The club members adjourned until the fall term, congratulating themselves that the good work would continue under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Carlisle.

HOUSE PARTY.

The Horry Meeks are entertaining a merry party of boys and girls over the week end at their country home near San Leandro. The guests are all friends of Miss Gladys Meek and include Miss Evelyn Adams of Los Gatos, Miss Beulah Brigham, Walter Hush, Valentine Hush, John, Spices and Boyd Harrold.

DOLL BOOTH.

Mrs. Le Grande C. Tibbets is chairman of the doll and toy booth at the Fabiola fete and in her charge will be the trio of beautiful dolls and the boys' prizes, including the football, skates and roller coaster.

Mrs. Tibbets will be assisted by Mrs. Athearn Folger, Mrs. Minor Cooper, Mrs. George S. Weston, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs. Louise Allender, Miss Elizabeth McNear, Miss Florine Brown, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Miss Gertrude Allen.

WEDDING DATE.

The marriage of Miss Myrtle Hammetton and William Avery Rich will take place August 9. The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hammetton. Mr. Rich is a young architect holding a position with Smith & Stone Company of San Francisco.

The young couple will live at Santa Rosa.

PLEASANT AFFAIR.

A society event of the week was the reception in honor of the young violinist, Miss Winifred June Morgan, last evening by Charles Dutton of Berkeley. Two hundred invitations had been sent out for the affair, which was held at Mr. Dutton's studio, 2413 Telegraph avenue. The hours were from 9 to 12.

The reception has been announced to take place several weeks ago, but the cards were withheld until this week. Miss Morgan will carry with her abroad a pleasant memory of an evening at Mr. Dutton's studio with representative people of the city to wish her bon voyage.

The following assisted Mr. Dutton in receiving: Professor and Mrs. Hermann Genes, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Maurer, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Backrach, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Winch, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Day, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Cushman, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wyckoff, Mrs. Florence Jenkins Trost, Mrs. Isabelle

Is Man to Become Extinct?

Many years ago Robert Louis Stevenson, then in the remorseless grip of an insidious disease, and perchance touched with pain at the thought that his place at the front of the stage so late and so hardly won would soon be filled by another, perhaps less worthy, to whom the acclaim of the passing throng would be given, penned these lines:

"We uncommiserate pass into the night
From the loud banquet and departing leave
A tremor in men's memories, faint and sweet
And frail as music. Features of our face,
The tones of the voice, the touch of the loved hand,
Perish and vanish, one by one, from earth;
Meanwhile, in the hall of song, the multitude Applauds the new performer. One, perchance,
The ultimate survivor lingers on,
And smiles, and to his heart recalls
The long forgotten. Ere the morrow die,
He, too, returning, through the curtain comes,
And the new age forgets us and goes on."

It was the ego that dictated this pathetic satire of Stevenson's. He had stood in the shadow for many years while lesser men of more meagre gifts crowded the stairway of success and passed on to higher rounds while he stayed waiting at the foot, and now that success was his and popular fame his trumpeter, he felt life ebbing and knew that another was soon to grace the feast in the seat of honor occupied by himself. Hence the sighing protest in "From the Loud Banquet."

But mankind has a deeper and more baffling question—one more profoundly significant than the one which oppressed the shrinking soul of the poet-novelist. Stevenson shrank from trusting his memory to posterity, but man is confronted with the terrible interrogation: "Will there be any posterity?" The advanced thought of the age is being gripped with the cold fear that the race as a whole itself must perish, so far as this planet is concerned—there is no tangible evidence that it exists on any other planet. Individuals are born and die, nations rise and fall, and civilizations develop and decay, but the human race has steadily advanced and civilization in its broad generic sense has developed and expanded in all ages, regardless of the fate of empires and individuals. Has destiny ordered that the race shall rise, develop, decay and die also?

One scientist says the supply of oxygen is being rapidly exhausted and that in the course of time man must suffocate and perish. Another declares all the water on the earth's surface is being gradually absorbed by the interior, and that eventually the exterior of the planet will become a parched, barren uninhabited waste. A third declares the heat of the earth is rapidly radiating and the interior cooling, with the ultimate result that animal and vegetable life will be impossible. A fourth maintains that the fires of the sun are steadily failing and will finally die out, leaving our solar system in cold and darkness, and the earth whirling through space lifeless, dark and silent in eternal death. All of these scientists present apparently irrefutable reasons to support their conclusions. If they are right the human race must succumb to either hunger, cold, thirst or for lack of air to breathe.

After man has learned to walk among the stars, commune with the cosmic forces of the Universe and even claim kinship with the Supreme Intelligence which directs those forces is he to retrograde till as a squalid savage he engages in a frantic struggle with inhospitable elements for survival that an inexorable decree has doomed to inevitable failure? All other tragedies sink into insignificance compared to the one suggested here. If the race is not to survive, what becomes of the hope of the survival of individual consciousness after death? What becomes of the belief that God planted us here to obey His ordinances and exemplify the eternal verities of truth, virtue and wisdom? What is wisdom, or virtue, or truth if such a fate is in store for mankind? Nothing more horribly pessimistic can be imagined than the idea that the existence of man on this planet is a mere passing incident, an episode in the general causation, and that he was not specially created to serve the inscrutable purpose of a Divine Creator.

But happily the real scientific discoverers do not accept the sweeping conclusions and destructive theories of speculative philosophers and scientists. In his Belfast address, Professor James Tyndall alluded to the baffling and discouraging problems which confront scientific research. Then he took occasion to point out that the possibility of life not predicated upon antecedent life had never been demonstrated, and stated that he declined to accept such a theory till it was demonstrably proved. If life depends upon antecedent life, then the theory that life was created is unquestionably true. There can be no created life without a creator. If animate life, with its associate and concomitant individual consciousness, in its various forms, has not resulted from evolutionary processes, then it has resulted from special ordination in accordance with a plan. It is upon this that the hope of mankind rests.

Professor Tyndall also pointed out one fundamental defect in the theorizing of speculative philosophers, taking Fichte for an example. These men take the lack of argumentative proof of certain things as the basis of undemonstrable conclusions which deny the evidence of the senses. Because the existence of external life cannot be proved by mental process Fichte denied that external life existed. What we see, feel, hear, taste and smell is purely imaginary, he contended. This reasoning defeats itself, because, as Professor Tyndall pointed out, man cannot even prove his own existence by logical deduction, eliminating the testimony of his consciousness and the physical evidence of his senses.

It will not do to lose our faith because philosophers who attempt to climb from the finite to the infinite are determined to kick the ladder by which they ascended from under their feet. The existence of an external world does not rest upon a syllogism. A beefsteak when one is hungry will put to flight all the arguments of all the Fichtes that ever lived. If God created the human race He will take care of it. The idea that man will reach the zenith of development and then gradually relapse into the savage state—declining morally and intellectually in the ratio of his development—finally to perish entirely as a feeble remnant because the conditions of life have become insupportable is unthinkable. It is a hideous nightmare. It is the thesis of men who assume to measure the future for millions of years and the infinite past by the imperfect knowledge mankind has gained during the few thousand years the race has had a recorded history. Therefore, let us not worry. Each century abjures or modifies the scientific formulas of the preceding century.

A writer says Ibsen is condemned because he is misunderstood. The said writer understands Ibsen, therefore admires him. Let us not quarrel with this penetrating and self gratulatory view of the matter. However, the point could have been more briefly stated by saying that the critics who disapprove of Ibsen are damned fools.

The Biggest Liar Yet.

We have at last found the champion earthquake liar. He lives in Los Angeles and edits a Jim Crow weekly called The Graphic. This article—one of half a dozen all abusing Oakland—is a fair sample of the Graphic editor's malignity and inveracity:

"It seems almost indecent to refer to Oakland's pitiable exhibition of herself on the night of April 19, and it would never have been done in these pages had not Oakland's savage vapors and vindictive spleen been poured upon Los Angeles for the last month. The truth is that Oakland was in a state of paralysis the day after the earthquake. She herself had been very seriously shaken, her chimneys had fallen and several of her jerry built blocks had subsided. Happily, some one with great presence of mind had at the moment of the quake shut off the electric currents, thus probably preventing a similar terrible visitation of fire to that of San Francisco. Individuals, doubtless, showed just as much hospitality and charity as individuals in any other city, but the public bodies, such as they were, remained during critical hours in a state of torpor. While thousands of men and women walked the streets of Oakland or camped in the open air on Thursday night, the principal club and the Elks' building next door remained locked and in darkness, both practically empty. Even men who had been given temporary privileges of membership at the club were refused admittance after sundown, strict orders having been given by the board of directors to admit nobody—into a building that could easily have given shelter to a hundred. The same panic prevailed in the restaurants, their proprietors closing their doors early in the evening in the faces of hungry and imploring men and women. These things I saw with my own eyes. What they were afraid of I do not know. I questioned the manager of the one decent restaurant in Oakland when he refused us admittance at nine o'clock in the evening. His reply was a dull, stupid stare. The only explanation I could fathom was that the little Oaklanders were scared out of their shoes lest the invading refugees from San Francisco should loot and pillage their clubs and restaurants."

Reading between the lines, we judge that some misguided Oaklander mistook this ineffectual cad for a gentleman and put him up at the Athenian Club, only to have the city and its inhabitants vilified in return because the club buffet was closed so that the arid Angeleno had his whisky shut off after his thirst had been stimulated by numerous potations during the day. The complaint of this wandering sponge is natural. To condemn a confirmed soak to twelve hours abstinence was nothing short of cruelty to animals. No wonder the Graphic man saw strange sights. It is strange he did not see snakes.

THE MAN AT THE DESK

The man at the Desk has a patient look
As he writes and writes in his open book
And he bends his back to the task before
Like a galley slave to his hand-rubbed oar Columns of figures he marshals by,
Piled up decimals mountains high
Which seem to sing to his well ruled brain
His long, monotonous life refrain—

"Debit, credit, voucher, pay—
Discount, balance, day by day, (Carried forward, interest, duns—
So the monotonous river runs."

The man at the Desk with the patient look
Has followed the rule of the copybook—
"Early to bed and early to rise"
Yet he's neither healthy, wealthy nor wise.
Honest, industrious, sober, chanced
To his office cell, he has long remained Dead of ambition, busy of pen,
Adding up figures for other men.

"Debit, credit, remit amount,
Carried forward, close account,
Daybooks, draftbooks, interest, duns—
So the monotonous river runs."

—Wallace Irwin in Success.

THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

In accordance with its accustomed spirit of progress, THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE is to publish a Sunday morning paper, which will be replete with local news, telegraph news, and a large literary and story section. No pains or expense will be spared by the publishers to make their Sunday morning edition, the peer of any paper published today on the Pacific Coast.

The first number of this morning edition will be published next Sunday morning, and the management of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE promises to make this the best that has ever appeared on this coast.

Arrangements have been made for full telegraphic news, foreign news, a literary section, sporting page, and a strong editorial section. To miss this edition will be to pass by an event which, without a doubt, will go down in the archives of American journalism.—Alameda Encinal.

CLUB PLANS TO OPEN CAFE

The Reliance Athletic club is to take a decided step forward, and become a full fledged social club, catering not only to the athletically inclined, but also to those who patronize the club because of its social, culinary, and refreshment features.

To this end it is proposed to establish a cafe in connection with the club, wherein lunches and other meals will be served to club members and in first-class style.

Already a liquid refreshment room has been stocked with good things in that line, although most of this stock consists of soft drinks. This department will be put and kept in excellent shape in the effort to make the club an up-to-date resort for gentlemen.

It is not known just how soon the cafe will be installed, but the directors are considering the matter in all its phases, and will not act as everything is in a position. It is proposed to serve meals both afternoon and at the dinner hour.

The club is experiencing a decided boom, as is evidenced by the large number of applications for membership which the club directors are called upon to consider at their weekly meetings. The new quarters in the armory building are rapidly assuming shape, the shower baths having been recently installed, thus making the club's equipment complete. The swimming, billiard and pool and reading rooms, as well as the large gymnasium have long since been put in good condition and the entire place presents a very attractive appearance.

"What?"

"Why, you see, sir," explained the butler, "she doesn't seem to realize that I can pack my grip and I get out at any time, so she just bosses me around as if I was you, sir."—Chicago News.

HITT PROVES INVINCIBLE WITH STOCK OF ASSORTED CURVES TO FRESNO BATSMEN

Hitt had something up his sleeve yesterday afternoon that the Raisin Pickers could not find for safe swats and their two scattered hits tell the story of their downfall.

The game was marred by Doyle's bad temper and unsportsmanlike conduct. The trouble started over a fast double play that some thought should have been a triple. Arellanes fielded the ball and, touching third, threw to Cartwright, whose foot was off the bag. The runner reached first before Cartwright could touch it and McDonald called him safe, which precipitated the row.

Hogan and Doyle took the lead in shouting at the umpire. When the team came to the bench, McDonald ordered Doyle out of the game. Instead of going to his dressing room, however, Doyle went into the field and would not come in when called.

Fisher was on the bench and permitted this sort of rowdiness and in fact joined in the denouncing of McDonald, for which he should have been ordered from the grounds.

Doyle's vulgar language was easily heard in the grand stand and in the opinion of the fans he should have been plastered with a fine that would cause him to think twice before again using such language on the diamond.

The score:

Base hits	.....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0	1-2
San Francisco	.....0 0 0 1 2 0 0 0 0 0	3-2
Base hits	.....2 0 0 1 2 1 0 0 0 0	4-3

SUMMARY.

Home runs—Spencer. Sacrifice hits—Möhler, Irwin. First base on errors—Fresno 3. San Francisco 2. First base on called balls—Fresno 2. San Francisco 6. Left on bases—Fresno 2. San Francisco 6. Struck out—By Hitt 6. McGreger 5. Hit by pitcher—Williams. Double plays—Arellanes, unassisted; Irwin and Möhler and Williams. Wild pitches—McGreger. Umpire—McDonald.

'ASTY BUT ATTENTIVE.

Wherever did you get that dreadful back eye, Mrs. Hawkins?" said the district visitor, as she seated herself on the extreme edge of the least dirty chair in the room.

"It were the result of a trifling halteration with my husband, mum," replied the lady of the house.

"Dear, dear, dear," cried the visitor, holding up her hands in horror. "How dreadful! What a bad, wicked man your husband must be!"

"Not at all, mum, retorted the other, with dignity. "Akins is 'asty, but 'e's a perfect gentleman at heart. I can assure you that after 'e'd give me this black eye 'e sat o'ding a cold frying pan to it for hours of a howler, a-trying to reduce the swelling. A little attention like that goes a long way towards makin' married life 'appy, mum, as I dessey you've found yourself."—Pearson's London Weekly.

Mrs. Whyte—Is your husband eventem' bored?

Mrs. Browne—Well, yes, I suppose so. Sometimes he's even had tempered.—Sonsville Journal.

BOXING CARD EDDIE SMITH: PROMISES WELL

Around the places where the sporting men frequent there is a great deal of favorable comment heard on the card to be presented at the Reliance club next Tuesday night, at the new club rooms at Twentieth street and Telegraph avenue. This especially applies to the double main events, in which Frank Flores, Henry League and H. Davis v. Chris Hampton are to be the principals.

These two matches look to be the best that have yet been offered the boxing fans in Oakland. Henry League, the hard-hitting Oakland boy, has had no easy time in the past getting matches, as the San Francisco boxers have had a deal of respect for his hitting powers. Flores is very confident that he will be declared the winner, however, and his manager, Bob Levy, says that he will have a little money to lose on the result if his man is beaten.

Flores is perhaps the cleverest lightweight that has been turned out at the Olympic club since Jimmy Brit's time, and along with his cleverness he carries a punch that will bring the best of them down when it lands on the right place. League is the most confident boxer who ever stepped into a ring, and while he is training hard and leaving nothing undone in his endeavor to get in good shape, he has little fear of being beaten. League and Flores meet at the club Wednesday at the required weight.

HAMPTON REALLY WORKING.

Big Chris Hampton is training as he never has before. The reason for this is the fact that Chris will have to be at his best to beat the heavyweight from across the bay, H. Davis, who is to be his antagonist, is already in good condition and confident that he will take the Oakland man's scalp.

When the match was first made the members of the club thought that Chris would have an easy time, as he has in previous contests, but after seeing Davis work out at the club rooms they have changed their minds, and Hampton is receiving all kinds of advice as to how to fight his man and warning that he will have to be at his best to win.

Scots were placed on sale at Devroux's and the Radio cigar stands yesterday and the advance sale insured a good house.

EDDIE SMITH:

CALIFORNIA FIGHTERS IN EAST ARE APT TO BE DISAPPOINTED

EDDIE SMITH.

Word has been received from Billy Delaney, who is in New York with his heavyweight, Al Kaufmann, that he is willing to bring Kaufmann out here and box Sam Berger on the afternoon of the 4th of July.

Delaney knows that Berger and Kaufmann would prove a great card here and that there would be more money in this one contest for his man than there would be in several in the east.

Delaney has Kaufmann matched to box Fred Cooley, who was out here for a go at Colma with the Californians. The contest is scheduled for Tom O'Rourke's club, but as the lid has been closed down it would seem as if the contest, which was to take place on June 13, will never come off, thus leaving Kaufmann without anything to do.

Berger has remained silent and has not seen fit to answer the several telegrams sent him. Sam has been talking of fighting for a long time, but when the opportunity is offered him he always finds a way out of a match. If Sam expects to make any money out of the game he should not keep the public guessing as to his plans. He should do either one thing or the other. The saying, "You can fool some of the people," etc., holds good with Sam and he should remember that it is the public a fighter depends upon to put the money in the box office.

GOTHAM SITUATION.

There is an old saying, "Give a fighter an inch and he will take a mile," and this seems to hold good in the New York boxing situation. For the past eight or nine months the Gothamites have had the pleasure of witnessing three-round bouts, and the courts have upheld the managers in the test cases that have been made.

But not satisfied with the short events, Harry Pollock arranged for a big event in the Madison Square Garden. He matched Britt and McGovern for ten rounds. They boxed a fast and fierce ten rounds, and were arrested at the end.

The city officials seemed only lukewarm over the prosecution and it looked for a while as if the game had a good chance to get a hold in the metropolis.

Now comes the governor with his orders to the sheriff to see that no more contests are brought off in New York, and it is dollars to earthquake doughnuts that there will be no more boxing contests in the Knickerbocker state. The referee pugilists who fled from home after the fire will soon turn their heads homeward.

While speaking of the Britt-McGovern contest, it might be well, owing to the numerous queries sent to this paper in regard to bets, to say that bets made on the contest should be returned, as there was no knockout to decide it and the referee gave no decision.

When a bet on a boxing contest is made, it is understood that it is to be decided on the referee's award, and as Tim Hurst, the referee of the Britt-McGovern battle, gave no decision, the bets have not been decided.

At this distance from the ring-side various reports are received and it would be folly to attempt to render a verdict as to the result.

LOSES END OF MIDDLE FINGER

Harry O'Day, thirty-five years of age, living at 450 Fifth street, had the end of his middle finger on his left hand crushed last evening by the rolling of some water piping he was handling, and the member had to be amputated at the first joint.

He went to the receiving hospital, where he was treated by Dr. W. Irwin.

SOLD FISH TOO FREELY.

Because he persisted in violating the ordinance which prohibits the sale of fish on the sidewalk, Ah Chong, a Chinese peddler, was arrested last night at the corner of Ninth and Webster streets by Police Officer Shannon, and was booked at the police station on a charge of violating the ordinance in question. He was later released on $100 bail in the sum of $10.

RACES BETWEEN HOMOING PIGEONS.

The first of a series of races between homing pigeons arranged by the Columbus district of the American Homing Pigeon Race Association, was held Sunday between Columbus and Cincinnati, the birds being released at 7 o'clock in the morning.

The race was won by C. G. Saffin, Jr., of 170 North Twentieth street, with the same bird, which last year won for him a $250 prize. The bird started to come in was owned by John Burns. It arrived at 10:59 and got four prizes, the prizes having been based on distance traveled from the race. The race of the birds was 746.22, 746.43 and 746.63 miles per hour.—Columbus Evening Dispatch.

TRACK MEET WALKOVER FOR MICHIGAN'S BUNCH

CHICAGO, June 2.—There was nothing to the "Big Nine" conference track meet, which was held on Northwestern field, Evanston, Ill., this afternoon, but Michigan scored in every event but one in the first eight, taking both first and second in the high hurdles, shotput, one-mile run and half-mile run. John Garrett, the crack Wolverine, equaled the world's record in the 100-yard high hurdle by negotiating the distance in 15.1-5 seconds, held by Kraenlein of Wisconsin.

Today's meet marked the beginning of a big western intercollegiate contest at Evanston. Heretofore, Marshall Field has been the meeting place of the western college track and field stars. Although the weather conditions were perfect, the crowd was not so large as that which attended last year. It is believed that the distance of the scene of the contest from the city tended to hold the crowd down.

Michigan captured the meet and scored as many points as the other twelve colleges put together. The score was as follows:

Michigan, 52.4-5; Chicago, 20.3-5; Iowa Normal, 10; Wisconsin, 9; Illinois, 7.4-5; Indiana, 3; Drake, 3; Missouri, 2; Berkeley, 1.1-5; Iowa State, 3; Purdue, 1; Northwestern and Miami, one point each.

The summaries:

One mile run—Coe, Michigan, won; Maloney, Michigan, second; Hoerner, Purdue, third. Time, 4:30-5.

440-yard run—Marshall, Chicago, won; Walker, Wisconsin, second; Rideout, Wisconsin, third. Time, 1:50.

100-yard dash—Hamilton, Iowa Normal, won; Stewart, Michigan, second; Merrill, Chicago, third. Time, 19.4-5.

120-yard hurdle—Garrels, Michigan, won; Hodgen, Michigan, second; Shaver, Northwestern, third. Time, 15.1-5.

220-yard low hurdle—Garrels, Michigan, won; Walker, Wisconsin, second; Mickey, Illinois, third. Time, 25.1-5.

Chicago won the relay race, Iowa finishing second and Illinois, third. Time, 3:29-3-5.

Discus throw—Garrels, Michigan, won; Parry, Chicago, second; Messner, Northwestern, third. Distance, 185 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—Sarnes, Indiana, won; Hagyard, Drake, second; Grear, Ill., third. Height, 12 feet 4.7-5 inches.

Broad jump—Heath, Michigan, won, 32 feet 6.5-8 inches; Kline, Illinois, second; Farker, Iowa, third.

220-yard dash—Hamilton, Iowa Normal, won; Stewart, Michigan, second; Mackey, Ill., third. Time, 23.3-4.

16-pound shotput—Dunlap, Michigan, won; Garrels, Michigan, second; Anderson, Missouri, third. Distance, 42 feet 11.1-4 inches.

High jump—Schommer and Richards, Chicago, tied at 6 feet 8.1-2 inches; Kirkpatrick, Illinois, second; Finch, Michigan, third.

Half-mile run—Rainey, Michigan, won; Coe, Michigan, second; Meier, Wisconsin, third. Time, 1:58-2-5.

Hammer throw—Parry, Chicago, won; Williamson, Chicago, second; Burroughs, Illinois, third. Distance, 160 feet 4 inches.

BITS OF GOSSIP ON SPORTS IN GENERAL

President Bert was not in the least pleased with Fisher's and Doyle's actions in yesterday's ball game, and no doubt he will instruct McDonald to be more severe with players who disregard the rules of the league.

McGregor had Nick Williams "faded" yesterday afternoon. He had the big first baseman reaching across the plate for big outcours.

It is reported that Russ Hall wants "Bull" Croll to play with the Seattle team for the remainder of the season. When George is in good condition there are few better fielders in the business.

Joe Thomas, the California welterweight, has caught on well in the east. One of the Terre Haute papers devoted a full two columns to his fight with Kline. The article not only said Thomas was a great fighter, but that he was the finest specimen of athletic manhood that had ever been seen in that city.

McGregor, the young Fresno pitcher, who was formerly with St. Mary's, gives evidence of making a great twirler. He is cool and has good control.

Spencer was lucky with his scratch home run yesterday afternoon. When he hit the ball it looked as if he would only make two bases. Wolters fumbled the play, throwing the ball on the ground, and Spencer came running in. Many thought that he failed to touch the plate.

Our own J. Ira Davis is having his troubles in the Western League. It would seem from reports sent out that he and the Des Moines team can not agree.

Jim McDonald's lack of discipline in the game yesterday almost ruined it. It was the consensus of opinion among the fans that he should have fined Doyle and put Mike Fisher out of the grounds.

Miller Huggins of the Cincinnati Reds is the smallest ball player in the country.

Tom Fisher, the Saratoga pitcher, has equaled his last season's record of eight victories in his first eight games.

His team is leading the Southern league.

The tennis team of Nebraska and Minnesota universities engage in a dual meet today on Northrop field.

The Central league has had record-breaking crowds during the first month of its season. Saturday and Sunday games in four cities recently showed a total attendance of 23,000 for the two days.

Word comes from England of the death of Frederick M. Wineman, better known as George Wells, who, in his youth, was a great sprint runner, and in later years achieved wide fame as a sporting writer and prize fight referee. Wineman was an American, though he lived for twenty-eight years in England.

If York and Johnston can find their winning ways and put them on the Tri-state league will have as great a race for the flag as ever has been seen in the league.

Fred Bradley, the former amateur fighter, who recently defeated Jerry Gaines at Chelsea, is touted by Boston fighting fans as a coming world-beater. Bradley comes from the home of the mighty John J. Sullivan, Roxbury, Mass.

Will the fight promoters kill the game in New York? Byviding rounds they are making the contests longer each week, and Gotham sports think that six rounds should be fixed as the limit before it is too late.

James Butler has made application to the New York state racing commission for a license to hold a running meet at New Haven today, the first time the New York state racing commission have met in three years.

Chicago, Washington and St. Louis, in the American league, each has a pitcher named Smith.

Will Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia fighting hard, the race in the National league is becoming interesting.

FAST FINISH IN FEATURE EVENT

BELMONT PARK RACETRACK, NEW YORK, June 7.—The national steeplechase, the feature of the day's card, was won by Charles Edwards. He was ridden out, however, to stall off the determined finish that was made by Superman.

In the ladies' fifty stakes Perverse and Belle of Pequest put up a driving finish. Belle landing Perverse home by the shortest kind of a head.

Hercule proved easily the best in the international steeplechase, winning by eight lengths. Summaries:

First race (seven furlongs)—Yadz 106 (Sewell) 2 to 1 won, King's Gem, 98 (Gerner) 3 to 5 second, Gentian, 98 (Hornor), 30 to 1 third. Time, 1:27.

Second race (four and one-half furlongs)—Oran 116 (Miller), 3 to 2 won, Bat Maestron 117 (O'Neil) 7 to 5 second, Sewell 117 (Sewell) 3 to 1, third. Time 0:52.

Third race, national steeplechase (five furlongs)—Charles Edwards 122 (Miller) 6 to 1 won, Superman 115 (Sewell), 13 to 1 second, Dismul 122 (Radtko) 10 to 1 third. Time 0:59 2/5.

Fourth race ladies' fifty stakes (one mile)—Perverse 121 (Lyon), 1 to 3 won, Belle of Pequest 121 (Radtko), 10 to 1 second, Edna Jackson 121 (O'Neil) 5 to 1 third. Time 1:39 2/5.

Fifth race international steeplechase (about two miles)—Hercule 135 (Dono hue) 7 to 1 won, Grandpa 150 (Smith) 6 to 1 second, Grandpa 142 (Davidson) 25 to 1 third. Time 4:13.

Sixth race (one mile)—Broadcloth 104 (Gerner) 10 to 1 won, Von Tromp 107 (Miller) 7 to 5 second, Rhinoceros 107 (Radtko) 9 to 1 third. Time 1:35.

MRS. VANDERBILT A WEAVER

A High Grade of Homespun Manufactured at Biltmore Estate

Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt has established a new industry on the Biltmore estate, the object of which is to put employment to women. The work weaves in hand looms a wool yarn which is much like the English homespun so much esteemed for its softness and its gowns intended for bird wear.

A heavy all wool cloth is also suitable for dresses and curtains, but wool from sheep raised on the estate is used in making these various fabrics. The fabrics are all colored with vegetable dyes of natural strength and color.

These colors obtained from vegetable dyes are extremely soft and artistic, never coming out so crude and strong as the mineral dyes from the New York Herald.

Don't want to be a general in an ordinary fight

Don't want to be an author an flit sit around and write

I don't see them a-standin' forth and swellin out their chests

I don't see anybody pinnin medals on their breasts

They get their pictures printed but it's never done in style

They look like common people in an ordinary smile

I am buildin up my muscles and I'm eatin meals that's lean

I'm trainin cause I want to be a world's champeen

I haven't quite selected how I'm going to excel

There's so many kinds of glory it's a little hard to tell

A sprinter or a wrestler or a pugilist would be

The kind of an ideal that's most suitable to me

But if I'm disappointed there I'll take another chance

Cause you can become a champeen jes by learnin how to dance

THIS YOUNG FIGHTER WAS WISE IN THE SIGHT OF HIS OWN EYES BUT HE LEARNED A LITTLE MORE

Once upon a time there was a German who was a nut on fighting. He worked as a sparring partner for fighters in Frisco and was brier sweet in a gymnasium. He was one of those fellows who thought that no one in the world had it on him if they were hitting easy. He beat up a few jobbies out there in the little room and got to collect a pretty fair name.

He had a manager named Patsy Corrigan. Patsy was well known as the "human tub," but he knew a fighter when he saw one, and took his German around to introduce him. Patsy steered him all night and boosted him like a new breakfast food. He was pretty fair in the gym and Pat thought him a good dark horse to spring at some fight up in the country.

At Valerio the sailors used to pull off rights every week and he doped this out as the place to show this German from Texas.

A warship had just arrived in the navy yard up there, and sailors were as numerous as cobbles in Frisco. They had advertised a big fight for the next week, and were looking around for a man to fight the champion of the navy. Patsy rolled his glims over the sheet, turned around with a wink for his fighter, and wrote up, saying he had a man who was only too glad to mingle with the deck scrubber. The match was made, the German trained like a wonder, and the party started up to Vallejo for the picnic.

There was lots of German money around—Patsy told his friends of the cinch. He said it was to be a watermelon cutting and that they had better get in on it. They backed up the wagon unloosed the green and just waited to collect from the sailors.

It was all over but the howling for the wise ones. They knew what was coming to the sailor, but held the laugh in until after it was over. The sailors were the same way, too, but they looked a bit frightened.

At the ringside there was much excitement. Both men had entered the ring and the German was laughing his head off. He pipped the sailor and the latter looked to be such a rum that he just couldn't help it.

The gong rang and they started. The German didn't seem able to get going. The sailor drifted over his way and pelted him from one side of the ring to the other. On the eye the German had a lump that looked like a ripe plum. The other was closed tight and looked as though someone had poured hot water in it. His breath was bloody and he drew his breath like a soda water fountain. He had no more chance than a snowball in hades, but he took all that came his way. Sailors were yelling, seconds were throwing water and it looked more like a slaughter than a boxing bout.

The gong rang at the close of the first round.

The German walked to his corner, climbed under the ropes and started down the steps toward his dressing room.

"Hey," yelled Patsy Corrigan, "Ain't you going to fight any more?"

The German, with his hand on his head, turned, and with a weak smile chirped "Yes, but not any more tonight."

He said—Enough is sufficient. Some one said—There are moments when one wants to be alone.

The World said—And this was one of them.

KING AND BRIDE "SPOON" PUBLICLY

LONDON June 2.—King Billings and the Princess Cooling, in the popular names by which Alfonso of Spain and Lira of Battenberg are now known. The former stories of a "marriage of convenience" are forgotten or ignored and now every one hears of the "devoted pair of royal lovers."

Princess Ena has no end of young girl friends amongst her London acquaintances and to these she is never tired of writing in answer to their congratulations in truly homely fashion, of her entire happiness and of her devotion to her kingly lover, who during his recent visit seemed quite unable to bear her out of his sight.

It is now insisted that in spite of all the speculation last year as to which of the royal princesses whom the young king met in London last summer would become his bride, to those in the know there was never a shadow of doubt on whom the choice would fall. It is said to have been common knowledge to those about the court that the very first time Alfonso set eyes on Princess Ena he immediately inquired "who that charming fair-haired girl was amongst the royalties," and

TURKISH WOMEN DESERT HAREMS

CONSTANTINOPLE June 2.—High-born Turkish ladies are beginning to find the restrictions of the harem irksome. Many of them are seeking liberty in the manner of the two beautiful daughters of Nouri Bey, who a few months ago escaped to Paris.

Other ladies of the official set have since followed their example. The daughter of Pevan-Pasha, the city prefect of Constantinople, recently left the harem for Broussa, a well known watering place, and the daughters of Memduh Pasha, vizier of the interior and of Turkish Pasha, Minister of Pious Foundations, have sought freedom in Western Europe. These are only a few examples of a revolt that is general among the Daughters of the Crescent.

There was a similar movement at the time of the Crimean War when numbers of Turkish women lost their hearts to French officers and followed them to France.

NEWS FROM BERKELEY AND CITY OF ALAMEDA

DID REFUGEES TAKE JEWELRY?

ALAMEDA MAN MISSES RINGS AFTER SHELTERING THE NEEDY ONES.

ALAMEDA, June 2.—Thomas J. of 2038 Santa Clara avenue, reports that a quantity of jewelry was stolen from his home last Tuesday or Wednesday. He cannot account for the theft, unless it was that some strangers, refugees from San Francisco, who had been staying at his home for some time, had taken the jewelry.

The loot was valued at about $225, and in it was a gentleman's diamond ring worth $125, and several smaller rings. The local police have been notified of the theft and Detective Brown is working on the case.

LANDLORD WANTS BOARDER ARRESTED

BERKELEY, June 2.—Louis E. Ralston of 2154 Blake street claims that James Henry Williams did him bodily harm last night and he appealed to the police to arrest the erring Williams. From his account it appears that Williams has been a boarder at the Ralston home for some time. A few days ago he was ordered to go to make room for some friends of the Ralstons, who were expected to arrive shortly and stay with them. But Williams did not heed the idea of changing his boarding place and refused to go. This led to words and finally to blows. Ralston got the worst of it and rushed to the police to bring the law on his boarder.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AT OPEN MEETING

BERKELEY, June 2.—Lincoln Assembly Patriotic Order of Americans, held an open meeting in Lincoln hall, South Berkeley, last evening, and gave an entertainment, to which were invited all friends of the order, and members of the organization. These "open house" meetings are held regularly on the last Thursday of each month, and are always successful affairs.

Those who participated in the entertainment were: J. W. Mills, Miss Grant, Miss Kane, Miss Lucy Moore of Oakland, Mr. Gale of Alameda, Miss Grace Wallace, The Alvins, brother and sister, rendered banjo duets. After the musical entertainment refreshments were served, and then a game of whist engaged the attention of some of the guests, while the others danced.

RECEIVED HIGHEST PRICE FOR ORANGES

BERKELEY, June 2.—Dr. R. P. Shepherd of Berkeley has just disposed of the last eighty-five boxes of his orange crop in southern California. These oranges averaged $4.40 a box and were of the St. Michaels and Valencia varieties. They were sold in Boston and brought the highest price of any of the boxes of oranges sent there. Dr. Shepherd reports that oranges from the southern part of the state have brought higher prices in the eastern markets than ever before.

WINS MEDAL FOR ORATION

BERKELEY GIRL IS SUCCESSFUL IN W. C. T. U. CONTEST IN ALAMEDA.

BERKELEY, June 2.—Miss Elizabeth Hills of this city was the successful contestant in the W. C. T. U. gold medal contest held in the Methodist church in Alameda last evening, receiving the gold medal given by the county union for delivering the best oration. Her subject was "Shifting Scenes in the Life of Nell Dow." A coincidence in connection with Miss Dow's victory is the fact that she was the contestant to win the silver medal given in a similar contest held a few years ago.

There were six entries in the contest. They were: Edward Yeager, San Leandro, "Judge Morse's Reasons"; Ralph Allen, Berkeley, "The Spirit of Progress"; Miss Alice Burton, Oakland, "The Bridal Wine Cup"; Miss Gertrude Bookel, Oakland, "The Teetotaler's Story"; Miss Eugenia Emerson, "Farmer Deane's Conversion," and Miss Elizabeth Hills, Berkeley, "Shifting Scenes in the Life of Nell Dow."

The program was a highly entertaining one and a large crowd was in attendance. Miss Julia Phillips of Berkeley favored the audience with a well rendered solo, "Good Bye, Sweet Day." Miss Viola Yehmiel, Miss Mitchell and Mr. McLaughlin rendered a number of mandolin and piano selections.

The program was concluded by recitations by Miss Gladys Kook of this city, one in dialect entitled "Shin or Fate," and the other, "The Bachelor's Sale."

WEST BERKELEY FORGING AHEAD

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE IN THAT PORTION OF COLLEGE TOWN.

BERKELEY, June 2.—West Berkeley is keeping up with the other portions of the town in the way of buildings and improvements. The old Landrean building at the corner of San Pablo and University avenues, one of the famous landmarks of the town, is undergoing alterations and improvements. A store has been put on the University avenue side, where the back rooms will be used. A new coat of paint greatly improves the outward appearance of the building. A new concrete sidewalk will replace the one of wood.

Another addition to this section of Berkeley is the new firehouse, to be known as No. 1, which has just been completed and is a testimonial to the work of the West Berkeley firemen. Sid Ross is in charge of the new house.

AUTOMOBILE AND BICYCLE TANGLED

BERKELEY, June 2.—Dr. J. E. Kelsey, who just got his new automobile yesterday afternoon, has been initiated in the mysteries of proper "bubbling" by running into a Japanese who was riding on a bicycle. Kelsey claims that he was on the right side of the street and that the Oriental was entirely in the wrong. At any rate the Jap got the worst of the encounter, for his wheel was completely demolished. He himself escaped with a few bruises.

BRILLIANT VARSITY LECTURER AND AUTHOR OFF FOR HIS DEARLY-LOVED HOME IN GAY "PAREE"

PROFESSOR M. DUPOUEY SURROUNDED BY HIS FAMILY.

Professor Robert Dupouey Will Continue Work in France on Notable Book He Is Writing About Schools in This Country.

BERKELEY, June 2.—Back to sunny France is the cry of Professor Robert Dupouey, the brilliant young French classicist whose lectures at Berkeley during the last year have been one of the most notable features of the university's intellectual life. Professor Dupouey left last night for Paris, his dearly-loved home, and there he is to spend the summer months, until the university again opens and he is called to resume his activities on the campus.

Professor Dupouey was sent to this country by the French government to study and teach in Harvard university and there glean material on the educational system of this country, the result to be embodied in a book which the French government will publish for the information of those interested in foreign educational matters.

The young Parisian scholar spent a year in his studies for this book at Harvard, and there attracted the attention of President Wheeler, who secured his consent to give a series of French lectures at the University of California. Professor Dupouey has continued the work on his notable book here, and will work on it in France this summer. The publication of the work is expected to take place this year.

KEEP SALOONS SHUT A MONTH

BERKELEY, June 2.—The saloons are to remain closed for at least the month of June and the $150 now being raised represents the amount that the saloon-keepers had already paid into the town treasury for license for the month.

Thus far $34 has been turned over to Treasurer E. W. Foss of the Berkeley thirty-mile limit anti-saloon league by the saloonkeepers which has undertaken to collect the $150 to be turned over to the saloonkeepers of Berkeley.

The members of the committee who will receive donations at their regular places of business are: E. E. Newton, 2140 Center street; R. A. Berry, 2148 Center street; William Powell, 2203 Atherton street; H. D. Irwin, 2274 Alameda street; W. M. Harrison, 2215 Shattuck avenue.

TO HOLD MEETING

ALAMEDA, June 3.—The city trustees are to meet Monday evening. There is considerable routine to be considered by the board.

C. R. Van Rensselaer is to be granted a gratuitous license to sell peanuts, popcorn and waffles from a wagon. Alex Grinton is to be allowed to exhibit the fire extinguisher of the Maximum Company on the street in front of the Haight school. Grinton resides at 553 Central avenue in this city.

The residents of Caroline street, south of San Antonio avenue are to be allowed to have their street constructed under private contract.

Superintendent Kahn of the electric plant will likely be granted permission to buy a new buggy. He told the board that he needed it badly as the one he is now using is about all in.

Trustee Fritz Bohmer will probably introduce an ordinance, providing that all outside liquor dealers who deliver goods in this city will be charged the same as local ones.

CO-EDS' QUEEN AS BUTTERFLY

BERKELEY, June 2.—The queen of the "co-ed" contingent at the university, Miss Phoebe Binney, she who was president of the associated students at college last year, has just completed her preparations for a delightful summer outing with a few intimate friends in Berkeley.

Miss Binney made a notable record while occupying the high office to which the votes of the university women students elected her last year, and the responsibilities and work in general were heavy enough to make her glad, indeed, that a surcease has come with the summer months. Recuperation now is sought and pleasure is the watchword of the erstwhile dignified, suave and always businesslike Miss Binney.

Miss Binney has gone to Inverness to enjoy a weekend's stay there, and upon her return next Monday will depart with a group of girl chums for Pescadero. Among the girls who will accompany her are Miss Helen Winchester, Miss Louise Longford and Miss Alma Perkins.

NEW CHURCH TO BE FORMED

BERKELEY, June 2.—The initial steps toward the organization and establishment of a new church in South Berkeley will be taken tomorrow afternoon when the first session will be held in the hall by Rev. C. H. Hobart, D. D., of the Calvary church of Oakland. The Baptist church extension society has had the organization of such a church in South Berkeley in view for some time and

CARE ASIDE IN JOLLY OUTING

BERKELEY PHYSICIANS AND NURSES ENJOY BRIEF RESPIRE.

BERKELEY, June 2.—As the culmination of the hard work of caring for the sick refugees in California, Hearst hall and other hospitals around Berkeley for the past month, the weary doctors and nurses threw care aside yesterday afternoon and evening and enjoyed the pleasures of a "motor car festa" through the many winding boulevards of Alameda county. They were chaperoned by Prof. Irving Stringham of the University of California.

The gay party left Hearst Hall at about four o'clock in six large touring cars, going first to Oakland and then to San Leandro and the heights overlooking Lake Calaveras. Refreshments were served. Tired and dusty after the long trip through Alameda county's beautiful suburban boulevards the merry party of medical folk lingered long on these beautiful heights and enjoyed the surrounding country. At about nine o'clock the start was made for Berkeley, which was reached after an hour's ride.

Among the doctors and nurses who made the pleasant journey were Allen N. Carpenter, Carl John T. Nance, Dr. Archibald Ward, Miss Margaret Henderson, Miss Laura Bonestell, Miss Volga von Roppert, Miss Julia Bowers, Miss Reini Gahlin, Miss Catherine Cavanaugh, Miss Ann Stire, T. B. Wallace, Miss Margaret Kennedy, Anna McGovern Shirk, Mrs. L. N. Wright, Miss Mary Strando, and Frank Jolly and Miss Mary Strando.

The motor car drivers were: Raymond Wilson, A. MacNeil of Corvett Company; Henry Dodge, W. J. Mortimer, Edward Gross of Brock Company, and H. Merritt.

The party that furnished the refreshments included: T. G. Wright, Mrs. J. M. Porco, Mrs. W. W. Henry and L. W. McDuffy.

CONTRACTORS MUST PUT UP LIGHTS

BERKELEY, June 2.—E. T. Letter was made the victim of a complaint to the police department for obstructing the streets at night without a light. Officer Farrar was detailed on the case to bring Letter to justice. Marshal Vollmer is determined to teach contractors a lesson for obstructing the streets and sidewalks without the proper light as authorized by law. All the malefactors will be rushed into court and made to pay the penalty for their neglect.

STOLEN BICYCLE IS RECOVERED

BERKELEY, June 2.—The bicycle which was stolen from G. L. Pettigrew yesterday has been recovered. Officer LeStrange found the wheel in the possession of Harry Berger, 1125 Bancroft way, West Berkeley. It was returned to the owner. No complaint has been made against the boy so it is not likely that he will be prosecuted.

Two previous meetings to this end have been held.

Much interest is being taken in the proposed new church, and it is stated that immediately upon the establishment of the same plans will be made to erect a handsome edifice.

NEW Y. M. C. A. MAN ON WAY

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR FOR BERKELEY INSTITUTION DUE NEXT TUESDAY.

BERKELEY, June 2.—W. L. Seawright, the newly elected physical director of the Berkeley Y. M. C. A., will arrive in Berkeley with his wife on Tuesday next and will at once assume the duties of the office. After a week in the city he will leave with a party of association men for a month's trip to Yosemite valley. The party already numbers fourteen, and it is expected that several more will decide to make the journey, leaving Berkeley Thursday, June 16.

Judge W. H. Waste will give a talk on "Yosemite—Its Beauties and How to See Them," at the association rooms on Tuesday evening next.

To introduce Mr. Seawright to the members of the association a reception and supper will be given in his honor on Friday night, June 4, by members of the gymnasium committee and ladies auxiliary.

A. Jackson, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., is making elaborate preparations for the Yosemite tramp.

SAN LEANDRO BOARD OF TRADE DECIDES TO TAKE UP THE QUESTION.

SAN LEANDRO, June 2.—At the meeting of the board of trade on Monday night President Locke called attention to the action of the board at its last meeting at which some of the members desired to secure an expression of opinion as to how the board stood in the matter of doubling the present saloon license.

Rev. Hanson said he was prepared to present one side of the question, but as the meeting was so small and as he desired to be fair he would not proceed unless those present desired to take the matter up.

MEMBER DISSENTS.
Mr. McCarthy questioned the wisdom of a motion body such as the board of trade taking any part in a controversy. Many members of the board of trade were engaged in the liquor business and since its organization these men had given their time and money toward any project which had been advanced or advocated by the organization. The citizens of the community had had trouble enough during the past month without opening up a question that could result in nothing more than making more trouble for the citizens without doing any possible good for the cause of temperance. Doubling the license would not put out of business the objectionable places but would result in their continuance in business.

WILL BE BROUGHT UP.
Rev. Hanson said it would do no harm to debate the question and he believed it was an entirely proper subject to be taken up by the board of trade.

Several other members agreed with the speaker and it was with the understanding that the matter is to be brought up, discussed and the sentiment of the board of trade secured, that the board proceeded to the discussion of other matters.

POOR TELEPHONE SERVICE.
Marshal Geisenhofer thought it was about time that the telephone service, which was poor, should be improved. An all night service was much needed and he believed it could be secured if the proper committee took the matter up.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO RAISE BONUS

HAYWARD IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE TO RATIFY THE ACTION OF ITS PRESIDENT.

HAYWARD, June 2.—There will be a meeting of the improvement league Monday night at the town hall to ratify the action of President Woods in securing the Standard glove factory for Hayward, and devise ways and means to raise the rest of the bonus.

The club is justly proud of the success of its first venture and feels sure that the rest of the money can be secured before work begins on the building. Mr. Lewis sent his furniture over the first of the week and is expected in a few days to take up his residence, seek temporary quarters and get to work. Everybody interested in Hayward's progress is expected at the meeting.

ONLY ONE LEGAL FOR HALL ADDITION

SAN LEANDRO, June 2.—At the meeting of the building committee of the L. O. O. F. on Thursday afternoon there was but one legal bid for the proposed addition to the hall. This was submitted by Contractor Anderson and the amount was $7500. The other three bids were defective and the whole matter is to be considered at next Tuesday's meeting.

YOUNG CHURCH PEOPLE TO VISIT THE HOSPITAL

SAN LEANDRO, June 2.—The young people of the Epworth league and Christian Endeavor societies of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches are to visit the county hospital next Sunday and conduct services in the several wards. They leave the plaza at 2:45 p. m.

The weekly prayer meeting in the Methodist church is now held on Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock instead of Wednesday.

The patriotic song service by the evening choir of the Presbyterian church proved such a success and inspiration at the memorial services last Sunday that they have been requested to repeat it next Sunday evening.

CREDITORS TAKE NOTICE

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM MT. EDEN

MORE GOOD THAN HARM DONE BY LAST WEEK'S RAIN—PERSONALS.

MT. EDEN, June 2.—Although the rain of the past week damaged volunteer hay somewhat, it also benefited the growing crops a great deal.

Harry Lorenson, who was very ill last week, is slowly improving. Alton Tyrrell of Oakland was visiting friends here on Wednesday. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Englund is reported quite ill this week. Mrs. Hansen and daughter of San Francisco are visiting at the Elchler home.

The eighth grade pupils of Eureka school took their final examinations at Hayward today.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR HERMAN GEISENHOFER

SAN LEANDRO, June 2.—The many friends of Herman Geisenhofer tendered him a farewell party last Saturday evening just before his departure for Arizona. Dancing, games and refreshments served to pass an enjoyable evening. Among those present were: The Misses Rose and Mabel McCormack, Jennie Johnson, Leora Best, Maud Furcillo, Gertrude Lloyd, Genevieve Locke, Mabel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Johnson of Oakland, Lillian, Frances and Louis Moor, Bertha Steiger, Agnes Slother, Mrs. Moor, of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. T. Johnson, Lewis Peralta, Mat O'Brien, Ed Quinn, Allen Knox, William Lucio, J. Brown, William Hughes.

LAST MEETING OF JUNIOR "500" CLUB

DECOTO, June 2.—The Junior "500" club met with Miss Alice Kelley Thursday evening. The last meeting before the summer vacation will be held at the home of Miss Gertrude Peterson Tuesday evening, June 5th.

ICE BOXES

Ice boxes made to order for butcher shop and slaughter houses. Special for dryness and ice saving, no equal. Guaranteed. A. JOHNSON, 678 Forty-first street, Oakland. Telephone Oakland 1764.

CHINESE BROTHEL NEAR FUSE WORKS

SLAVE OWNERS BRING CHAT- TELS FROM SAN FRANCISCO— PEOPLE INDIGNANT.

ELMHURST, June 2.—A brothel identical with those which made San Francisco's Chinatown such a plague spot has been established near the fuse works between High street and Elmhurst, where a number of Chinese are employed. The white residents of the neighborhood are indignant over the affair and are discussing ways and means of getting rid of the establishment.

It is more than likely that during the excitement in San Francisco on April 18th many of the slave girls escaped from their iron-barred pens. But the fire did not reach Chinatown until late in the afternoon, and it is evident that some of the slave owners succeeded in retaining possession of their human chattels and got them safely out of town, where they still continue to wax rich from their earnings.

ELMHURST WILL HAVE NEW TEACHER

ELMHURST, June 2.—The school trustees of Elmhurst district elected W. D. Spencer principal of the Elmhurst school in place of J. D. Armstrong, resigned. Mr. Spencer is a most competent teacher and is at present principal of Eureka school of Eden, where he has given universal satisfaction. He will occupy his new position August 1st.

MT. EDEN MAY HAVE BIG CANNERY

MT. EDEN, June 2.—A representative of the Presidio Canning Company, of San Francisco, visited Mt. Eden a few days ago looking for a cannery site, and made the citizens of that place the following offer: "The company will locate its cannery here under a guarantee of the crops off 300 acres of tomatoes."

SHIPPING HORSES FROM PLEASANTON

PLEASANTON, June 2.—Twelve head of horses belonging to W. A. Clark Jr. were shipped from here to Butte, Mont., on Thursday to be sold. They were in charge of Ted Hayes.

ANNUAL FEAST OF PORTUGUESE

FOR THREE DAYS WILL HAVE A CELEBRATION CONCLUDING WITH A DINNER.

HAYWARD, June 2.—The annual Holy Ghost celebration by the Portuguese begins this evening and extends over Sunday and Monday. It will be participated in by the consul of Hayward, San Jose No. 24, I. D. E. B., and an invitation has been extended to all consuls who are not celebrating the day to join the Hayward festivities.

GRAND BALL.
The grand ball will take place this evening, and the crown will be taken to the Catholic church Sunday morning, accompanied by the members of the order. A solemn high mass will be said, after which the crown will be returned to the chapel and exposed. The usual feast will follow.

DINNER AND RAFFLING

On Monday there will be the usual dinner and raffling, which are looked forward to with pleasure. The committee in charge of affairs consists of M. J. Soares, Jose M. Souza, Antonio Camara, Rufus Silva and Manuel F. Chrislano.

IN THE HOSPITAL FOR EYE TROUBLE

PLEASANTON, June 2.—J. M. De Frates is very ill in St. Mary's hospital, San Francisco, from some trouble with his eyes. Mr. De Frates has lost the sight of one eye, while the other is weak, but the doctors have hopes of saving it.

SMALLPOX CASES AT PLEASANTON

PLEASANTON, June 2.—There were two more cases of smallpox on Thursday—J. Lee and the little four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sohrman. They were removed to the county hospital on Friday.

REBEKAH'S WILL ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

PLEASANTON, June 2.—Pleasanton Rebekah Lodge will be at home on Wednesday evening at their hall, where the members and guests will be entertained with dancing, cards, music and games. A banquet will close the evening.

EDUCATION THE REMEDY

"I know of no way to remedy this except by education, which is the remedy for most existing evils, and we old veterans are sure to take the chief part in the program on memorial day and we old veterans who may be left in the world after the war are sure to be the ones to suffer from the lack of education. The old Gazette was formerly against them, too, but it finally went over to them and has been rewarded with the county printing ever since, to the amount of $10,000 a year. With the courthouse and the Belshaw-Veale pulling for them in the state senate, and the Gazette never letting an occasion pass to pat them on the back, they hardly needed the county committee to make them solid, but they have done too."

GRATITUDE OF VETERANS.
At a meeting of the Hayward Veterans' League the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The union memorial church services under the auspices of the Hayward Veterans' League at the M. E. church of which Coleman is the pastor and to which all his pastors so nobly contributed were to us and our friends pre-eminently satisfactory; therefore resolved:

First—That we give a ringing vote of thanks to pastors Kephart, Rodgers, Taylor and others for their timely and efficient services.

Second—That we thank every singer individually and all the singers collectively for the song service of the occasion. The songs were very appropriate and grandly rendered from start to finish.

Third—That these resolutions be engrossed on our minutes and furnished to the Review and Journal for publication.

By order of the Veterans' League,
B. F. GIDDINGS, Commander.

Dr. D. Dodds, Adj. pro tem.

ALVARADO PIONEER DIES AT HAYWARD

PASSING OF JOHN ROBBINS, WHO CAME TO THE STATE OVER FORTY YEARS AGO.

ALVARADO, June 2.—Death has called another of the pioneers of this county. John Robbins, also known as Jack Granger. He died at the Hayward Sanitarium this morning of pneumonia, after a short illness.

John Robbins first came to this state in 1854, making the long hard trip across the plains. His adventurous spirit and his fondness for a dangerous life is shown by the fact that subsequent to coming here he made several more trips across the plains, going in the wagon train of the late F. B. Granger, father of Farley B. Granger, Robbins' nephew, with whom of late years he made his home.

DANGEROUS TRIPS.
These trips in the wagon trains were full of hardship and danger. The wagon train from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento to Salt Lake City and into Utah, bringing freight into this state. They went through wild, unexplored country, and there was always danger from Indians and wild beasts, not to speak of the hardships of freighting through a country that had practically no highways.

SETTLED IN ALVARADO.
After several years of this life, Robbins came to Alvarado, settling here when this town was the county seat. He followed various occupations, being for twenty years caretaker of the Riverside hotel in this town. He was exceedingly popular among all people.

DECORATION DAY EXERCISES HELD

SEVERAL HUNDRED PEOPLE HEAR ADDRESSES DELIVERED AT SOLDIERS' PLOT.

HAYWARD, June 2.—The exercises on Memorial day at the old soldiers plot were most interesting and impressive and greatly appreciated by the 300 or more who were fortunate enough to be present. The address of Rev. B. F. Kephart was both eloquent and instructive. The singing of children from the grammar school rendered patriotic selections most acceptably; the day was perfect and will long be remembered by those present.

COMMANDER'S ADDRESS

The address of Commander Giddings follows:
"Comrades and friends: We are met once again on this annual and national memorial day at the graves of our comrades who have fallen and who rest here under the folds of our grand old flag in this plot dedicated to them in this beautiful and quiet hillside village of the dead. We come here as to a shrine and with gladness and song and words of eulogy and love we celebrate this day sacred to us by the strongest sentiment which can bind men together, the ties of comradeship in battle for our country and its flag. More than forty years have passed since that day when the nation is being called to a part; ended in victory for union and the right and that forty years has welded together the north and the south, which was once again another in the bloodiest civil war of all time in the history of the world and common interest never likely to be again broken."

THIS DAY OURS

"This day, my comrades, is our day, and all over the nation it is being observed, but each year our ranks grow thinner and thinner and we realize that ere long this day may be the last observed by those who come after us—the remnants of the mighty hosts which fought at Gettysburg, Antietam, Chickamauga and other battles of the war. The day is fast disappearing over the hill of time, and in a few more years it will have answered the roll call on the other shore."

YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT

"I am pleased to see so many young people here today to assist in our exercises and I hope the number will increase with each coming year until they, the younger generation, shall take the chief part in the program on memorial day and we old veterans who may be left in the world after the war are sure to be the ones to suffer from the lack of education. The old Gazette was formerly against them, too, but it finally went over to them and has been rewarded with the county printing ever since, to the amount of $10,000 a year. With the courthouse and the Belshaw-Veale pulling for them in the state senate, and the Gazette never letting an occasion pass to pat them on the back, they hardly needed the county committee to make them solid, but they have done too."

LONG TENNESSEE FIGHT.
For twenty years W. L. Rawls of Belshaw, fought nasal catarrh. He writes: "The swelling and soreness inside my nose was fearful, till I began applying Buckner's Arnica Salve to the sore surface. This caused the swelling and swelling to disappear, never to return." Best salve in existence, 25c at Osceola Bros. drugists, corner Seventh and Broadway, and Twelfth and Washington.

HIS LOVE OF CHILDREN.
One of the distinguishing traits of Robbins' character was his love for children. He was with them at every opportunity, and they loved him and were glad to have him as a companion. During his last sickness he even called for the children he knew.

UNDER TREE HE PLANTED.
Robbins was a native of England and nearly seventy-four years of age when his funeral services will be held by Rev. Mr. Houston at Alvarado Sunday morning, under a weeping willow tree that the dead man planted thirty years ago. The remains will be cremated at the Oakland crematorium at 12:30 at Sunday.

POLITICS IN CONTRA COSTA

FACTIONS IN BOTH PARTIES AGAINST THE COURTHOUSE CROWD.

MARTINEZ, June 2.—The fight for control of the Republican party in this county was fairly launched this morning when John J. McNamara of Martinez came out for sheriff against R. R. Veale, the incumbent. Byron L. Griggs announced himself for tax collector and W. H. Haalon of Black Diamond was announced as a candidate for county superintendent of public schools. The political wind has been howling over the Contra Costa hills for some time and now the storm has broken.

It was evident when Arthur B. Coleman and his associates bought the old county paper, Democratic, in March, that there was going to be a row of unusual dimensions. They changed the name of the paper to the Standard, made it Republican in politics, and it has been wading into the county officials ever since. Now those who are rallying around Coleman are coming forward with the slogan "Give the young man a chance." The irony of this consists in the fact that Sheriff Veale, who is at present in control of the party in this county, used that same argument when he ran for office twelve years ago and took the place of C. W. Rogers. Veale has been sheriff ever since. So, the auditor, has been in office as a deputy and principal for six years, and so on through the list.

There are three Democrats in office—Hurley, the public administrator; Curry, the coroner, and Bailey, the county superintendent of schools. Hurley got in through the Republican votes of the anti-Belshaw wing of the party last time. Curry and Bailey were to what the opposition calls "The courthouse ring" and the Belshaw-Veale element of the Republicans is expected to see that they do not get there this time.

Originally Belshaw was against the courthouse clique, but now he is hand in glove with them, and he manipulated the county government act, the last time it was amended, so as to increase the salaries of everyone of them. They are all to win or lose together. The old Gazette was formerly against them, too, but it finally went over to them and has been rewarded with the county printing ever since, to the amount of $10,000 a year. With the courthouse and the Belshaw-Veale pulling for them in the state senate, and the Gazette never letting an occasion pass to pat them on the back, they hardly needed the county committee to make them solid, but they have done too."

THE KNAVE

Failure of Hilbert Bros.
Is Being Discussed Across Bay.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Unless the insurance companies meet their obligations with more speed than they have evinced since the disastrous fire, new San Francisco will be a very indefinite proposition. There is no chance to have the homes that once crowded the district south of Market street restored unless the insurance policies of the property holders are paid. In fact, it may take more than the payment of the majority of these policies to once again house the naked lands below the slot.

As a rule most of the people south of Market street carried from $1000 to $1500 insurance on a residence that could not be duplicated for $4000. Now, unless these people that have lost their homes not only get their insurance money but have a few "seeds" on the side, the vast acreage south of the tenement district will remain a cinder path.

And as it is with the poor, so is it also with the rich. The business man with a piece of land in a desirable location, who has been robbed of a magnificent structure by the fire, cannot hope to replace that structure without the assistance of the insurance companies in whom he placed his trust when he paid them his yearly installments. While the banks, as a rule, are perfectly willing to take a chance, they have no desire to assume all the risks in a financial venture, and where they may lend considerable money on income bearing propositions they have no desire to accept mortgages on barren land; and that is about all one half of San Francisco is today—just barren land. The only means by which its barrenness can be reclaimed lies in the hands of the insurance corporations.

Another stumbling block to the progress of the rebuilding of San Francisco is the utter absence of water throughout the burned district. As everybody knows, it is impossible to carry on extensive building operations without an adequate water supply. The rebuilding of the burned district will have to be accompanied by the installation of an entirely new water system. The old Spring Valley pipes throughout the Mission, south of Market and east of Van Ness avenue sections are practically out of commission for ever and ever, and until these vast stretches are repiped practical reconstruction is out of the question. Not only must an entire new system of water supply for residence and business purposes, but an additional adequate supply to fight fire, be installed. All this has been pointed out very definitely by the United States government expert commissioned to report on the best means for realizing the dreams for the new and greater San Francisco. It is now up to the committee of forty, the public service corporations and the insurance companies to quit talking and do something.

The affair between Britt and McGovern in New York Monday night indicates that the meeting was a hippodrome of the most farcical type or that James Edward is rapidly going into the "lobster" class.

The day of the battle reports were telegraphed throughout the country on the condition of both fighters. McGovern was listed as an unfortunate maniac, if possible weaker in body than in mind, while Britt was pictured as the perfection of everything human. But when the men met in the squared circle before the applauding thousands that thronged Madison Square gardens there was another story to tell. McGovern was certainly fat in body, if not fat in mind. He looked all out of condition and there was a perpetual shift in his eye. Incidentally, he appeared to be extremely nervous and very irritable. Britt, on the contrary, gave every indication of confidence in his ability to initiate McGovern into the "Down and Out Club." He was trained to a dot.

But before the first round was over everything changed. The right swing that McGovern placed over Britt's eye seemed to take just as much ginger out of him as did the left upper cut with which Battling Nelson opened his nose in the first round at Colma. While Britt jumped in and out pretty well and landed a number of good blows, he never seemed to quite overcome the effect of the punch in the eye. It will be remembered that on the afternoon of September 9th last he never quite overcame the effects of the punch that Nelson gave him in the nose.

Now the people that familiarize themselves with pugilistic dope are wondering whether a real good punch early in the game takes the steam out of Britt. If it does he has practically no chance whatever to regain his former eminence as a bruiser. A man has to be able to take more than one punch early in a fight to make a successful showing at the close.

Notwithstanding the stories of McGovern's lunacy the punches that Britt landed on his head and face affected him but little. In the clinches the "Terrible Terry" had a shade the best of it, and when the ten rounds were at an end many of the people at the ringside were of the opinion that McGovern had the better of the go, and had a decision been rendered there is every indication that the verdict would have gone against the Native Son.

If Britt really did all he could to win he is now not even a good secondrate, for Nelson, without half trying, had McGovern in Queer street in four rounds. If Britt didn't try to win, then the meeting was a fake pure and simple and merely preliminary to a planned twenty round battle. Tim Hurst, who refereed the affair, is a particular friend of the Britt, and a close friend of the McGovern end. If there was anything wrong with the go you may be sure that Mr. Hurst was in on it. Harry Pollock, manager for McGovern, is a past master of the "sure thing" business, and, according to Joe Gans, the greatest living lightweight, the Britt is quite ready to talk "turkey" if the dressing is sufficiently rich.

The best way to sum the entire thing up is this: If Britt and McGovern meet in a twenty round go the affair at Madison Square Garden last Monday night was a deliberate fake. If they do not meet in a twenty round battle you may be sure that James Edward Britt is a dead one.

The failure of the firm of Hilbert Bros. was in a measure a serious disaster to San Francisco, especially to the element that wish to go into the saloon business. The Hilbert Bros. started with nothing in San Francisco about fifteen years ago. At one time their fortune reached into the hundreds of thousands, but during the last year or so they didn't seem to get on so well. The two fires preceding the big fire through which they passed seemed to have taken the ginger out of them, and while they managed to maintain a bold front, the speed of the primitive firm was gone.

The Hilbert Bros. started with a hole in the wall on Powell street, between Ellis and O'Farrell. From the beginning their family liquor trade was big. Gradually they obtained valuable agencies, and before the older firms realized it, they had a corps of drummers and boosters going from one end of the state to the other.

If a popular bartender wanted to go into the business they gave him enough credit to open up a place, and let him pay them at his own convenience. Of course, they got a liberal interest for this sort of thing and incidentally created innumerable avenues through which they could dispose of their stock.

Finally they began handling champagne as well as the fiercer and cheaper liquors. Then they got a vast warehouse on Market street. This was well insured and burned down. Another fire destroyed a second warehouse. Then their third and last depository went out of commission with the rest of San Francisco's business district via the fire route. While the other two fires didn't seem to bother them much, the third and last finished their present career as liquor merchants on this side of the bay.

The Hilbert brothers were closer to the Schmitz administration than any mercantile firm in town. For a time they had Abe Ruef for their attorney, and in the corner of each of their drummer's cards that fact was displayed in large type. The firm's letter heads also bore the legend, "A. Ruef, attorney."

The row between Mrs. Inez Shorb White, Mrs. Eleanor Martin's society leader, and Captain Herbert Gunn of the Red Cross is making all sorts of fun for the clamen and the army set. Captain Gunn has certainly a beautiful military name. It is quite on a par with that of Ensign Pistol, Major Grape-shot and General Debility. So when Mrs. Inez Shorb White, whose feminine followers are not irrevocably unacquainted with powder, dubbed Captain Gunn "coward," all who heard of the incident saw unlimited fun in sight.

The set to which Mrs. White belongs does not take the Red Cross very seriously. In fact, there are many people who do not take the Red Cross very seriously. During the Spanish-American war the Red Cross, which then was under the domination of Clara Barton and a bunch of other Bartons, all of whom drew big salaries for their charitable work, was pretty generally swatted. The trouble with the Red Cross is that it is not only too finicky, but entangles itself with so much red tape that it is not free to carry out its mission. Incidentally, it is under the dominion of crank clicks headed by Dr. Devine, regarding whose ability as a practical philanthropist there is a wide difference of opinion.

I heard a well known newspaper man from the East speak rather disparaging of the doctor the other day. He said:

"Dr. Devine may be all right in his way, but he isn't the right way. He is what I should term a scientific philanthropist. If a man went to him in quest of charity the chances are he would strip him and have him examined to see if he was scientifically in need of charity."

Now, if Dr. Devine stands by Dr. Gunn and turns down Mrs. Inez Shorb White, the Red Cross will receive a very serious black eye in these diggings. For it is in a measure dependent upon society faddists for its subsistence. Thus far Mrs. White seems to have all the best of it. And as the army people hate the Red Cross outfit as only army people can hate, it looks as though she will keep on having the best of it.

The failure of the committee of forty to keep its agreement relative to compelling contractors to pay at least $2.50 a day to the workmen engaged in removing the debris from the sites of the fallen buildings and the public streets is apt to cause no end of trouble.

At present, I am told, these men are paid only $1.25 a day for their work, which is extremely hard and hazardous. Every time a barrowload of bricks is removed from the site of a building there is no telling what effect may be produced upon the remaining walls.

Last week the collapse of ruins killed one man and severely maimed another, and before the remains of the chimneys and brick walls that now make the burned district a place of horror are removed, there will unquestionably be many people killed. The labor people claim that if the dollar and a quarter rate is maintained that San Francisco will have an extremely difficult time in regaining its old position as the metropolis of the coast. If such a low standard of wages for laborers is perpetuated there will be no reason for a laborer staying out here when he may go further east, west, north or south and get more money for his toil. Unless we can keep the working people here we cannot have a great city, for capital alone cannot make a city beautiful or great.

WOMAN FINDS BODY OF SUICIDE

MURDER OR DEATH IN FIRE?

Boys Find the Body of Woman in a Vacant Lot.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Mystery surrounds the finding of the body of a woman in a vacant lot at the corner of Sumner and Howard streets this afternoon by two boys who were passing through the square.

Decomposition had advanced to such a stage that it was impossible to tell the age of the woman or obtain a description of her features. Her clothing indicated that she probably belonged to the middle class.

NO MARKS OF VIOLENCE.

The finding of the body was reported to Coroner Walsh, who had the remains removed to the morgue.

The morgue officials are of the opinion that the woman was a victim of the earthquake and fire and possibly fell in the street and was partially buried in the lot by soldiers.

There were no marks found on the body indicating that the woman was a victim of violence.

From the condition of the body it is estimated that the woman has been dead about six weeks.

ROW ENDS IN ARREST.

As a result of some trouble at Twenty-third avenue and East Fourteenth street, Antonio Correll yesterday afternoon caused the arrest of William Riley, a teamster, who was taken in charge by Police Officer Collett, and booked at the central station on a charge of malicious mischief.

LOWEST BIDDER TO GET AWARD

CANAL SUPPLIES MUST BE PURCHASED AT LEAST POSSIBLE COST.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Chairman Burrows, of the committee on elections tried to secure the consent of the senate today to have the Reed Smoot case taken up June 10th, but could not get it. Mr. Teller, Colorado, declared that he could not listen to any suggestions to discuss the case at this time. Mr. Beveridge, Indiana, said he would be willing to vote on the case on the 10th.

The greater part of the day was spent in discussing the resolution directing the purchase of the Panama canal supplies in America, unless the price was extortionate and unreasonable.

Mr. Mallory's motion to strike out the word "extortionate" was lost 39 to 19. Mr. Carmack sought to limit the government's action to a preference for goods of home manufacture, other conditions being equal. It was lost—39 to 17.

Mr. Bacon wanted no higher prices paid for American goods than the American manufacturer charged abroad for the same article. This went down—57 to 15.

Mr. Culberson wanted the goods purchased in the cheapest markets. Lost, 38 to 16.

An amendment proposed by Mr. Pettus limiting the purchase to the lowest responsible bidder was adopted. The bill was passed, 39 to 16.

Mr. Teller voted with the Republicans. On the final vote La Follette voted aye, but on almost all the proposed amendments made supported the democratic position.

MISSING ATHLETE LOCATED

BERKELEY, June 2.—The wires have been kept hot during the last ten days by friends of Albert Munn, the oak High school athlete of Oakland, it being feared at the university that either Munn had met with foul play since his mysterious disappearance from Oakland ten days ago, or had made some change in his plans which would keep him from entering the University of California as was his intention when he graduated from the High school in Oakland this spring.

TELEGRAM COMES

To the relief of everybody among the athletic contingent at the university, a telegram came today informing that Munn was safe and sound at Eugene, Or. Munn apparently has played a bit of a practical joke on his friends. Without informing anybody of his intentions he quietly slipped out of Oakland last week and took a train for Oregon, where he purposed it seems to pitch his tent and so keep in condition. His people reside in Modesto. It is not known whether they heard of Munn's intention to go north.

FRIENDS ALARMED.

The Oakland friends of the young athlete took it upon themselves to tell the university athletic contingent that Munn had disappeared and so the buzzing along the telegraph wires has gone on until today, when the good news came that Munn is safe and sound, and healthy, preparing to keep in shape the muscles and grit that are expected to make him a crack university athlete next year.

NOTED ATHLETE.

Albert Munn is the best all-round athlete who has attended Oakland High school in years. He holds many of the records in the Academic league that testify to his prowess on the field and track. At the big preparatory meet held at Stanford in the spring of this year he easily and individually captured the meet for Oakland High school. He made the greatest number of points scored by any man entered. Not only is he a track man, but a mainstay of the Oakland High school football team. He was graduated this year and will enter the University of California for the fall term which opens in August.

WALTHOUR DEFEATS STINSON AND HALE

REVERE BEACH, Mass., June 2.—Bobby Walthour of Atlanta defeated Will Stinson of Cambridge and Tommy Hall of Englewood in their twenty-five mile motor paced bicycle race here tonight. Walthour finished a lap and a half ahead of his opponents. Riding fast, he took the seventeenth mile mark with a slight accident to his machine, which enabled Stinson to make up nearly all the distance he had lost at the start. From this time the finish it was a great race, but Walthour managed to keep far enough ahead to retain a winner.

STOP PLOT TO KILL KING

Bombs to Be Used Against Alfonso Are Found.

ROME, June 3.—The police of Ancona have found three dynamite bombs closely resembling those that were used in the attempt to kill the king and queen of Spain in the house of a young barber named Gabbianello.

The bombs were small in size but very powerful. Gabbianello, together with twelve comrades, has been arrested.

The king is to lay the cornerstone of the new hospital at Ancona shortly and it is believed that the bombs were intended to be used against him.

POLICE APOLOGIZE.

MADRID, June 2.—Before releasing the British subject, Hamilton, who was at first charged with having been one of the anarchists implicated in the attempt against King Alfonso and Queen Victoria the Madrid police apologized humbly.

The landlady of the house where the so-called Morales lived has recognized a photograph of her supposed lodger. The police declared that the photo is one of Jesus Navarro, one of the suspects arrested in Paris at the time the bomb was thrown at King Alfonso and President Loubet.

SESSION ENDS IN AN UPROAR

CONGRESSMEN ADJOURN IN THE MIDST OF CAT CALLS AND HOOTS.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Disorder marked the adjournment of the house today. It resulted from an attempt of Mr. Murphy, a Republican insurgent from Missouri, to renew the statehood fight.

Chairman Hamilton of the territories committee had submitted the statehood conference report for printing, when Mr. Murphy arose to demand consideration of what he termed a privileged resolution, asking that the conferees be discharged and the house proceed then to a vote on the proposition to accept the senate amendments.

Republican floor leader Payne, New York, declared that the resolution was not privileged and raised a point of order against it.

Speaker Cannon sustained the point of order, declaring that it was a privileged matter at any time, courtesy to the senate demanded that it should now be considered as the conference report on the bill is now pending before that body.

Mr. Payne made the motion. Mr. Murphy kept up his cry for an appeal.

To this many Democratic members rallied, some with catcalls and others with cries of "appeal, appeal." The speaker declared the house adjourned. He then left the rostrum.

GIRL IS TORTURED PITIFULLY BEGS FOR MERCY TO PROVE SANITY

IS STABBED BY SHARP NEEDLE

Heavy Stones Dropped on Her Feet to See Effect of Shock.

NEW YORK, June 2.—It seemed a benediction rather than a verdict when the foreman of the jury Friday announced "Not guilty" in the case of the people against Josephine Terranova, charged with the murder of her aunt, Concetta Reggio. The girl, although recommended to the Tombs prison because a second murder indictment hung over her head, will not be tried again.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Josephine Terranova was again put on the lunacy rack and underwent a series of tests at the hands of the district attorney's experts which will hardly find a parallel outside the tales of the Inquisition in the dark ages.

For two hours and a half the girl bravely submitted as high-voltage electric currents were shot through her body, needles jabbed into her cheeks, pieces of sharp steel struck against her ankles and stones dropped on her toes. At last, however, when human endurance could bear no more and there seemed to be no let-up to the enthrallment of the medical expert she revolted and turned on the prosecuting attorney with a cry of anguish and a plea for mercy.

At first her tone was hysterically defiant. She jumped from her seat and cried:

"I'm tired, you must stop! You try for two weeks to see if I am insane. Two weeks ago, when the doctors first examine me, they almost laugh. Today they are cross and stern. I think they never tell anything about it." Then realizing the defiance of her speech, the girl dropped to her knees and pleaded for mercy.

"Let me go back to the Tombs," she begged. "I am not crazy and I am not afraid. I want the good judge men who heard my story to say what they shall do with me."

WORST OF ALL HER ORDEALS.

The ordeal through which the girl went was the most trying to which she has been subjected during the months that have elapsed since she took the law in her own hands and avenged years of mistreatment by killing her aunt and uncle.

The session began in the chambers of Justice Scott at 1 o'clock. It was a secret proceeding and the only ones admitted to the room were Dr. Allen McLean Hamilton, the district attorney's expert, who made the tests; Dr. L. Pierce Clarke, the expert employed by the defense, Judge Palmieri, the girl's attorney, Assistant District Attorney Appleton, a stenographer, and a prison guard, who had charge of the girl.

Dr. Hamilton began the examination by asking the Terranova girl this question:

"No."

"Are you crazy today?"

"Were you crazy at the time you killed your aunt and uncle?"

"No, because I obeyed the command of the Lord," was the answer.

STORY WRUNG FROM HER.

Josephine Terranova was then compelled to again recite the story of her crime in detail and the revolting deeds that led up to the killing.

After the recital Dr. Hamilton rigged up the apparatus used in the physical tests. The sight of this paraphernalia unnerved the girl and caused her to cry with fright. Only the day before she had been subjected to tests almost as racking as those applied yesterday. The lunacy commission had pricked her cheeks with needles, and pinched her arms and cheeks until she cried, stinging hot tubes had been applied to her body, her eyes, ears and throat had been painfully tested, and burning matches had been applied to her arms.

Not satisfied with these tests, the district attorney's expert repeated them all and in addition sent high voltage electric currents shooting through her body; struck her ankles with sharp instruments of steel and then dropped stones on her toes.

The first test was with the electric current. A large induction coil, used in giving medical treatment, was placed on the table in front of the girl. As the expert engaged by the defense began to adjust the apparatus, the girl began to cry.

DISCOVERY SOLVES A PUZZLE

Charles Kleins Remains Found Hanging in Basement.

A terrible discovery by Mrs. Clara Bergar, the wife of A. Bergar, proprietor of a restaurant at 605 Park avenue in East Oakland yesterday afternoon solved the mystery of the sudden disappearance of Charles Klein, an aged German, who dropped suddenly from sight on May 20.

Mrs. Bergar, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, entered the basement of the restaurant in search of a pair of shoes which she had been requested to get by her husband, and striking a match, was confronted by blackened and distorted features of Klein, whose body was hanging from the rafters of the basement.

WOMAN UNNERVED.

Mrs. Bergar, completely unnerved by the awful sight, ran shrieking from the basement, and almost fainting from terror, rushed into the restaurant and informed her husband of the discovery of the body.

Bergar at first believed that his wife had been frightened by a shadow or by some object which had been placed in the basement without her knowledge, but on investigating with a light, he found that the cause of her fright was all too real.

HANGS FROM RAFTERS.

Suspended from the rafters of the basement by a slender baling rope, which, owing to the length of time the corpse had been in the position in which it was found, had almost severed the head from the body, was the corpse of the missing man.

The condition of the body was such as to indicate that Klein had committed suicide on the day of his disappearance, as it was in an advanced stage of decomposition.

The features were unrecognizable, but Bergar at once identified the body as that of Klein by the clothing. Bergar at once notified the coroner of his wife's ghastly discovery and Deputy Coroner Van Vranken hastened to remove the corpse from the basement.

METHOD OF SUICIDE.

Investigation by Van Vranken showed that Klein had stood upon a box to fasten the rope to the beam from which the corpse was suspended, and after making it fast, had placed the noosed free end about his neck, and kicking the box on which he stood out of reach, had slowly strangled to death.

He had chosen the spot well, for Bergar said this afternoon that had it not been for his wife's search for the shoes leading her to the basement this afternoon, months might have passed without any one entering the basement.

ANXIOUS TO DIE.

For more than a year Klein has been employed by Bergar as a cook, and the latter said that once before, about six months ago, the deceased had attempted to commit suicide by turning on the gas in the restaurant after it had been closed for the night. On this occasion, however, Bergar, attracted by the odor of the escaping gas, had discovered the attempt before Klein had been overcome by the poisonous fumes.

Klein was 61 years old at the time of his death and was a native of Germany. He is unmarried, and his only relatives in this part of the country are two cousins, Mrs. Max Koenig, the wife of the senior partner of the firm of Koenig & Kroll, well-known local real estate dealer, and Mrs. W. Spies, wife of the proprietor of the Cave & Spies saloon in Alameda.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

MRS. MALAPROP IN MARIN.

There is a Mrs. Malaprop at the Hotel Rafael, a dignified representative of our press-made aristocracy, with a phraseology all her own, and she is one of the most attractive features of the Baron's suburban retreat. Whenever the conversation lags or threatens to bore Mrs. Malaprop sprinkles it with a few gems of her own vocabulary, and then everybody sits up and takes notice. The other day the conversation drifted to the subject of a firm of San Francisco merchants, and Mrs. Malaprop flattered them for their business methods. "And," she said, "they are always committing adultery." Astonishment seized the group of visitors. "Adultery?" exclaimed one of the men, who wondered how that particular form of immorality was related to dishonest business methods. "Yes," said Mrs. Malaprop, fixing him with her eye, "Adultery. They had a room in their store where they committed it." She probably noticed that everybody looked incredulous, for she added, as though intent upon convincing them that she knew what she was talking about: "They committed adultery on nearly all their goods." And then they nearly all understood, and respiration once more became normal.—Town Talk.

SOME CONSPICUOUS MILLIONAIRES.

In the crisis through which we are now passing several of our millionaires stand out conspicuously as a consequence of the revelation of traits with which they were not previously known to be equipped and because the conduct of the majority of our rich has shown that those traits are no commonplace amongst the wealthy. Generosity is the word that describes the most praiseworthy of the traits to which I refer. Several of our millionaires took their losses philosophically and even optimistically, while others wilted and imagining themselves on the threshold of the Old People's Home, proceeded to scale down expenses to the point of denying themselves luxuries that not even their salaried employees found necessary to eschew. The numerous Parrotts proceeded to huddle together under one roof, and on the first of May settled with their employees, whom they discharged, paying them up to the eighteenth of April. So many amusing tales of penuriousness have come to my ears that a few years hence, when the crisis from which we will awake as from a dream in the morning will seem a thing incredible and centuries ago, how much more than ever shall I enjoy the eulogistic gush in the social columns of our dailies. However, while our rich are usually condemned in summary, they are justified and extolled in individual after individual. James D. Phelan was hit harder than most millionaires. His wealth was largely in real estate and a great deal of his property was in San Jose where it was badly damaged by earthquake. He was far from being covered by insurance on the property damaged by fire, but nobody has heard him dolefully lament. The earthquake played great havoc with the treasures in the old Phelan residence on Valencia street, and Miss Phelan ruefully viewed the debris in which she could vaguely trace the outlines of many of her most cherished mementoes. But with her brother she left the old home that was soon to go up in smoke and together they found a resting-place in a park. Never once did James D. Phelan despair. From the start he was rendering public service, and when the worst was over he increased his pay-roll, putting men to work, to remove the debris from the site of the Phelan building where a larger and more imposing structure is to be reared. He did not discharge one servant. Will Crocker is another of our "game" millionaires. Several millions have been lopped off his capital but he is as light-hearted as though there had never been a fire. He radiates cheerfulness and hopefulness, and he has no misgivings as to the future.—Town Talk.

THE POOR FLOODS.

Some of our millionaires are being made ludicrous by those gush writers who are holding on with both hands to the fringe of society. The Floods, for instance, were pictured the other day in dire distress. We were told that they were feeling very poor and that Mrs. Flood "has discharged her maid and is herself taking care of her babies." From that item I should judge that the Floods have been snubbing somebody, for why should they be thus ridiculed if they have inspired nobody with a grievance. Of course the Floods are not worrying over their financial affairs. Mr. Flood is not broke. He could lose a few millions more and still be a rich man. I should be very glad to enter into an agreement with him whereby, in consideration of his gift to me of his empty lot at the corner of Fourth and Market streets, I should guarantee to keep his babies supplied with at least four maids for the remainder of their days. And if he would throw in one or two of his mines and the Flood building I should be willing to take a contract to keep him supplied with a whole staff of maids for the remainder of his days. And if he'd throw in his mortgages on Catholic church property in San Francisco I could be even more liberal with him.—Town Talk.

MINETTI AND HIS MUSIC RACK.

Carlo Minetti, concert master of the Berkeley Symphony orchestra, was rendered homeless and almost violinless by the fire. All that he could find in the ruins of his home was a music rack. Not one of his valuable violins was saved. He was the possessor of a Guadagnoni, an Amati, a Testore and a Marchetti. He also lost his symphonic library, which he had been collecting for many years. After the earthquake he received as his guest Director Vigna, of the Conried company, who wielded the baton in the Carmen performance the night before the catastrophe. They were getting along nicely together when they were driven away inconspicuously by the soldiers just before the dynamiting of the Minetti home. Minetti has opened a studio in Oakland.—Town Talk.

SING FAT WILL BE WITH US.

One day last week I came upon a forlorn looking Chinaman seated amid the ruins of Dupont street, reading the Examiner. When he looked up I recognized, despite his unkempt appearance, Sing Fat, the most widely known merchant of Chinatown, whose store, stocked with costly fabrics, quaint bronzes, rare porcelains and the varied ornaments and treasures of the Orient, delighted the heart of the Eastern tourist. The flames had reduced that great store, extending on an angle from Dupont to Sacramento street, to a mass of blackened ruins, and there sat Sing Fat, imperturbable as ever, as calm and unmoved as though he knew it would take but a little while for his store to reappear with its heavily laden shelves. He greeted me somewhat cheerfully. Sing Fat is an old resident of San Francisco and he has confidence in the future of the city. He told me that he had eight hundred thousand dollars worth of stock in his store and that he carried not more than ten per cent of insurance. "What are you going to do?" I asked. "I have some money in a bank in China," he said; "I am going to Los Angeles for awhile. I will have a little store down there, and after awhile, some months from now when San Francisco all right again I come back and I build here again"—Town Talk.

THE GALLANT HEATHEN.

Many of the representatives of our Chinese colony have risen considerably in the estimation of their American acquaintances since the fire. Some of them behaved in a manner that excited warm admiration. I heard of one Chinese servant whose only thought during the earthquake was of one of the children of the family—a little girl. He rushed into her room and carried her out. I heard of a Chinese cook whose mistress told him, after the fire, that she would have to discharge the second boy, and that she could not pay more than thirty dollars a month for a cook. He was receiving forty. He looked at her indignantly and said, "Who say anything about money. If you want money I got some. You never mind kitchen. I take care my business," and he turned his back on his mistress and returned to the store.—Town Talk.

PALMANTEER OF OAKLAND.

In view of the criticism provoked by the post-catastrophe methods of some of the citizens of Oakland I feel that it should generally be known that the Central Bank of that city is under the direction of W. G. Palmanter, who set an example immediately after the earthquake that might have been most advantageously emulated by all the other financiers across the bay. The Central Bank being equipped with safe deposit vaults of the most approved pattern, there was a rush for that institution with the first boatload of San Francisco refugees. Mr. Palmanter was on hand to greet his new patrons, but he was not intent upon charging all that the traffic would bear. He supplied many men with office space free of charge and he handled a great volume of exchange on Eastern banks without charge. He exhibited keen sympathy for the unfortunate and by his generosity won the lasting gratitude of the business men of San Francisco.—Town Talk.

THE JOCOSE BREWER.

San Francisco is still the literary center of the Pacific Coast, though for some years it has acted rather as a centrifugal force, whirling its writers eastward. In the first day's fire, its bookstores went to blazing. One of them, at the late 126 Post street, in burning lighted the way to the following jocose epistle from the Rev. William A. Brewer, indicting at St. Matthew's School, Burlington:

"Dear Mr. Robertson: Please have Putnam send me the Upton Letters; bill to Reading club I understand you have had a slight earthquake shock in San Francisco, but presume your store escaped without damage."

Robertson, after making a special trip to the ruins in order to verify his memory, wrote the following answer: "My Dear Mr. Brewer: Yes; I think something did happen to my former store, some slight difficulty with an earthquake, a fire, and some dynamite. If I am not dreaming, something feally occurred on that site. After getting my safe from the debris, I found in it a few heaps of burned pages that should have been accounts. I found no ledger, books of record or other important papers. There must have been something doing. If you found peace and quiet at San Mateo, then perhaps my dreaming was unreliable. However, a good Californian is positive there was only a slight shake. Or do we now call it a temblor? Surely not an earthquake. It has not interfered with your order for the Upton Letters."—Town Talk.

LANDMARKS THAT SURVIVE.

Not all of the landmarks were obliterated by the fire. There are several on Montgomery and Jackson streets, and there are a great many in the Mission. Scarcely any damage was done to the old buildings by the earthquake. On Mission street, just south of Twenty-first, stands an old frame building which is probably now next in age to the Mission church. Forty years and more ago it was reckoned an old building, and pioneer residents may recall it as a tavern on the "road." "The White House, Robert Beatty, Proprietor," with its long verandas, green shutters and hospitable wide doorway, with old-fashioned fan and sidelights, its low ceilings and small windows, and its long row of horse-sheds and hitching racks. It then occupied a large lot several blocks farther out and on the opposite side of the street. Today the ruins of the old "White House" stand firm. Not so much as a square inch of the plastering has fallen, and the carpenter who has his shop in what was once the best parlor says the place is as solid as if it had been completed yesterday.

THE GEORGE TREAT HOUSE.

Another example of old-time integrity is set forth in the case of two flat buildings on Shotwell street, near Twenty-sixth. They, too, are relics of an old landmark—the clubhouse of the old Mission racetrack. For years, the immense L-shaped building, white painted, green-shuttered, with balconies upstairs and down on all sides, stood in the midst of a great garden and orchard, the home of George Treat. When the two blocks of land, which surrounded the homestead were subdivided and the streets cut through, the old house was parted at the angle of the L, moved farther away and the two sections fitted up separately as flats. Notwithstanding the wear and tear of half a century, and the racking incidental to the moving process, there they stand, whereas new structures from which the contractors had not yet removed their tools are in ruins. What the earthquake did for us is to expose the amount of jerrybuilding which has gone on for years back and to call a halt betimes. It is to be hoped that the lesson is learned and that we shall have more integrity, if less ornamentation in the future.—Town Talk.

THE FAMOUS "WILLOWS."

Another old-timer which gave a good account of itself, but which went down before the fire was the two-story, gabled residence on the southwest corner of Eighteenth and Mission streets. This was originally the restaurant and club-house of the old Willows, the city pleasure ground which antedated Woodward's Gardens. The Willows was submerged in the big flood of 1862, and for years afterwards the site was covered in winter by a great pond over which adventurous young navigators sailed precarious, voyages on jerrybuilt rafts.

The house stood, sometimes partially submerged, but always a prey to wind and weather until 1875, when it was rescued, removed to a new location and the interior remodeled. Other buildings from the old Willows tract were salvaged at the same time and refitted, yet despite their age and hard usage they defied the earthquake and proved to a later generation that the pioneer fathers "built better than they knew."—Town Talk.

A PLEA FOR CHINATOWN.

Some people think it would be shocking if Chinatown were reared anew on its old site. But Chinatown wouldn't be any worse than any densely populated district, if the city authorities attended strictly to business. Indeed Chinatown should be one of the most attractive features of the city. For commercial reasons it is advisable to encourage the Chinese merchants to stay with us, and as for the sanitary regulations, it is as easy to enforce them in Chinatown as elsewhere. Let us remember that the landlords of Chinatown were worse than the tenants; and most of the landlords were distinguished white citizens who were very well pleased with their Chinese tenants because they never insisted upon open-work plumbing or porcelain bathtubs. While considering the advisability of removing the Chinese to the outskirts let us reflect on the disadvantages of putting too great a distance between the fan-tan games and police headquarters. If the police are to deal in that valuable commodity known as "protection," they should not have to go too far to dispose of their goods. The convenience of the police is a matter that should not be overlooked while we are hoisting the city from its ashes.—Town Talk.

STREET KITCHEN NOMENCLATURE.

While most of the street kitchens have been named in ironical remembrance of the cafes, grills and restaurants which are now no more, there was a good sprinkling of literary reminders, too. "The Man of the Hour" was in evidence on all sides, but only once did I encounter his sign-board. "The House of Mirth" borrowed its title from Mrs. Wharton, but hardly with the same significance, for the author derived it from Ecclesiastes, vii, 4: "The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning; but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth." Geraldine Bonner may or may not have suggested the "Pioneer" and "Hard-Pan," since both expressions are of the vernacular, but "Tomorrow's Tangle" is all her own. "The Wood Fire," whether in "No. 3" or elsewhere, must be accredited to F. Hopkinson Smith. The numerous "Dew Drop Inns" and "Holly Trees," go back to Dickens, but "Coffee John's" is most likely to have come via "Picaresque." There is a book, by the way, which will be worthy of perusal when the new town is built up. It will prove as reminiscent of bygone days as "The Annals of San Francisco," and should have place with the souvenir pictures of "before the fire." Another local story which furnished title to at least one miniature cafe is Mrs. Gerberding's excellent juvenile, "The Golden Chimney." "The Blue Goose," another literary title, was decorated with appropriate scriptural quotations, and the music of "Home, Sweet Home," but in all the efforts to compose doggerel or to unearth some poetical tribute which would meet the occasion I saw nothing which came nearer to the mark than a few lines of an old Irish ballad, "Widow Macree." "Sure, the poker and tongs to each other belongs, And the kettle sings songs full of family glee."—Town Talk.

WORK FOR IDLE HANDS.

The chain-gang for petty offenders has worked to such good purpose that it would not be a bad idea to make it perpetual. There is nothing which goes so much against the grain of the chronically lazy, who make up the bulk of the vagrants and small criminals as a little hard work. To be housed and fed without exertion is just what they enjoy, and it matters little to them whether they are sheltered in a prison or a charitable lodging house as long as no payment is exacted from either their pockets or their persons. There are only two sensations which appeal to them, physical weariness superinduced by toil or physical pain imposed by the lash. Public sentiment is too squeamish to countenance the latter, but in these days when the millionaire of last month stands in the bread line and takes what is doled out to him, sleeps in a tent or a barrack, and carries water in a tin bucket for all his needs, public sentiment is decidedly against pampering our favored classes. In the first days of our excitement any man with a whole pair of hands was subject to impressment, and though, on the whole, the order was an excellent one, since it minimized the confusion that would have resulted had idle gazing not been discouraged, it also worked hardship in special cases. There is plenty of work in sight, and no union to interpose objection to "taking the bread out of honest men's mouths," and likewise, surprisingly few applicants for a place in the chain-gang properly qualified by a conviction in court. There is urgent necessity for a close paring of municipal expenses, and one of the best ways to stop a leak is to compel prisoners to earn their keep. A nine or ten-hour day cleaning bricks is a much more severe ordeal than a night in a cell and a bandying of words with a facetious judge in the morning. The newspapers have no space to spare, at the present moment, for making police court news amusing, and for the first time in many years, the small boy has not had set before him the object lesson of an encouragement to crime under the delusion that it must be a huge joke. The lads who wander down into the burned district and see the prisoners hard at work at their imposed tasks will carry away a very different impression from what they have hitherto received between breakfast and schooltime by perusing the "humorous" and illustrated accounts of the doings of the disreputables. Let us keep our chain-gang till our new city hall is built. If the job hangs on as long as the last one did San Francisco will become a place to be shunned by all but the law abiding.—Town Talk.

HAPPINESS

Life is in the hands of the Creator.

Liberty is guaranteed us because—demagogues to the contrary notwithstanding—we do govern ourselves.

Happiness is largely an individual matter; we can make ourselves happy or unhappy as we please. When people in this part of the state seek happiness in their homes they go to Jackson's. There they will find everything that goes to make homes happy—and it will cost less than they thought it would.

BERLIN PARIS LONDON AND MADRID

COUNT BONI KING EDWARD TO VISIT DISLIKED IN AMERICAN EMBASSY

LONDON, June 2.—The Paris correspondent of the London Globe, as the result of a patient investigation into the attitude of French society toward the Castellanes, gives an interesting light on the way in which the Count and Countess Boni are relatively held:

"It would be the great mistake," said the correspondent, "to suppose that French society sympathizes in any way with the count in his matrimonial troubles. From the outset the members of the old aristocracy strongly disapproved of his marriage, not from any objection to Miss Anna Gould or her family, but solely on account of the 'endeavors' made by young de Castellane to convey the impression in Paris that it was a business transaction rather than a love match.

"Even after his wife had presented him with a couple of charming little boys, he never neglected any opportunity to insinuate that he had sacrificed himself and all his feelings to the necessity of regaining the family escutcheon, that is to say, of bringing money into the impoverished house of Castellane by means of marriage.

"How the French aristocracy regarded his attitude in the whole matter is best illustrated by the fact that when he offered himself for election at the Jockey club he was ignominiously blackballed by the largest number of blackbills ever accorded to any candidate, and now that great world in which his mother and brothers move is unanimous in resenting and condemning the scandal to which his conduct toward his wife has given rise. It takes the ground that when a husband brings such a colossal fortune to a completely ruined man as did Miss Gould on the occasion of her marriage to Count Boni de Castellane, the least that he can do is to fulfill his share of the contract by the correctness of his private life.

"It can hardly be said that Countess Boni de Castellane is popular in Paris. But she is immeasurably more respected today by the people of that world into which she has married than she was when she tamely submitted to the indignities to the monetary exactions, and to the sneers of her ungrateful, and now thoroughly declassé husband, who will be regarded in Paris with more contempt than ever if he consents to accept of the $5000 a year which his wife proposes to allow him in order to keep him from starving.

"This amount will not go far, however, for it is said that she owes one better alone in Paris a bill for $1,500, while, on the last occasion that the balliffs made in the seizure of his belongings at the instance of his numerous creditors, they found no fewer than $16 white waistcoats belonging to the dandy count. From his family he will receive little or no assistance."

* BUT LONG BILLS.
*****

LONDON, June 2.—The fashionable elbowsteeves have sent up the price of gloves to an extraordinary figure. Three ordinary amount of skin used for ordinary gloves is required to make a pair of long gloves, and the natural effect has been to "stiffen" prices. Many American buyers are in London making hastily large purchases of long gloves before the prices are still further enhanced. There are also indications that high class gloves will be more elaborate than now, being ornamented with embroidery and other decorative imitation of the seventeenth century styles.

* BALLOONS PULL
* CARS UP PEAK

VIENNA, June 2.—That the balloon railway will supersede the funicular system for the ascent of mountains is the claim of Herr Balderauer, who has been successfully experimenting with a novel invention in the mountains near Salzburg.

Briefly, the idea is to tether a balloon with a sliding cable to a single rail running up the side of the mountain. The ascent is natural, and for the descent the balloon is ballasted with a reservoir of water filled at the highest station. The car of the balloon seats ten persons.

The engineer can regulate the speed by pulling in the wire cable which passes through the door of the car and grips the rail. Herr Balderauer claims that his balloon railway is cheap, safe and speedy. The sensation of being whirled up thousands of feet in a few seconds with perfect smoothness is delightful and exhilarating.

Another advantage is that the aerial railway can ascend precipitous heights by the shortest route, while an ordinary funicular railway would have to make circuitous detours and to thread tunnels.

NAPLES, June 2.—The wedding of Prince Grimaldo and Signorina Muzi, a wealthy heiress, was rudely interrupted by a writ server at the town hall, where the ceremony was to take place.

Letters promising a large sum of money to a matrimonial bureau were attached to the writ, and the embarrassed prince found his secret published to the world. He was unable to meet the bill. The bride fainted and the marriage was called off.

KING EDWARD OF ENGLAND.

Will Attend Reception to Be Given by Mrs. Whitlaw Reid—Emma Eames to Sing.

LONDON, June 2.—King Edward has signified his intention to be present at the reception to be given on June 12 at the American embassy, and the affair promises to be one of the biggest events of the London season.

Ambassador and Mrs. Reid are making elaborate preparations for the reception, which is to be followed by a musicale. Many members of the nobility have been invited, and all the prominent Americans who are in London will be present.

Mrs. Emma Eames, who was in the United States, was notified by cable that she would have the honor of singing before the king. She sailed from New York on May 24. Several other artists will appear at the musicale.

Dorchester House, the residence of the ambassador, is now being renovated for the event. A most elaborate scheme of decoration is being worked out.

Because of the death of her father, King Christian of Denmark, the queen has refrained from any social functions, and the season has necessarily been exceedingly quiet. For this reason the reception at the American embassy has been looked forward to with general interest.

MONSIEUR REDFERN WANTS MEN TO GIVE UP TROUSERS

PARIS, June 2.—"Men should not wear trousers," says Mr. Redfern, the famous Parisian ladies' tailor, in giving his views on the subject of men's attire.

According to Mr. Redfern, trousers are either too long and have to be turned up, or are too tight and have to be jerked up when the wearer sits down, which is anything but a graceful gesture. He declares that knickerbockers, with leggings, for out of doors would be the most becoming things in which men could encase their lower extremities.

According to Mr. Redfern, stiff collars and cuffs are not only uncomfortable, but ugly. Frills at the wrist and a soft turnover collar would be much more graceful. His idea is that coats with spreading tails, something like the modern frock coat, but much more ample, would be a "deal" garment for men, and this should be, if not entirely made of silk, at least lined throughout with it. Fancy waistcoats should be worn at all times. They live up to a man's appearance.

Lastly, says Mr. Redfern, high and stiff hats should be replaced by something with wide brims, the broader the better.

Pretty Parisiennes are setting superstition at defiance. The favorite feather of the moment is the peacock plume, which has always been considered very unlucky.

Hitherto no Frenchman would ever permit a woman for whom he cared to wear yellow flowers, because it is considered in France that a woman who wears yellow flowers will be unfaithful to her love. But this Spring buttercups, yellow tulips, dandelions, cowslips, etc., appear in nodding bunches on most of the smart little morning hats.

Opals are also coming into favor. Some of the daintiest white gowns with little square décolletés seen at the fashionable restaurants are worn with strings of opals about the throat, or adorned with opal buttons.

'CAN ANIMALS PERCEIVE GHOSTS? VEXES LONDON

LONDON, June 2.—"Can animals see ghosts?" is a question that has been raised in the London press, and some curious stories are related. All London is discussing them.

One story is that of a parson's experience with his horse and an alleged ghost. He was driving along a country road when the horse suddenly stopped, pricked up its ears, and looked straight ahead as if startled. At the same time the parson saw the apparition of a man. Had the same ghostly figure been apparent to the horse? Later the clergyman learned that other persons had seen the apparition at the same spot, and that a man had committed suicide there.

The following is related in one of Canon MacColl's books: A young woman who possessed a dog of which she was very fond, left home on a visit to friends at a distance. One day, during her absence, her dog, chancing to look out of a drawing room window, raised a bark of joy and rushed out upon the lawn where it began leaping and barking on one spot, as if in recognition of a friend standing there.

Then, suddenly stopping, it looked up, uttered a howl of terror and rushed back trembling into the house. News soon after arrived that at that very time the absent owner of the dog had died.

Novelist Rider Haggard's experience in this connection is worth retelling. He dreamed that his daughter's retriever dog was lying among some brushwood beside water, and Mr. Haggard realized in his dream that it was dying. It was afterward discovered that the dog had been run over by a train of the night of the dream, and its body was found in a neighboring river.

LOST GOSPEL POPE ORDERS NEW LIST OF DUG FROM HIS $1,000,000 LACE GEMS

Finest Collection in the World Is That in the Vatican Treasure House.

LONDON, June 2.—Professors Grenfell and Hunt of Oxford announce the discovery of the fragment of a lost gospel on the site of Oxyrhynchus, Egypt, which promises to arouse a theological sensation.

The professors found an enormous number of Greek literary papyri, including compositions by Pindar and Euripides, and new speeches by Demosthenes.

The fragment of the gospel is on vellum and is legible after sixteen centuries. The writing is in microscopic Greek characters and quite distinct.

In speaking of the discovery, Professor Grenfell said:

"This certainly is no part of any extant gospel, and theologians will have to decide on its theological value. It is unusually well written from a literary standpoint. There are some three hundred words on the page. The fragment begins in the middle of a speech.

"Jesus and his disciples have entered the temple and have met a Pharisee who rebukes them for omitting to go through some elaborate ceremonial of ablution. Jesus asks what the Pharisee has done, and the Pharisee in his reply describes minutely the process of purification. This is deeply interesting theologically, because no previous authority details such a ceremony.

"There follows a powerful and eloquent denunciation by Jesus of mere outward purification. Jesus says that he and his disciples have been purified with the living water or water of life. Another new point disclosed in the fragment is the first mention of a portion of the temple called the Hagia-terion, or place of purification. This was never mentioned before so far as is known.

Oxyrhynchus was once the site of numerous monasteries, containing 4000 monks. Grenfell and Hunt's discovery was made in the mounds that once were the city's dust heap. One hundred and thirty-one boxes of papyri found dated from the second century, B. C. to the sixth century, A. D. The papyri were undoubtedly from some scholar's library.

ROME, June 21.—Pope Pius X has given orders to have the catalogue of the Vatican laces revised. This catalogue was commenced under Pius IX and continued under his successor, Leo XIII.

The Vatican, as is well known, possesses the finest collection of laces in the world. They are contained in cedar-wood boxes, and their value is estimated at about a million dollars. The present Pope, the simplest of princes of the church, knows but little of the enormous values of these treasures, which go back to the time of the Borgias, and come in a large measure from gifts made at the time of the Italian, Spanish and Austrian royal and princely marriages, the brides on these occasions being in the habit of presenting their bridal robes smothered in lace to the church.

Leo XIII was a great connoisseur of lace. The next most valuable collection of lace in the world is that of Mrs. Vanderbilt, which is worth about half the amount. The Queen of England's comes next.

LONDON AMAZED TO READ 'KING IS DEAD'

LONDON, June 2.—The real facts about the scare caused by the rumor that King Edward had died suddenly in Paris, have only just leaked out.

Many people, of course, jumped to the conclusion that the rumor was spread by people interested in sending the prices of government stock down on the Stock Exchange, but the actual facts are as follows:

A business man named Joseph King, who is fairly well known in Paris and London business circles, dropped dead in the French capital from heart failure. His friends at once wired to his agents in London the words: "King died suddenly this afternoon."

The clerk who opened the telegram at once told everyone in the office that the King was dead. The rumor spread in an incredibly short time throughout the business quarters, and the next morning there was almost a panic in the newspaper offices and a distinct slump on the Exchange.

These facts were gathered at the earnest request of the King himself, who was very disturbed about the matter, and insisted on knowing how the report had arisen.

King Edward returned from his Continental tour looking much better, but he is still far from being a robust man, and he plunged into the gaieties of the season without even resting after the journey from Paris. The night of his arrival in London he went to the opera, and then sat up till the small hours playing bridge with three of his suite.

A jest of Mrs. George Keppel, one of the wildest women in London and a great friend of the King's, is re-told as the cause of his death. As one of the Duchess of Devonshire's house parties at Chatsworth, the King and Mrs. Keppel were partners. The King: "The King can do no wrong; but when 'no trumps' and she laid down a hand without a trick in it, remarking: 'Heaven help his Majesty!'"

FATE OF RACE IN HYGIENE

Author That Converted Wu Ting Fang Discusses It.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The "salvation of the human race will be through physical culture."

This is the epigrammatic way in which Mrs. John B. Henderson put it when talking about the interesting report that Wu Ting Fang, former minister from China to the United States, had been converted to vegetarianism and reserved a box seat on the water mobile by reading Mrs. Henderson's work entitled "The Aristocracy of Health."

Speaking of her book and the effects of it generally Mrs. Henderson said:

I am gratified by the complimentary manner in which the work has been spoken of. I would, however, like to correct a recent impression that I am making war on alcohol.
Of course I am opposing the use of alcohol, but only as I oppose all the other elements of food or drink which produce a deterioration in the human race. I am confident that the race has deteriorated by the departure from the best and scientific classes of food, and that if it be elevated again it ought to be by a return to first principles."

"As to the book, it has received favorable comment from many sources.
Wu Ting Fang was interested in it at the time of its publication in 1904 and he has sent several copies to China, which are to be translated into the Chinese language. There was also a large interest in the work in Europe.
I have a large number of correspondents on the subject, but of course I do not care to make public either the correspondence or the names of the writers. I am confident, however, that "The Aristocracy of Health" has done a large amount of good."

Gallant Denver Jury Declares
She Was Never Common-Law Wife.
*****
DENVER, June 2.—Mrs. Marie
Everest-Brown-Eastes has won her famous suit for a quarter of a million dollars after a fight of more than a year. In order to prove her right to a share in her first husband's estate this young St. Louis woman was forced to show that she had not been a party to a previous common law marriage.
Marie Fleming Everest, who came of an excellent family, was raised by her grandmother, who had her educated in Europe.
She was a bit of a girl when she met Henry George Brown, owner of much real estate in Denver.
Brown was 28 and well educated. He enjoyed the wit of the 17-year-old girl and proposed to her after less than a week's acquaintance. She accepted him and the marriage was performed a few months later.
It was not a happy marriage.
They quarreled repeatedly, and at last the husband, fired by jealousy, filed a suit for divorce. She went to Chicago, and a few days later he was at her side begging forgiveness. There was a reconciliation. A few days later the husband was stricken by illness and died.
He had not been buried four weeks when she became the wife of J. Clarke Eastes, who had been an acquaintance of hers previously to her first marriage. Eastes is a handsome man and is engaged in business in St. Louis.
About this time Mrs. Eastes began her suit for a share of her first husband's wealth and it was hotly contested on the part of the Brown family. The sensational claim was made that previous to her marriage with Henry Brown the young woman had signed a civil marriage contract in the presence of three witnesses in a St. Louis hotel.
Much testimony was presented, but the Denver jury which tried the case decided that her marriage with Brown was her first venture and she was his legal widow.

EXPECT PROPHET TO RISE

Holy Roller Followers Say
Cretfield Will Come Back.

PORTLAND, Or., June 2.—Those Holy Rollers who recently returned from their camp on the seashore, where they were left by their late leader, Joshua Cret-field, are still firm in the belief that their prophet will soon arise from the dead and appear among them. Apparently they have no intention of deserting their faith and are patiently awaiting some manifestation of their leader's spiritual return.
Persuasion is of no avail in lessening their belief that Joshua, "while slain in body, will return in spirit and direct his children."

Cretfield has with infinite cunning prepared his disciples for the emergency that finally overtook them. For a long time he had preached his physical death and his spiritual return. He had instructed his followers in every particular as to their attitude and conduct after his possible demise. Those who returned to Corvallis from Waldport a few days ago are still in Corvallis some of them at the O. V. Hurt home and others at the Lewis Hartley home.

Mrs. Burgess Start, who deserted her two little children and her husband in Portland shortly before the shooting of Cretfield and who walked a good part of the distance to the Holy Roller camp near Waldport is at the Hartley home and it is not known whether she in ends to return to her husband and motherless children in Portland or remain with the handful of deluded women, who still await the return of Joshua. Mrs. Frank Hurt is reported to have returned to her husband at Seattle. Lewis Hartley has effected a division of his property here, leaving the pretty Corvallis home to his wife and daughter while he has gone to live with a son in a neighboring town.

A fund is being raised at Corvallis to aid George Mitchell at his trial in Seattle. Nearly $200 has been contributed.
Sentiment in favor of the young man and indignation against the late leader of the Holy Rollers is not less intense today than it was when Joshua fell a victim to Mitchell's bullet.

HUSBAND IS LIKE A DRUM

Man Declares That Wife Half His Size Beats Him.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Sad indeed is the state of John J. Donovan, 6855 Elmhurst avenue. Trusting to the oft-sung gentleness of woman he wooed and wedded Miss Mary Burgoyne. That was six years ago. He is six two in his stocking feet. She is four feet ten in her slippers. He weighs, when in training, something like sixteen stone. She is a dainty little parcel of less than half that. But if his story be true, and he has given it in detail in a bill for divorce filed yesterday in the superior court, since Mary Burgoyne became Mrs. John J. Donovan he has been little more than a big bass drum, on which his little wife has beaten at her pleasure, much to his fear and discomfort.

WHAT HE SAYS.

That is the man's side of the case. The woman tells a different story. She protests that he is not a patient and humble creature as his statement would indicate.

Says Donovan: "My wife has beaten me on an average of once a week ever since our marriage. She belabored me with her slipper until I smarted with pain. She threw hand mirrors at me. When we had been married but four months, while we were visiting in San Francisco, she gave me several beatings, and on one occasion threatened my life with a revolver, so that I was forced to fly across the bay and seek shelter in an Oakland hotel. I remained there several days, not daring to return."

WHAT SHE SAYS.

Says Mrs. Donovan: "This is the pitiful end of all my endeavors to make my husband happy. That he should accuse me of such things! Why, he could crush me with one of his great fingers. I have never done any of those terrible things he charges to me. Instead I have tried always to make him happy. When he has had hard luck I have saved money in every possible way. I have painted the floors. I have mowed the lawn. I have cooked his meals and sponged his clothing. When he was blue and discouraged I have smiled and tried to cheer him up. And he has repaid my efforts with hard words and harder blows."

"Once in San Francisco when I asked for a new spring bonnet, he kicked and struck me. My eyes were black from a blow of his fist. But I have never let anybody know how cruel he was to me. I was ashamed to tell of it. But a short time ago I felt that I could stand his abuse no longer. I complained of his treatment to the court. I asked for a peace bond. But I could not make up my mind to our trouble being made public and so withdrew the charge. But now that he has gone to the courts the world shall have the whole story."

THE COURT SAYS—?

Mrs. Donovan is a slight, pretty woman. She is well educated and her manners express refinement. Her voice is sweet and low.

Donovan, on the other hand is big and bulky. He is said by his associates to be subject to despondency when things go wrong. He has been married twice before. The wife will file a cross bill asking for alimony. They have no children. A niece of Mrs. Donovan lives with them, who substantiates her aunt's charges of cruelty.

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—Mrs. Minnie Kemper was awarded damages yesterday in the sum of $500 against Morris and Ray Epstein, in Judge Teasdale's division of the circuit court. All the parties live in the vicinity of Seventeenth and Harrison streets, next door to each other. The Epsteins wanted to put new siding on their house, and the carpenters had to stand on a division fence to do the work. Mrs. Kemper objected, and a neighborhood quarrel ensued which resulted in Mrs. Kemper being arrested twice on complaint of the Epsteins, once on a charge of disturbing the peace and once for attempted arson. Both cases were subsequently dismissed, and then she brought suit against the Epsteins for $17,000.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF MARITIME PROVINCES

Rate of $15.00 and return has been made to Boston and a correspondingly low rate from Boston to Halifax. PASTORS ASKED TO TEND BAR

Secretary to Saengerfest Sadly Mixed the Invitations.

NEW YORK, June 2.—That women talk and think of other things than teetotalism at the Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance Union of this city, was most apparent when Mrs. Maria C. Weed made an address upon "The Modern Minerva," at the home of the president of the union, Mrs. Emily D. Martin. Mrs. Weed took occasion to give those members of the clergy who prate of the divorce evil and those women who look upon the female stenographer as the cause of so many divorces food for thought. She told a story of a conversation she heard between two women at a fashionable function a few days since. One was asked by her friend how she kept herself so young and fresh with all her social demands. "You see it is this way," was the answer. "I never get up before noon, for the children and their father have early breakfast. After luncheon I dress and drive and make my calls and as Mr. — generally dines at his club I am at liberty to dine with friends and to pursue my social affairs unmolested. My husband is a dear, but he detests society and he is absorbed in his business, you know."

FOUNDATION FOR DIVORCE.

"Do such wives," said Mrs. Weed, "consider that such deserted husbands find a more interesting companion in their refined and intelligent stenographers? Here we find the foundation of divorce. The temptation of employer and employee would never occur if the vain selfish wife and mother had met the requirements of her God-given mission on earth. When a minister accepts a fee in which he feels certain that honor has been bartered for a title is it not the acme of inconsistency for him to insist that the blunder which he helped to consummate, shall be a life sentence. Marriages of this sort being contrary to God's and nature's laws will never receive divine sanction."

RAIN OF CATS FOLLOW "AD"

SALOONKEEPER OFFERS TO BUY
1000, AND NOW HE IS SORRY.

READING, Pa., June 2.—George Baranowski, a saloonkeeper, is running an advertisement in a daily paper here offering to buy 1000 cats at the "highest market price."

Recently Baranowski had a discussion with a neighbor as to the probable number of responses to such an advertisement, so he decided to try it as a joke. Since advertising he has had 1500 callers anxious to sell him their surplus cats. He bought 300 of all varieties.

Baranowski now has several large chicken pens filled with cats, and what to do with them is a puzzle to him. He has paid from five to fifteen cents apiece for the cats.

CAT RESCUES KITTENS FROM FIRE IN STORE.

HARTFORD CITY, June 2.—During the fire in the Tyner block here yesterday afternoon, which threatened the Henry Blake grocery store, there was an unusual exhibition of feline instinct. While the flames and smoke filled the room a cat, which had a family of four in the rear of the store, made use of the fire-escape in rescuing her family. She carried two kittens over boxes and across counters and shelves to reach a window. Here she left her young and went after the other two, which by this time had been soaked with water by the firemen.

The mother cat also was drenched on her return trip, but safely landed the third of her family on the landing. The fourth was abandoned after she had made a final attempt to go back into the store. The firemen, noticing her efforts, rescued the fourth.

SAYS WIFE TAUNTS HIM; ASKS DIVORCE.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—Joseph Burke alleges that his marriage to his wife, Elizabeth, was fraudulently contracted, and Thursday he brought suit for divorce.

He says he has always conducted himself as an obedient and dutiful husband, but that soon after his marriage his wife began to taunt him with the fact that she, with others, forced him to marry her against his will, and that she made life unbearable for him.

He says that as soon as he learned of her deceit he refused to live with her, and now asks for a complete divorce.

BURGESS ON VERANDA SPOTS AUTO SPEEDERS

YORK, Pa., June 2.—Chief Burgess Martin, of West York, during his leisure hours, sits on the front veranda of his home, which faces the Gettysburg turnpike, and watches for automobiles. He carries with him a note book and takes down the number of all machines that he thinks are exceeding the speed limit.

These numbers are sent to the State Department at Harrisburg, and the names of the owners obtained by Burgess Martin. Arrests are then made and fines imposed.

USES HUMAN MOWERS TO WEED DANDELIONS

NEWPORT, R. I., June 2.—Calisthenics were put to a practical use in a remarkable way at Fort Adams. For several weeks thousands of dandelion flowers have rendered the otherwise attractive greensward of the parade ground unsightly, and Captain O'Hearn of the Eleventh Siege Battery, determined upon a remedy.

The battery was assembled and the men were spread out for distances much greater than usual in their exercises and given long cords. With these they began a novel mowing movement, and soon had the parade ground pure green again.

SEVEN SONS FILL PULPITS

REPRESENT FIVE DENOMINATIONS AND NO ONE HEARD ANOTHER PREACH.

MONESSEN, Pa., June 2.—Seven sons of one mother in the ministry is the record of the Mouser family, of which the Rev. J. Mouser, of this city, is a member. Five denominations have secured a pulpit supply from this family.

Arrangements for a family reunion, at which all the preaching members will gather, are being completed and will be held in McKeesport in June.

The Rev. Mr. Mouser is pastor of the Monessen United Brethren Church. Neither of the Mouser brothers has ever heard any of the others preach, and during the week they expect to be in the reunion they will hold religious services and each will take his part as leader of a meeting.

The brothers have one sister. She is the wife of a minister and he will also attend the reunion.

POOR YALE MEN BEST SCHOLARS.

NEW HAVEN, June 2.—Great interest is manifested in the Yale senior class book, just issued, which shows that the high scholarship men in the class were able to get along with a great deal less expenditure than the low scholarship men. The difference in the figures is considerable. According to the book the high scholarship men have an average expenditure of $771 for the year, while $1244 was the average expended by the low scholarship men.

Another interesting lot of figures shows that the average expense per man is $4,146 for four years, the lowest amount during one year being $100 and the highest $7550. Sixteen per cent, or thirty-eight men, average less than $600 a year. Ninety-five men earned their expenses in part, while twenty-four have earned all their expenses.

Among the class's favorites are Maude Adams and Richard Mansfield, actress and actor; "Becky Sharp," character in fiction; Tennyson, poet; Napoleon, figure in history; Stevenson, prose writer; "Crossing the Bar," poem, and "Lorna Doone," novel.

'BRIDAL PAIR' WEDDED LONG

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT IN OHIO ASTONISHES FRIENDS IN TEXAS.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 2.—The published account of the marriage in Cincinnati of an elderly couple from this city, D. H. Caswell and Louise Broadwell, has created a sensation in local society circles. The only D. H. Caswell in this city, whose age coincides with that of the Cincinnati visitor in question, is a prominent and very wealthy oil manufacturer of Austin, and a member of the Municipal Water and Light commission. The maiden name of the woman who has for years been known in Austin as his wife was Louise Broadwell, the same as that given to the marriage license clerk in Cincinnati. Mr. and Mrs. Caswell have been married, according to the statement of their eldest daughter, about forty-five years, and have four children, all of whom are grown and married. The two sons are associated with their father in the manufacture of cotton seed oil. Mr. and Mrs. Caswell are at present en route to the coast of Maine, where they will spend their summer vacation.

LOADED SHELL FOUND IN HEAP OF OLD IRON.

CORTLAND, June 2.—Curiosity on the part of a laborer at Wickwire's mill recently averted a serious catastrophe, for what the man had found in the scrap heap was a full charged three-inch shell.

The Wickwire factory receives yearly hundreds of tons of old iron from all over the country, this being melted in huge furnaces and eventually becoming wire or steel.

The laborer was loading this stuff on a car. He picked up the shell and an investigation showed it still full of deadly explosive.

THE EXPLANATION.

Mrs. Jellera—"I can't imagine how two girls of such dispositions as Veda Payne and Morna Frye get along so well together, yet they are inseparable companions."

Mrs. Chillon-Kearney—"That's easily understood. Each thinks she is using them other as a foil."

STAGE LOVERS NOW MARRIED

UNION OF DRAMATIC CLUB MEMBERS IS RESULT OF FOOT-LIGHT ROMANCE.

BOSTON, June 2.—Miss Lucy L. Stanley and Thomas B. Stanton, members of the Nannette Dramatic Club, of Lynn, who have frequently played the parts of lovers on the stage, were married by the Rev. Charles Tilton, of St. Paul's Church, Lynn.

The Nannette club gives amateur entertainments, fairs, etc. Miss Stanley, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Minah E. Stanley, of 140 Adams street, has usually been the heroine in the plays the club performed. Stanton is twenty-one years of age and lives at Lake Shore Park. As the hero he has many times rescued Miss Stanley from the clutches of the villain, and often when the curtain was rung down on the last act the conventional wedding bells were pealing.

From the stage romances grew one of real life, and the engagement was announced a short time ago. Miss Dalsey Stanley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Fred Dinsmore was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Stanton will live in Nashua, N. H.

SWUNG CAT BY TAIL; CRUELTY COST HIM $10.

NEW YORK, June 2.—On complaint of Mrs. Flora Booth, of 1152 Halsey street, Brooklyn, Morris Fyman, a storekeeper at 149 Henry street, was fined $10 in Essex Market Court yesterday for cruelty to a cat. Mrs. Booth was passing the store when she saw him swinging a cat by the tail. When she remonstrated, she says, he told her to mind her own business. Then, she said, he threw the cat fifteen feet in the air, and when it came down it broke three ribs. Mrs. Booth called a policeman, who arrested Fyman.

ITS BRIGHT SIDE.

Mrs. Jenner Lee Oudgo—"Isn't this epidemic of holdups a terrible thing?"

Mrs. Selldon Holme—"Yes, of course, but—but my husband gets home from his work so much earlier than he used to, and he doesn't even go to lodge any more. He says it is unsafe for a man to be out on the streets after dark nowadays."

BEAR GALLOPS THROUGH CITY

ANIMAL IS RUN DOWN AND HIS PELT NOW IS A FLOOR ORNAMENT.

HOUSTON, Texas, June 2.—A real live black bear, supposed to hail from the wilds of San Jacinto bottoms, made its appearance in the city last week, went on a gallop through the new MacGregor addition near Blodgett on South Main street and now his pelt ornaments the floor of a Houston home.

Reports of the appearance of the animal were not long in reaching the city and efforts were made to get together a pack of bear hounds and trail him, but this was not successful. He was, however, rounded up and killed late in the evening.

The bear appeared to be a two or three-year-old, was gaunt and seemed to be getting away from enemies that had been on his trail. He stood about three feet high on all fours, but was taller than a man when he arose on his hind peddle.

D. A. Crawford and W. E. Humphreys were among the first to sight the animal in the outskirts of the Third Ward. Mr. Crawford said it was loping along much the same as a good saddle horse travels. He says he could hardly believe his eyes when he saw the bear coming toward him, and was not certain that it was not hallucination until he saw some workmen in the vicinity of the well being drilled in the MacGregor addition begin to go for cover as the bear was in their vicinity.

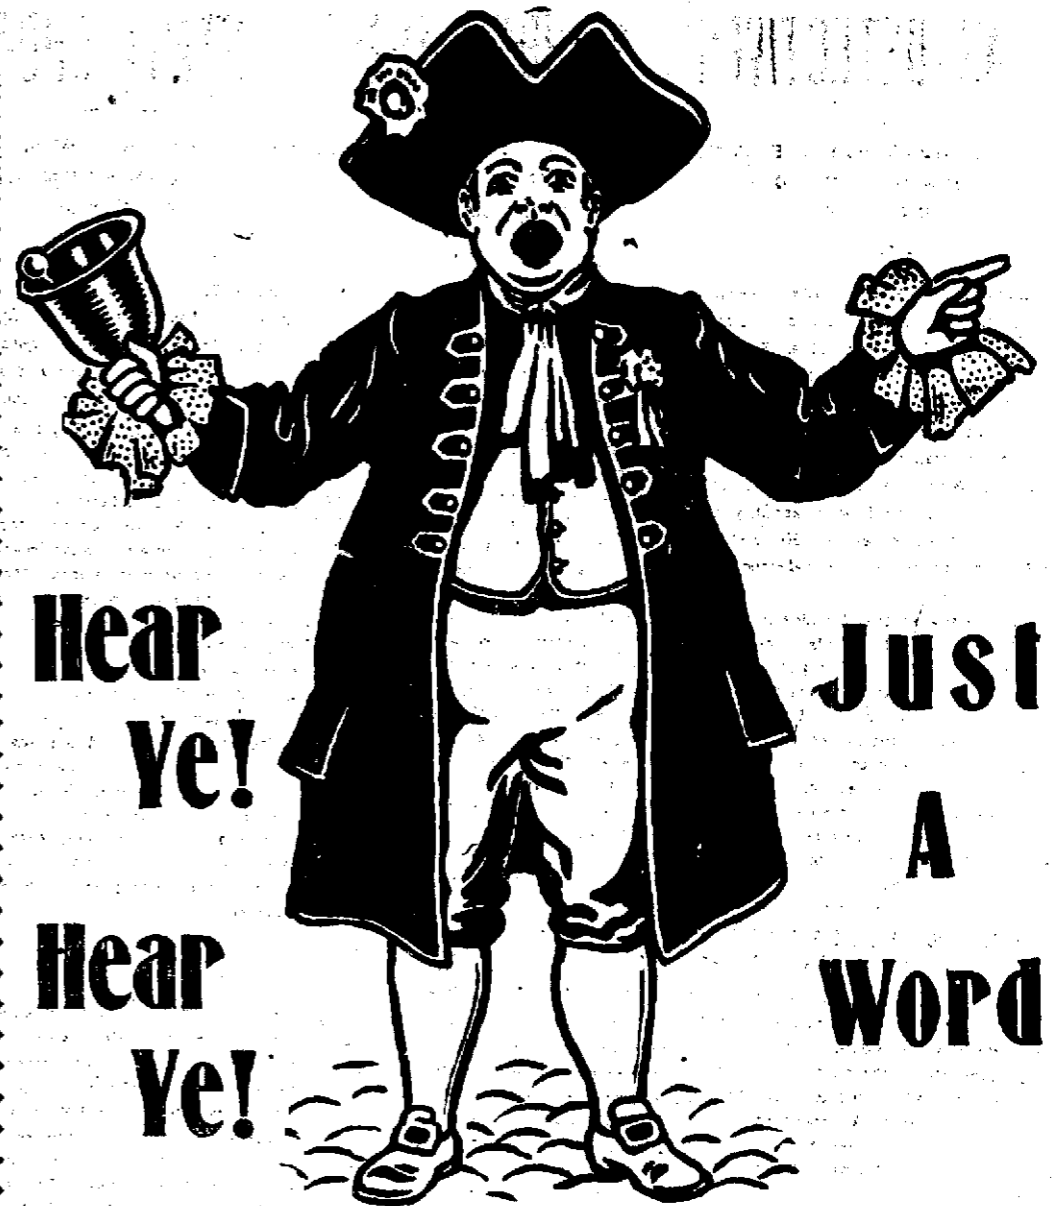

A hunting party was organized and after a couple of hours' chase the bear was encountered. He put up a hard fight against the common dogs trailing him, but could not withstand the shower of bullets and was killed.

MINISTERS ACT AS DETECTIVES

ONLY DISGUISE HEY USE IS TO WEAR A "THIRSTY LOOK" ON DUTY.

MARSHALL, Mich., June 2.—That President Samuel Dickie, of Albion College and Presiding Elder, Day, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, played detectives to observe whether Albion saloonmen were obeying the license law was brought out here when Frank A. Wocholtez, an Albion saloon-keeper, was charged with keeping his saloon open after hours. He pleaded guilty and sentence was deferred until Thursday.

It was revealed that President Dickie and Elder Day entered his saloon just before 10 o'clock on the night of April 17, ordered soft drinks and remained in the saloon until 10:05. The saloon should close promptly at 10 o'clock. President Dickie made the complaint upon which Wocholtez was arrested.

The story that the president and the elder wore false whiskers is indignantly denied. They were disgusted only with a thirsty look.

CRAZED BY POOLROOMS HE BECOMES "BAD MAN"

NEW YORK, June 2.—A well dressed man about fifty years of age terrorized pedestrians at Broadway and Canal street last night, threatening to annihilate anyone who tried to pass him.

Patrolman Carmack grappled with him and the two men were rolling over and over when Patrolmen Kenny and Tracy arrived.

The man fought all the way to the Hudson Street Hospital, raving about horses and poolrooms. Several "dope" sheets and pawn tickets were found on him. There was a letter in his pocket addressed to "Friend Shaw" and signed "Walter House, 1510 Park avenue."

A CUTE CALLER.

"I wish you would excuse me this evening," said the pretty girl to her caller.

"What is the matter?" queried he, rising to go.

"I have acute headache."
"You had a cute head, too, replied he; then she said she felt a little better and he might remain for a little while.—Houston Post.

HANG WOMAN THREE TIMES

ACCUSED OF MURDER SHE IS SO TREATED TO FORCE
CONFESSION.

OKOLONA, Miss., June 2.—A sensational episode near here on a recent night is being investigated by the Grand Jury. Mrs. Mattie McIntosh, a white woman, was recently arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, and gave bond for her appearance.

The woman reported to the officers that a number of men visited her house, took her to a tree and threatened to hang her unless she revealed her accomplices in the murder. Mrs. McIntosh declined to talk, whereupon she was strung up for several seconds.

Upon being lowered to the ground, she still refused to answer questions put to her, after which the woman declares she was strung up a third time, and when the rope was taken from her neck her assailants announced that she was dead. Her body was carried into the woods and left there.

The woman says she revived and immediately told her story to the officials.

COULDN'T AFFORD KEEP OF 50-CENT RACEHORSE

WILMINGTON, June 2.—Race horses are not infatigating to Miss Fannie Jones, of Smyrna, Del., notwithstanding that she recently got a $5000 purse winner for fifty cents. When the bay gelding Elderone by Rox Elder, which won a $5000 stake in a harness race at Cleveland, Ohio, was raffled off at Dover, Miss Jones drew the prize. The young woman was offered $500 before the horse was delivered, but she declined holding out for $600. Today it was in Smyrna that she had sold the animal to Thomas J. Murray, of Elkton, Md., for $275. She learned that keeping a racehorse not in training was costly and suddenly decided to get rid of the animal.

WOMEN SHOVEL; START CHURCH

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW INSTITUTION.

BELLEFONTAINE, June 2.—All their lives the members of the Lutheran faith at State College have been obliged to worship in a church of another denomination, as they were not strong enough financially to build a church of their own. Recently a lot was bought, and the committee met to stake out the foundations.

Their work was about completed when they were astonished to see about a score of women approaching with picks, shovels and wheelbarrows. The women are members of the Ladies Home Missionary society. They set to work at once with a will and broke ground for the new church.

The sight of the women wielding picks and shovels and pushing wheelbarrows was one of the most novel ever seen in State College, and was witnessed by hundreds.

Students cheered them enthusiastically, and many of the husky young athletes volunteered to aid in the enterprise.

CAR WRECKS AUTO IN BROOKLYN; 3 HURT

NEW YORK, June 2.—Caught in a narrow lane in Fulton street, Brooklyn, where the Subway work made narrow planking the only passageway, the automobile of Alfred Reeves, a burlesque actor, in which were Reeves and three of his neighbors, was crushed by a street car yesterday. The autoists including Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Brock and their daughter, were thrown out, but escaped serious injury.

The party went to a drug store, where their bruises were dressed by an ambulance surgeon. Then they went to their homes in Schermerhorn street.

The planked passageway in Fulton street is near South Elliott place. The wrecked auto was taken to the garage, where every part was found to be broken except the rear axle.

PASTOR'S SON IS ACCUSED

Alleged to Have Stolen $40,000 Given Him in Trust.

SYRACUSE, June 2.—Social and financial circles in this city received a painful shock today when it became known that James M. Hudson, son of Rev. Robert Hudson, former pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, former vice-president of the Salt Springs National Bank, one time chaplain in the United States navy and head of one of the wealthiest and most exclusive families of Syracuse, has been indicted three times by the grand jury of Oswego county for grand larceny in the second degree.

Lending greater force to the sensation is the fact that young Hudson's accusers are all numbered among the most prominent business men of Oswego, Onondaga and other near by counties. Robert Hunter, of the Hunter Arms Company, gun manufacturers, is one of his accusers. Assistant Corporation Counsel Byrne, of Syracuse, is another, and Charles J. Fisher, Edward Quirk, Oscar M. Hannis and Moyer & Jones, all well-known and wealthy business men, are also included among the prosecutors of the young aristocrat.

PLACED AT $40,000.

The amount of young Hudson's alleged stealing is fixed in the aggregate at $40,000. The substance of the accusation against him is that he solicited the patronage of his wealthy friends as a member of the Consolidated Exchange of New York, and then instead of investing the sums entrusted to him in stocks designated by his clients, transferred the money to his own pocket, never making a purchase never rendering an accounting and up to this day having absolutely ignored all demands on the part of his alleged dupes for an explanation.

All of these transactions are alleged to have occurred more than two years ago the charge being made here today that after he had stolen almost $40,000 he disappeared and was not located until a few months ago, when he was found in Boston, acting as the manager of the Boston branch of T. A. McIntyre & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, with offices at 71 Broadway.

The Rev. Dr. Hudson, father of the accused is being bitterly criticized by his son's alleged victims for having stood sponsor for the young man. At that time Rev. Dr. Hudson was vice-president of the Salt Springs National Bank, and Mr. Hunter and Mr. Quirk said today that had it not been for the glowing terms in which the father spoke of his son's venture they would not have trusted their money to him.

TRIED TO KEEP SECRET.

Extraordinary effort was made by the officials of the New York Stock Exchange to keep the story from being made public. Their attention, it is said, was called to the facts several months ago, by Dennis W. Hunt, counsel for the complainants, who pointed out the gravity of the charges and the fact that Hudson was acting as Boston manager for a firm operating on the exchange. The grievance committee of the exchange took no action and with considerable heat Mr. Hunt today exclaimed:

"Notwithstanding that Hudson has been indicted, he is still acting as Boston manager for the McIntyres, which is in violation of at least three rules of the New York Stock Exchange."

Mr. Hunt declares that the mother of young Hudson has $40,000 invested in the McIntyre firm.

The three indictments were found by the Oswego grand jury on April 10, and on evidence furnished by the complainants as well as by George Elv, secretary of the New York Stock Exchange. Edward I. White, a member of the McIntyre firm, Rudolph Ruben, secretary, and Franklin Guenther, cashier of the Clearing House of the Consolidated Exchange and bank officials who were forced to come here on subpoenas issued by the Oswego county court.

Two of the indictments are against William Cossitt Cone and James M. Hudson, they having comprised the firm of Cone & Hudson, through which the alleged frauds were perpetrated. The third is against Hudson alone. They allege that various sums were given to Hudson to purchase specified stocks and that these stocks were never purchased.

Remarkable Values from the Millinery Department

It is with eminent satisfaction that we announce our ability to fill all millinery demands. No department in the store was more severely taxed by the demand and no department responded more willingly and successfully. For tomorrow we offer three lots of hats—all interesting.

LOT NO. 1—A special line of trimmed hats. These are up to date right up to the minute, the trimming consists of flowers, quills, wings and ribbons. A splendid assortment at a popular price. 6.50

LOT NO. 2—Leghorns of all descriptions. Too diversified for mention—over a hundred be sold at 75c ea

LOT NO. 3—Children's Sallies, trimmed with silk streamers, there are several styles, the lowest priced lot goes at 25c ea

Kahn's, Your Store,

Has something for you to read Today.

Its Interesting

With the announcement that the "Tribune" is to publish regularly a Sunday paper, we wish to announce that by the use of its columns we mean to try to make Monday the greatest shopping day of the week. Heretofore this has been impossible on account of the absence of Sunday advertising mediums, but, now, as we enter one by one into the activities of a great city, Greater Oakland, we are able and anxious to carry out and follow up the successful methods of modern department stores. Needless to say, our Sunday announcements will be of great interest to those looking for truly reliable merchandise, and we sincerely trust you will all read them regularly and carefully.

60 Cases of Soreosis Shoes Arrived—Come Tomorrow

Plenty of Soreosis Shoes now for everybody; of course it may be possible that in some particular style we haven't your size, but that is very unlikely. Sixty cases is a whole lot of shoes, and these, with our old stock, ought to satisfy everybody.

We can say, with greatest confidence, that nowhere else will you be apt to find as big a line of popular priced shoes for women and children.

The hundreds of ladies who have so patiently waited for the arrival of this shipment are advised to call tomorrow, if possible, as our shoe trade is very great just now.

Beddings, Towels, Table Linens, Wash Goods, etc., Galore—Big Stocks

Just think of it! Advertising "big stocks" with all this unexpected business. It hardly seems possible. But in the forty odd days since the San Francisco fire we have been busy. Our present complete stocks show that. Plenty for everybody and at the old prices, too.
